BIGGEST BATTLE OF WAR IS NOW RAGING

German Dash to Reach French Coast Cities Brings Desperate Encounter on Yser Canal

Today's War News Given in Summary.

The new German offensive in Belgium, styled by some British commentators the greatest battle of the war, is being pushed on with all the power of the army Germany is reputed to have assembled along this front. The official announcement from Berlin today reports impressive victories, although no admissions to this effect are made at Paris or London.

The German statement makes no specific claims as to further territory conquered but just described attacks in which it is said large numbers of prisoners were taken including 1,000 Canadians. The Belgian statement of yesterday that Lizerne had been recaptured is characterized as untrue. The official Paris statement gives out few details of the fighting in Belgium. It is said German attacks were checked by the British.

The German attack is developing with great force over a large part of the western front. Berlin announces the re-capture of Hartmans-Weilerkopf in the mountains near the eastern end of the lines which the French took recently after several weeks of fighting. In the heights of the Meuse a severe battle has begun.

In the east there was no change so far as the German statement revealed. It is said Russian attacks near the east Prussian border were defeated.

London, April 26.—What some military critics are inclined to pronounce the "greatest battle of the war" is now under way on the Yser canal.

Official reports are both meagre and contradictory, but it is generally believed in London that the Germans again are making desperate efforts to break through to the French channel ports. Some such recrudescence of the German offensive has been anticipated by the war experts but this movement, forestalling the long predicted allied offensive comes as a distinct shock to the general public.

It is impossible as yet to get a clear idea of the extent of the German movement, but some special dispatches to London papers describe it as so important that the Germans are even credited with bringing field Marshal von Hindenburg from the east to conduct the operations, and Emperor William himself is reported as proceeding to the Yser front.

Again in Carpathians.

In the eastern arena of hostilities the Carpathians compete with the Yser for interest. The gateway into Hungary formed by the Uzsok pass again is becoming the scene of sanguinary fighting with neither side making any great gains. Warsaw as a German objective is dimmed by the importance of keeping the Russians out of Hungary, and the Germans are reported as withdrawing their lines from in front of the Polish capital for new concentrations along the fronts of Cracow and in the Carpathians.

Peace Delegate Halted.

The fairway between England and Holland is still being kept clear of commercial shipping with the result that the Steamer Noordam, bearing the women delegates to the peace conference is marooned in the Downs.

Some of the delegates have sent an appeal to Ambassador Page. Answering the appeal of Miss Addams Mr. Page said it would be impossible for the embassy to aid the delegates to reach The Hague. All shipping to Dutch ports had been stopped, he explained, and it was not even possible for the members of the embassy to make the trip.

WARSHIPS AGAIN BELCHING DEATH

Fleet Renews Attempt to Drive Through Turkish Stronghold.

London, April 26.—4:36 p. m.)—The following official announcement was given out in London today:

"The general attack on the Dardanelles by the fleet and the army was resumed yesterday.

"The disembarkation of the army, covered by the fleet, began before sunrise at various points on the Galliopoli peninsula and in spite of serious opposition from the enemy in strong entrenchments, protected by barb wire, was completely successful.

"Before night fall large forces were established on shore.

The last concerted effort on the part of the allies against the Turkish fortifications on the Dardanelles straits was over a month ago, March 19 and 20. This action was entirely from the sea, and from the standpoint of the allies it was a failure. A more or less persistent bombardment covering several weeks left the straits still firmly in the hands of the Turks. The allies lost in this fighting, the British battleships Irresistable and Ocean and the French battleship Bouvet. The last five weeks have seen naval activity of only minor importance in the straits. There have been mine sweeping and occasional scouting, but no important endeavor to penetrate this waterway.

FORT WAYNE MEN IN A JAIL DELIVERY

Cumerford and Dubois and One Other Saw Out of Bluffton Bastile.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Bluffton, Ind., April 26.—Grant Cumerford and Clyde Dubois, of Fort Wayne, in jail here awaiting trial for stealing chickens in this county, and Ambers Butler, held on a charge of associating with prostitutes, but under investigation on more serious charges, escaped from the Wells county jail at 2 o'clock this morning.

The three men had help from the outside. A ladder was placed against the outside of the jail wall and the bars of one of the windows were sawed off.

Cumerford and Dubois were captured by the sheriff and an armed posse two weeks ago, when they were detected robbing a poultry house in the country.

ARMY BOARD WILL BE HERE TUESDAY

Members of the board of army engineers will not arrive in Fort Wayne until Tuesday, when they will review the report of Captain L. H. Watkins on the proposed Toledo, Fort Wayne and Chicago barge canal connecting Lake Erie with Lake Michigan. The members of the board are Major P. S. Bond, Colonel W. V. Judson and Colonel John Millis. Captain Watkins expects the board to be here for the remainder of the week.

Work on the survey for the proposed canal was started on Dec. 20, 1913, and was completed but a few days ago. According to the report twenty-three locks will have to be constructed in the event the northern route is selected and eighteen locks if the southern route is accepted. The Maumee river will be followed from Toledo to Fort Wayne.

From Columbia street bridge, Fort Wayne, to Michigan the northern route is a total of 133 miles, while the southern route from the same point to Indiana Harbor is 150 miles. Captain Watkins recommends that single locks be used throughout the entire canal.

FIRE ON ROCKHILL STREET.

REDMAN CASE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Indianapolis, Ind., April 26.—Action for the impeachment of Eli H. Redman, as judge of the Vigo circuit court, was taken under advisement by the state supreme court here today, following a conference between members of the court and Richard M. Milburn, state's attorney general, who filed the petition for impeachment. The proceedings were in chambers and their nature was not made public.

Judge Redman was one of the men convicted with Mayor Donn M. Roberts in the Terre Haute election conspiracy case here in the federal court. He is in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., to which he was sentenced to serve five years by Judge A. B. Anderson. Mr. Milburn filed the proceedings with the state supreme court, asking the removal of Redman last Saturday.

POSTPONES DECISION FOR ANOTHER DAY

As there are a few more points of law which he desires to look into, D. O. McComb, county superintendent, will not give a decision in the famous Washington township school controversy until 8 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. He was to have given a decision Monday afternoon.

Many questions are involved in the matter and the county superintendent wants to know to a certainty that he is right before rendering his opinion, which will probably determine whether Washington township is to have a school building sufficiently large for the consolidation of a number of other schools in that section of the township.

Two Bands and Rotary Club to Make Baseball Noise on Tuesday.

LINE OF MARCH.

Form on Harrison between Wayne and Main; south on Harrison to Washington; east on Washington to Hanna; north on Hanna to Wayne; west on Wayne to Barr; north on Barr to Columbia; west on Columbia to Harrison; south on Harrison to Berry; west on Berry to Fairfield; south on Fairfield to DeWald; east on DeWald to Calhoun; north on Calhoun to park.

The Rotary club will form on Wayne street, west of Harrison, Auto Dealers' association on Wayne, east of Harrison, and city officials on Harrison between Wayne and Washington.

Secretary Charles Biederwolf, of the Fort Wayne Commercial club Monday afternoon announced the line of march for the baseball parade which Tuesday afternoon will open the baseball season in this city. He has been promised 150 automobiles for the parade, and the new home-owned Cubs will begin their march to glory to the inspiring tooting of several bands and a couple of hundred automobile horns.

The Rotary club, which has taken in hand the opening day festivities, sharing the honor and the work with the Commercial club, will attend the game in a body, and some forty cars will convey the members of the club. The parade will start with the Sherman-White auto truck carrying the Elk band, and following the music will be members of the city departments, with police, park, board of works, fire, and other commissioners and officials in line. Then come the heroes, and following the ten cars which they will grace another band will toot. Then the Commercial club and Rotary club members will ride, and the Allen County Automobile Owners' association will bring up the lengthy rear.

At the park Mayor Hosey will fling the first ball in the general direction of the plate, and Secretary Charles Biederwolf, of the Commercial club, will pretend he's trying to catch it.

GERMAN CRUISER NOW COALING UP

Capt. Thierfelder Soon to Decide on Dash or Interment.

Newport News, Va., April 26.—The German auxiliary cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm, which put in here for repairs two weeks ago, after her commerce raiding cruise, was towed from her anchorage to a coal pier early today. She will take aboard between 3,500 and 4,000 tons of bunker coal, it was stated at the pier.

The Wilhelm also will take on a ten days' supply of water and provisions. That is the estimated time she would require to make the nearest German port.

Installation of boiler tubes and other inside repairs were completed yesterday and very soon Captain Thierfelder will decide whether to attempt a dash to sea or to interne with the Prinz Eitel. In marine circles it is said the date limit for the Wilhelm expires Friday or Saturday.

KNEW PLATT WAS "BOSS"

Colonel Roosevelt Says So, and Admits Consulting Him Freely.

MORE LETTERS GO IN EVIDENCE

Conferences with Platt Not "Invisible Government," He Says.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 26.—A series of confidential letters taken from the files kept by the late Thomas C. Platt, while he was representing the state of New York in the United States senate were today read to the jury trying Wm. Barnes' suit for alleged libel against Theodore Roosevelt in the supreme court here. Some of the letters were signed by Senator Platt while others were signed by Col. Roosevelt.

In nearly all of them the writers discussed candidates for office in the state government and in reply to a question by Mr. Barnes' counsel, the former president said without the slightest hesitation tha he consuled freely with Senator Platt, about affairs at Albany, knowing and realizing at all times that he was the "boss" of he republican pary in this state.

The letters were brought to Syracuse by the former senator's son and turned over to counsel for Mr. Barnes. Although the colonel could not say whether he had ever made it known to the public that he was conferring with Mr. Platt over appointments he denied emphatically that such conferences constituted "invisible government."

"My actions," the witness asserted, "were as visible as they could be."

RESUMES HIS TESTIMONY.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 26.—Theodore Roosevelt resumed his testimony on the witness stand today for further cross examination by counsel for William Barnes. It was the former president's fifth day as a witness.

When court opened a stipulation between counsel that depositions of four unnamed witnesses outside the state should have the same effect as if the witnesses had appeared on the stand, was read into the record. Mr. Ivins, Mr. Barnes' attorney, then put into the record letters written by Mr. Barnes to Col. Roosevelt and by Colonel Roosevelt to Mr. Barnes and to Herbert Parsons.

The latter letters, dated August 21, 1908, were nearly identical in contents and phraseology. In one letter Mr. Barnes discussed Governor Hughes. In it he said if Gov. Hughes was elected he would set up a political machine and all who opposed him would have to 'sneak in the back door or get out of politics."

Roosevelt to Barnes.

On Sept. 16 Col. Roosevelt wrote this letter to Mr. Barnes:

"I am very glad you joined in making the nomination of Hughes unanimous. I think it was the wise and patriotic thing to do. After the election I shall want to see you in Washington and talk over matters with you."

Replies by Mr. Barnes to some of the colonel's letters were also read to the jury. The colonel identified all the letters and declared them to be authentic. Col. Roosevelt said his favoring Gov. Hughes was not due to any personal reasons. "It was because I though the people wanted him," he added.

"Do you regard it as any evidence of corruption that Messrs. Barnes, Hendricks and Parsons favored some other man than Mr. Hughes?"

"I can't answer that collectively."

Later Col. Roosevelt answered in the negative when asked specifically about each of the men named.

Mr. Ivins then told Justice Andrews he wished to put into evidence correspondence between Thomas C. Platt and Col. Roosevelt between 1898 and 1908. While attorneys for both sides were discussing these letters, Col. Roosevelt opened some mail and sat in the witness chair reading it.

Letters to Platt.

The first letter, dated Oct. 21, 1898, was addressed to Senator Platt. In it Col. Roosevelt said: "I was misquoted. I never discriminate against any man because of his religion or his race."

In the second letter he said: "Can I see you Friday morning?"

The third was dated from Albany. The colonel told of a conference with Gov. Black over the appointment of a judge. He said further: "I want you to see you about the matter."

ALL JONESVILLE OUT IN MAN HUNT

Jonesville, Ind., April 26.—Jonesville was given a thrill of the wild West variety yesterday afternoon when one of three men arrested on charges of intoxication, pulled a revolver in the court of Justice Begood, and, holding back pursuers with threats to shoot, backed out of town with his companions. An armed posse of fifty men rounded up two of the men in the bottoms of White river a few hours later and they were taken to the county jail at Columbus.

The prisoners were James and Jean Spencer, brothers, of Columbus, 25 and 22 years old, respectively, and Donald Simmons, 22 years old, of Indianapolis. Simmons was the one who drew the revolver.

Intended to Let Them Go.

Justice Begood had intended to discharge the men from custody after giving them a talk on the error of their ways, he says.

The trio drove a hired horse from Columbus to Jonesville while intoxicated, it is charged and Harry Patrick, a Columbus liveryman, being informed that the men were abusing the horse by driving too fast, followed to Jonesville.

An altercation between Patrick and the three men ensued in Jonesville when Patrick demanded possession of his rig. It ended suddenly when Patrick struck James Spencer and knocked him down. Town Marshal Harry Crane appeared and took the Spencer brothers and Simmons into custody.

They were taken to the office of Justice Begood, where Marshal Crane searched them. When he began feeling in Jean Spencer's pockets the man is alleged to have said:

"I haven't any gun on me. If I had I would have been using it before now."

Pulls Gun; Backs Away.

Marshal Crane then turned to Simmons, who had a revolver beneath his shirt, under his arm. Crane took hold of the weapon, but Simmons jerked it away. He then backed to the door, flourishing the revolver and pointing it first at the marshal and then at Justice Begood.

"Come on boys," yelled Simmons, and the Spencer boys followed him through the door. The trio vaulted a rear fence and were at the edge of town before an alarm could be given.

Some boys and men who tried to follow them were halted by Simmons, who turned and pointed his revolver, declaring he would shoot the firt man who interferred. Finally the three took to their heels and raced for the bottom land along the river, about three-quarters of a mile from Jonesville.

Meanwhile there was wild excitement in the town. Marshal Crane, hastily forming a posse of armed men, commandeered an automobile and set off for the bottoms.

Jonesville Hits the Trail.

Jonesville soon was a deserted village. Every man who had a shotgun or a squirrel rifle left his Sunday dinner and grabbed a weapon. Young beaux forgot their devotion to the fair ones of Jonesville and set off hotfoot for the river. Some girls who were out riding with their admirers at the time soon found themselves flying along behind a galloping horse, bound for the river bottoms.

Two Men Surrender.

Meanwhile the posse had surrounded the thickly wooded strip of land where the three men had disappeared and were hot on the trail. Simmons was seen, still flourishing his revolver, and half a dozen impetuous manhunters let go with shotguns and squirrel rifles. But they were still out of range and no harm was done. By the time the posse came within hailing distance, Simmons and Jean Spencer were cowed and they surrendered without firing a shot. But James Spencer had disappeared.

Justice Begood, in another automobile, had foreseen the move that Spencer made, and with two armed men, raced around by another road to cut off Spencer's flight. The justice and his companions sighted their man as he emerged from the thicket. But there was no fight in Spencer.

"In fact," said Justice Begood, "the appeared to be perfectly sober and sorry for all the commotion he had caused. He said he was going back to Columbus, so we just let him go."

ITALY'S DEMANDS HELD IMPOSSIBLE

London, April 26.—The opinion is growing in Rome that Austria and Italy are drifting inevitably toward war. A diplomat accredited to the Quirnial quotes Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador at Rome, who has been the principal figure in the efforts to avert such a war as saying that it would be impossible for Austria to accept Italy's demands.

Peppino Garibaldi, grandson of the famous Italian statesman who recently has talked with the Italian king and premier, is said to have received from them the impression that Italy would enter the war with the allies.

Italian refugees from Austria say the frontier has been fortified by the Austrians with concrete trenches and heavy artillery.

New victories in the fighting in the Carpathians are claimed by the Austrians. After several weeks of slow progress they have at last reduced the Russian positions on both sides of the Orawa valley, the Vienna war office announces. Petrograd reports the repulse of an attack in Uzsok pass, and says that the Austrians have brought up a large amount of artillery along the Carpathian front.

NEED POWERFUL ARMY.

Allies' Expectations at Dardanelles Were Too Great.

London, April 26.—Too great expectations were raised by the preliminary operations of the allied fleet in the Dardanelles, according to a representative of British newspapers who is officially accredited to the expedition.

"The British navy is convinced," the correspondent says, "that the narrows could be forced if occasion justified the loss of ships that would result but unless there were a powerful army ready to occupy the Gallipoli peninsula the moment the fleet passed into the Sea of Marmora, the Turks and Germans immediately would close the straits behind it so the warships would find it difficult to fight their way out again.

"Nothing amazed the British and French gunners more than the resisting power of the old forts around the Dardanelles. For example, those at Sudd ul Bahr and Kum Kale were subjected to a devastating bombardment in February, yet when landing parties examined them they found the material damage done was comparatively small. Although they were mere shambles many guns were still intact and one 9-inch piece actually was found loaded.

"Similar conditions existed in the forts nearer the narrows. After the terrific bombardment of March 18 their gunners were forced to seek shelter and the fortifications were silenced but the fleet does not claim to have put many guns out of commission. After the disasters to the battleships Ocean and Irresistible some of these guns were remanned, concentrating a heavy fire on those vessels while the work of removing the crews to destroyers was in progress."

The correspondent considers the Turks such poor gunners that the allies would have been at Constantinople if there had been only Turkish troops to deal with. He said, however, that a prize must be given German officers for their skillful use of the defences to meet ships fire.

TRAINS MOVED BY WIRELESS.

New York, April 26.—A new distance record for wireless telephony in railroad service was claimed today by officials of the Lackawanna railroad. Communications by wireless concerning the movement of Lackawanna trains were exchanged between railroad superintendents at Scranton, Pa., and Binghampton, N. Y., 63 miles. Trains between these two cities were moved for several hours yesterday under orders sent or received by wireless.

MANY ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Sunday an Unlucky Day for Automobilists and Motorcyclists.

With the streets and roads thronged with automobiles, motorcycles and bicycles many accidents occurred Sunday. Perhaps the most seriously injured was Herbert Neischwonger, 14 years old, who resides with his parents on the Decatur road four miles south of Fort Wayne. While riding his bicycle, Sunday afternoon, the front fork broke, throwing him into a ditch at Rudisill and South Calhoun streets. A portion of the frame of the bicycle struck him in the groin, rendering him unconscious. He was taken to his home and later removed to the St. Joseph hospital in the police ambulance. He was reported as getting along as well as could be expected, Monday.

Fred Fez, 17 years old, residing on Anthony boulevard, was thrown from his bicycle at Holman and Calhoun streets, about 9:15 o'clock Sunday night, side and was removed to the St. Joseph hospital.

Thrown From Motorcycle.

Tony Laporte, residing at 1507 Spy Run avenue, was thrown from his motorcycle Sunday morning, when struck by an automobile driven by Michael Gilmartin. The machine was going north on Wells street and on reaching Cass, skidded about forty-five feet, striking Laporte's motorcycle and striking a tree on the northwest corner. Laporte was taken to St. Joseph's hospital where it was found he was painfully injured about the left side and hip. His motorcycle was badly damaged.

The Lakeside "jitney bus" driven by Clarence Smith, collided with Dr. George W. Gillie's automobile about 7 o'clock Sunday evening, both machines being badly damaged. Gillie was backing his car onto Lake avenue off Crescent avenue when the accident occurred.

Victor Robbe, who is employed in the city light department, was painfully burned about the hands, Saturday night, while putting gasoline into his new Saxon automobile. Sparks from the engine ignited the gasoline and Robbe was burned in attempting to extinguish the blaze.

An automobile driven by Arthur H. Kiel, 81 Portage avenue, collided with a buggy at Clay and Columbia streets, Saturday afternoon. The cross piece in the rear of the vehicle was broken, which was the only damage that was done.

MAN SENT TO WARN LINCOLN NO MORE

Montrose, N. Y., April 26.—Frederick W. Seward, assistant secretary of state in the cabinets of Presidents, Lincoln, Johnson and Hayes, and son of the late Secretary of State William H. Seward, died here yesterday in his eighty-fifth year. He leaves a widow, Anna M. Seward, and one brother, Gen. William H. Seward, of Auburn.

Mr. Seward was closely associated with some of the gravest events in the nation's history. It was he who was sent on that mission from Washington to Philadelphia to warn President Lincoln that his life was in danger if he followed his itinerary through Baltimore.

Four years later he figured in another stirring incident after the assassination of Lincoln. He was at his father's bedside when Payne, one of Booth's accomplices, pretending to be a messenger with medicine for Secretary Seward, suddenly drew a revolver and beat [illegible]

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.—Adv.

HERMAN KREUGER DEAD.

Kendallville Pioneer, Business Man and Councilman Passes at 80.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—Herman Krueger, a pioneer business man of this city and at the time of his death a councilman-at-large, died at his home Saturday evening at the age of 80 years. He was one of the most prominent as well as most public spirited citizens this city ever had and his death will be widely felt and regretted.

Herman Krueger was a native of Germany and was born in 1835. He was 18 years old when he came to America, going to Sturgis, Mich., from which place he came afoot the same year to Kendallville. His first employment in the west was as a laborer on the construction work for the old New York and Michigan Southern railroad, now the Lake Shore. He was similarly employed here for a time, but his industry, ambition and business abilities soon started him in independent channels and in 1856 he engaged in partnership with the late Reuben Miller in the grocery business. At the end of a year the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Krueger entered the real estate business. Later he re-engaged with Mr. Miller in business and his activities found opportunities in other fields of business. He was for a considerable period engaged in the operation of a brewery here, an enterprise that prospered. He built the Kelly house, for nearly half a century this city's leading hotel, erected the Krueger block and the brick block on Mitchell street in this city. Mr. Krueger was active in politics and was constant in participation in public affairs. He was elected to the city council in 1881, was one of the first trustees of the municipal waterworks department and in 1913 was elected a councilman-at-large, a position he held at the time of his death. As councilman he was chairman of the building committee to replace the city hall that was destroyed by fire more than a year ago and the handsome and completely appointed modern municipal building is largely due to his intelligent efforts. His home was one of the finest in the city.

INEBRIATE ASSAULTS WOMAN.

Auburn, Ind., April 26.—Herbert Girard, of Ashley, is locked up in the DeKalb county jail here in default of $500 bond on a charge of house-breaking with intent to commit violence for forcibly entering the home of Mrs. Philip Albright, aged 84 years, in Ashley. Girard, formerly driver of the hack between Ashley and Steubenville, got drunk and broke into Mrs. Albright's home and had his hands on the aged woman, when her son, O. G. Albright, an Ashley merchant came in and knocked the man senseless. Neighbors had watched Girard's attempt to enter the house and summoned Albright, who reached his mother's home in time to prevent serious harm to her. Girard says he was too drunk to know what he was doing. He is married and has several children.

INJURED BLASTING STUMPS.

Auburn, Ind., April 26.—Milo Boren, a farmer residing on the Adam Prosser farm, three miles southwest of Auburn, was injured and had a narrow escape from death while blasting stumps with dynamite. He had exhausted his supply of fuses and improvised one out of paper and gunpowder and attached it to a quarter-pound charge of dynamite. When he applied the match to the fuse there was a sudden flash and the explosion of the dynamite followed before he could get from harm's way. His face was filled with sand and gravel that it took considerable time by a physician to remove. His right eye was quite severely injured. Permanent consequences do not appear likely.

MISS STAUB WELL IN BLUFFTON.

Bluffton, Ind., April 26.—Miss Martha Staub, of whom was reported late last week that she had been discharged from a hospital at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where she had been treated for aphasia and was en route to her home in Fort Wayne, is in Bluffton with relatives and has been for the last five weeks. Miss Staub is now well, but early in March was in Saratoga Springs, where she was ill for several days, though the story that she suffered from aphasia or anything resembling that malady is denied by her relatives here. She is staying here with Mrs. R. J. Martin, an aunt. She formerly taught in the public schools of Bluffton. Miss Staub is puzzled by the Saratoga Springs dispatches and has no idea of the identity of the person said to be herself. She is a daughter of Alex H. Staub, a Fort Wayne merchant.

FORT WAYNE MOTORIST FINED.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—C. F. McDonald, a Fort Wayne saloonist, was fined $1 and costs—$11 in all—for speeding his automobile through the streets of this city and remarked as he settled that he was getting off easy, as it would have cost him $75 at home to burn up the street. McDonald and a companion dashed through the city at wild speed and were not interrupted. Later they returned and Marshal Cunningham arrested the driver. McDonald said they had met with a breakdown south of the city and after calling a machinist from the Auburn automobile works and getting the auto repaired drove back again to Kendallville.

MANOAH FRANKS BURIED.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—Manoah Franks, aged 86 years, and for sixty-five years of his life a resident of this community, was buried from his late residence Sunday afternoon. His death was quite sudden and unexpected. He was born in Wayne county, Ohio, and came to Noble county in 1851, and ever since that time had resided in Noble and DeKalb counties. He was a widely known man and universally respected. A son and a daughter survive him, his wife having died nine years ago.

LOCKE LEASES KOKOMO HOTEL.

Bluffton, Ind., April 26.—Dell Locke, who disposed of the fixtures of the Bliss hotel in this city a few weeks ago and turned over the hotel to the new landlord, W. R. Swinford, has closed a lease for the new Courtland hotel at Kokomo and he stated upon his arrival in Bluffton Friday evening, that he will be ready to open the Courtland to the public about May 25th.

CHILD FATALLY HURT.

Warsaw, Ind., April 26.—Injuries received Saturday in a fall from a child's wagon while playing with several little playmates, caused the death of little Mildred Lucile Fawley, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fawley, of West Center street. The little girl died in convulsions late Saturday afternoon at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Fawley.

SMALL CHILD SCALDED.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—Keith, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem McCullough of the Trinity neighborhood, six miles northeast of the city, was frightfully burned about the back and body when he accidentally took a plunge in a tub of scalding water. The burns are quite deep and severe, and the child's back, which was the most severely burned, is covered with a large blister.

OPTION FIGHT GETS BITTER.

Hartford City, Ind., April 26.—The main topic of conversation in Hartford City at the present time is concerning the option election to be held one week from next Tuesday. Both factions are now putting in their best licks and the next week will witness a very bitter fight. It is useless to venture a prediction on the outcome, for it is evident that the fight will be close.

WARNED BY STATE BOARD.

Hartford City, Ind., April 26.—The city officers here have received notices from the state board of accounts warning against the use of city funds for street fairs, festivals and the like. It is pointed out that such a practice is against the law. Another portion of the circular sets out the fact that it is not legal to take as fees delinquent taxes which are collected.

JAY COUNTY'S OLDEST MAN DIES.

Portland, Ind., April 26.—Levi Lovel Lawrence, 94, perhaps the oldest resident of Jay county, died at his home four miles south of this city Saturday evening. He was one of the pioneer manufacturers of Richmond, being engaged there for a number of years in the manufacture of farm implements. The aged widow and three children survive.

DR. DAVE LINVILL IMPROVED.

Columbia City, Ind., April 26.—Dr. Dave Linvill, who recently recovered from an attack of pneumonia and who was much better and attending to his patients, became very sick again last week with something like erysipelas of the lower limbs but is reported much better. He is not able to be up for any length of time but is not entirely bedfast.

ANGOLA LOVERS ELOPE.

Hillsdale, Mich., April 26.—Charles S. Freygang and Miss Mabel E. Ferguson, both of Angola, Ind., eloped to this city and were married at the court house by Justice C. M. Weaver. There was nothing secret about the elopement, for several of the friends of the couple came along with them as witnesses.

JAY COUNTY JAIL EMPTY.

Portland, Ind., April 26.—Jay county's jail is again without prisoners, the last being released yesterday when Elmer Boyd and Orph Snediker were released after serving eighteen days each for intoxication.

TOO MUCH MIXING OF HOSTILITEIS

By Controller Williams is Cause of Trouble With Washington Bank.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, April 26.—Inability to keep personal and business hostilities out of the administration of his office appears to be chiefly responsible for the trouble between John Skelton Williams, controller of the currency, and the Riggs National bank, of this city.

There is no reason to believe that this is the beginning of an attack by the banking interests generally on the administration, or even on Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. Reports to this effect are unfair to the administration.

The fact is the bankers throughout the country are much pleased with McAdoo's handling of the trying problems which were precipitated by the war panic, and are growing daily more satisfied with the Wilson federal reserve law and the way the board is administering it.

Some business animosities were buried when McAdoo hurried over to New York that Sunday night after the declaration of the European war and met the Wall street men in a conference at the Biltmore. All the strongest men in the world of finance were there and at that meeting all these were put aside is distinctly personal. It is unquestionably brought about by the inability of Mr. Williams to forget an old grudge. McAdoo has been dragged into it in part by the force of circumstances and in part by the great personal charm of Mr. Williams, who is as much beloved by his friends as he is hated by his enemies.

McAdoo becomes one of the defendants because he tried to put the Riggs officials on the treasury "carpet" for articles published in the New York Tribune about the Munsey Trust company affair, and when the officials talked back McAdoo let his Irish get the better of him and with some profanity threatened to put Mr. Ailes out of his office, and told Mr. Glover that he must know what this would mean to the Riggs bank—the implied threat as understood by the Riggs officials being that the power of the treasury would be exercised to put the bank out of business.

While it is not so stated in the bank's petition filed in court, it is understood here that the feud began with the elimination of Williams as a director in the Seaboard Air Line railroad following the acquisition of that property by Thomas F. Ryan and other New York interests. Milton E. Ailes, vice president of the Riggs bank, was put in to succeed Williams as a director, and the latter's hostility lighted on the unhappy head of Ailes. So marked had this hostility become at the time Williams was nominated for controller of the currency that the senate committee on finance when considering the question of Williams' confirmation, sent for Ailes and asked for some account of the relations between Williams and the fear that the controller might not be entirely fair in the administration of his office. Williams was called before the committee, and assured the senators that he could and would be fair to the Riggs bank.

The next thing on the program was the loud and spectacular ejection from the treasury department of a woman clerk who for years had been accustomed to tabulate certain public information collected by the controller's office and to transmit it to the Riggs bank officials. The ejecting was done by the secretary of the treasury at the suggestion of Mr. Williams.

The affair was unduly magnified. Whatever improper connection may have existed between the treasury department and Wall street was not maintained through this numble woman clerk, and the inference that the treasury had been freed from a terrible menace was not a legitimate one. Beginning with this incident, the Riggs bank became the object of special examinations by agents of the controller's office; its government deposits were removed and Secretary McAdoo announced that it would have no more government deposits; its officials were harassed with letters, charging and insinuating all manner of crookedness, and the controller, according to the bill filed in court, even went so far as to exercise his personal influence to secure the removal of the Red Cross funds on deposit in the bank. The removal of government money occurred at a time when all banks were conserving their resources and with a weaker bank would probably have thrown it into the hands of a receiver. The last straw

This money was taken out of interest on bonds in the possession of the treasury department and it was to save these fines that the injunction was secured.

The contract for the new $10,000 office building to be erected by the Hartford City Paper company has been awarded to Thomas Cunningham, of that place. The plans were drawn by Architect Charles R. Weatherhogg.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

17 The merciful man doeth good to his own soul: but he that is cruel troubleth his own flesh.

18 The wicked worketh a deceitful work: but to him that soweth righteousness shall be a sure reward.

19 As righteousness tendeth to life: so he that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death.

20 They that are of a forward heart are abomination to the Lord: but such as are upright in their way are his delight.

21 Though hand join in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished: but the seed of righteousness shall be delivered.

22 As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman which is without discretion.

24 There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty.

25 The liberal soul shall be made fat: and he that watereth shall be watered also himself.

26 He that withholdeth corn, the people shall curse him: but blessing shall be upon the head of him that selleth it.

27 He that diligently seeketh good procureth favour: but he that seeketh mischief, it shall come unto him.

28 He that trusteth in his riches shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a branch.

29 He that troubleth his own house shall inherit the wind: and the fool shall be servant to the wise of heart.

30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth souls is wise.

31 Behold, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth: much more the wicked and the sinner.

Mr. Bryan and the Young Voter

Speaking recently at a luncheon of the City club in Baltimore, Secretary of State Bryan laid down a series of "rules for the new voter" which he recommended to the serious attention of the young man who is about to cast his first ballot, as well as to the woman who finds herself enfranchised by the advance of the equal suffrage movement. As the keystone of his structure, Mr. Bryan asserted the propostion that "the social idea toward which world is moving requires that human institutions shall approximate toward the divine measure of rewards. This can be realized only when each individual is able to draw from society a reward proportionate to his contribution to society."

There are those who will declare utterances of this character mere platitudes, and decry preachment of lofty motives in an age intensely political and in politics that are tremendously practical, but the young voter who desires to measure up most fully to his opportunity with the ballot will do well to give thoughtful heed to Mr. Bryan's admonition. Partisan as he is, Mr. Bryan is first patriotic. There are things much more important than temporary triumph, and in his Baltimore address the secretary placed the ballot not in the rank of political privilege, but of sacred civic duty.

It is not to be presumed, nor is it necessary or even desirable, that people be all of one mind regarding the desirability of this or the undesirability of that. It is not to be expected, as Mr. Bryan argued, that an intelligent people will always acquiesce in the evidence of a wrong, but he asserted it the plain duty of every citizen "to exert himself to the utmost to eradicate every evil in government." Mr. Bryan's career has furnished a striking example of this purpose. He has perhaps not always been absolutely right, but he has always been courageous, and he has not hesitated, and is not hesitating now, to assail what he believes wrong, whether in his own party or in another. He has practiced as he has preached through many years of political life the course he is still advising for others. This does not mean that man can be infallible or inevitably right and everybody else wrong. It means that the voter, young and old, will perform a higher service for his country if he will make his vote count not so much for party triumph or personal victory as for the hastening of that millenium which is held up by Mr. Bryan as the time when "human institutions shall approximate toward the divine measure of rewards." This means that voting must becomes less a party expediency and more a matter of square-toed justice for class and mass alike.

Through the medium of a letter written to President Garfield, of Williams college, Secretary Daniels has taken occasion to definitedly refute recent attacks on the preparedness of the United States navy. The secretary insists that more vessels of all character are now in commission than ever before in time of peace, that they are better equipped and more fully supplied with munitions of war, and that during the past two years progress toward naval betterment has gone forward steadily. Summarized, the secretary's view is that Uncle Sam's navy is prepared to give a good account of itself, should the unfortunate necessity arise for doing it. Somehow, Mr. Daniels' letter is a relief. We had gathered from some recent critics that the American navy amounted to little more than some expensive toys and a vast deal of back-number junk.

The reappointment of Dr. James M. Dinnen, of this city, to membership on the Indiana state board of medical examination and registration is about the most graceful recognition possible of Dr. Dinnen's long and valuable service as a member of that body. He has been identified with it since its organization in 1897, and at the close of the new term will have served continuously for twenty-four years through various changes in state administration. Dr. Dinnen doubtless duly appreciates an honor so signal in character, but he has amply merited it by the conscientious and high-class service he has given the state in this capacity.

Fort Wayne's Central League baseball team will be seen in its first home game of the 1915 season on Tuesday, and it should be a matter of civic pride to see that the new organization gets the proper sort of a send-off. Quite aside from the entertainment it affords, professional baseball is important to aid in keeping Fort Wayne before the public abroad. The town which supports a hustling high-grade professional baseball aggregation is always a live town, and position in a league like the Central is worth a vast sum to any city from the standpoint of publicity alone.

After all; there may be some warrant for the suspicion that Mr. Barnes brought that libel suit against Colonel Roosevelt merely to make it clear that he is still running things in the New York republican camp, and as fair warning that all poaching will

UNIFORM LAWS ARE NEEDED.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The confusion that has arisen in Maryland as a result of a conflict of the divorce laws of that state and of Nevada, should serve to revive the movement started three years ago by the American Bar association to secure uniform laws on divorce and other important questions. There should be a basis on which all states could agree regarding divorce. And divorce is not the only subject on which there is absurd variance among the states.

We have, for example, four states that provide death penalty for conviction on a charge of burglary in the first degree and six that provide for life imprisonment. We have eighteen states in which a burglar may be let off with a sentence of one year. We have fourteen states in which the minimum sentence for forgery ranges from two to seven years.

Perjury in Indiana is punishable by a sentence of two to twenty-one years. Illinois fixes its limits at one to fourteen years, Ohio at three to ten years, Kentucky at one to five years. Florida insists on four and not more than ten years. Perjury is perjury whether it is committed in Indiana or some other state. It should not be any more criminal for a resident of Florida to swear falsely than for a Hoosier to do so. The place is not the essence of the crime.

Manslaughter in the first degree is not punished as severely in Colorado as we punish those in Indiana who are convicted of forgery. Virginia looks upon robbery as worse than manslaughter. North Dakota imposes one to five years for manslaughter in the second degree and not less than ten years for forgery. Larceny in Indiana is worse than manslaughter in Nebraska.

It requires no argument to convince anyone that all this is illogical. There should be something approximating justice for each misdeed and it should be the same in each state. If Indiana, for example, is just in dealing with its criminals some other states are too lenient and others are harsh and too exacting.

MAIL VOTING FOR TRAVELING MEN

(Toledo Blade.)

A proposition before the constitutional convention of New York provides for an arrangement by which commercial travelers may vote by mail.

This convention, being ultra-conservative, may not adopt the amendment. Yet it is one that should be put in force, not only in New York, but in every other state of the union. The commercial travelers are among the very best of our citizens. Their judgment in political matters is keen, their opportunities for forming judgments being unusual.

But as it is with them now, they can not vote without penalizing themselves. They must pay for long journeys and sacrifice time that is as valuable to them as to fortunate stay-at-home citizens who have to sacrifice no time at all. The results of the present system are bad. A great many traveling men weigh their business and their civic responsibility and too often decide for business. They are frequently so situated that they can do nothing else. The loss is not simply theirs alone. Society loses something every time a responsible citizen fails to vote.

If we favored political bossism we would fight every suggestion which would favor this mail voting scheme. For barriers existing between the polls and the traveling salesmen directly benefit political bosses. The fraudulent votes have just that many fewer honest votes to overcome.

DR. GEISEL'S COMING.

To the Editor of The Sentinel:—I trust the women of Fort Wayne are awake to the privilege we are to have on May 1, in hearing Dr. Caroline Geisel who is with the Flying Squadron.

The time is here when the states and nation are calling to you to help decide this greatest question before the American people. On April 30, May 1-2, there will be a company of experts, as great in their chosen field of work, as the Lyons party were in theirs.

It is hoped that the men, women and children will arrange their time and work to avail themselves of this opportunity.

There is no more convincing speaker among women than Dr. Geisel. She is in demand all over the United States.

This call is to the women of Fort Wayne who stand for the homes, the youth of America, to lend their strength and time to make this work vital in our midst.

I WOULDN'T TEMPT YOU WOULDN'T FEAZE ME — BILLY SUNDAY
SOME DAY THAT OLD DEVIL WILL HIT THE TRAIL WITH THE OTHER SINNERS
ONE MAN MAY SEE THE DEVIL WITH HORNS, HOOFS AND A TAIL WHILE TO ANOTHER— HE WILL APPEAR AS AN ANGEL OF LIGHT"— REV. BILLY SUNDAY.

THE "HIGH SPOTS" IN BILLY SUNDAY'S INTERVIEW ABOUT THE DEVIL AS SEEN BY ARTIST PARKER.

(By Nixola Greeley-Smith.)

Paterson, N. J., April 26.—Ladies and gentleman—the Devil!

I am not swearing, just introducing to you, the readers of this newspaper, Billy Sunday's personal devil as the famous evangelist described him to me in a talk we have just had in Paterson, N. J., where Mr. Sunday is now conducting a record-breaking campaign for souls.

This is the first time Mr. Sunday has ever talked about the devil in an interview, the reason being that nobody has ever asked him before to describe the famous personage that the twentieth century seems to forget all about except when it stubs its toe.

"I am writing a sermon about the devil now," Mr. Sunday told me when I broached the subject but it is not finished yet. (So you see you are getting Mr. Sunday's thoughts on the devil in the very making.)

"The devil is a real person," he continued earnestly, "and I say you have got to believe he is a real person to be saved! The Bible says he is a real person and I believe the Bible from cover to cover! When I preach there is a personal devil folks say to me, 'That's sixteenth century preaching. It won't do in the twentieth century!' But when a century gets too smart to believe in the devil and in everything else the Bible teaches, I say to hell with the century! That's the kind of man I am!"

"Has the devil really got horns and hoofs and a tail?" I asked the champion devil-chaser of the world.

"The devil has a thousand forms," Mr. Sunday replied with great earnestness. "To one man he may appear with horns, hoofs and a tail while to another he may look like an angel of light. The devil wears whatever form will make him most of a tempter. That's why he has so many disguises. He suits his appearance to the person he is trying to tempt. That's what makes him so cute and foxy. Because what would tempt you, for instance, wouldn't feaze me!

"Nobody knows how cute and foxy that old devil is," the baseball evangelist continued. "To find out how smart he is just think how seldom he appears in the guise of out-and-out infidelity. There are mighty few real infidels in the world. Most people believe in God. But the devil, he goes about with a handful of isms and scisms to fool people."

"How about hell, Mr. Sunday?" I inquired meekly—such is the man's magnetism—such his earnest belief in the gospel he preaches—that I was beginning to think about "hitting the trail" myself. "Is hell really a place of fire and brimstone and burning marl?"

"Hell is a place of torment, just as a heaven is a place of beauty," he answered. "We think about hell as a place of fire—because fire tortures just as we think about heaven as a place of gold and diamonds and rubies and sapphires because those are the most beautiful things we have. Whether hell is really a fiery pit and whether heaven really has gold streets is God's business. I leave it to him!

"I want to say one more thing." Mr. Sunday swung suddenly around from his desk in the big room on the third floor which is gay with baseball banners. "All the preachers in the world may frown and all the editors in the world may sneer, but I will go right on preaching a personal devil and an eternal hell because they are in the Bible and I won't abate one iota, jot or tittle for any of them!"

Such is the force of Mr. Sunday's character, such his faith and fire that some day soon I expect the same old devil that Billy pounds so much will see the error of his ways, draw in his horns and skulk up the aisle of the tabernacle to "hit the trail" with the other sinners.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Rev. A. Detzer, of Highland Park, Ill., is the guest of his sons in this city.

Rev. Father Byrne, of the Cathedral clergy, is an enthusiastic spectator at the baseball games.

Wayne lodge, No. 25, F. and A. M., will confer the third degree upon Hon. James M. Barrett and Charles Bond tonight.

At a special meeting of the city council last night bids were opened for the paving of a number of streets with cedar blocks.

The erection of handsome dwellings in the new suburb of Lakeside will begin within ten days. Plans for many residences in that addition are now being drawn.

There was an interesting test of road scrapers on South Calhoun street today under the direction of Trustee Brackenridge and Supervisor Henry Branning.

A party of Nickel Plate officials visited the Wabash shops yesterday to witness the operation of a new boiler cleaner which is the invention of Superintendent J. B. Barnes, of the Wabash.

Col. Hugh B. Reed, formerly a druggist in this city and first commander of the Forty-fourth Indiana regiment, died this morning at Somerville, N. J. The remains will be brought here for burial.

GIRL PUTS CATTLE AHEAD OF CLOTHES

Arkansas Plumber-Butcher Will Forsake Laundry for a Ranch.

Eureka Springs, Ark., April 26.—"Cattle are more interesting than clothes," says Miss Allie Pitts, of Eureka Springs, who has forsaken the butcher business to run a laundry. Miss Pitts is twenty-seven years old. She was accustomed to killing her own cattle and hogs when she was in the meat business. This summer she plans to quit the laundry, buy a cattle ranch and ship her own stock to market.

Before she became a butcher Miss Pitts was a plumber. At an age when most girls are giggling over beaux and party dresses this mountain girl was repairing broken water pipes and defective drains.

"I guess it's because I'm just naturally odd," she says bashfully when asked how she came to choose such odd professions. "I went to keeping books in a meat shop and one day when the butcher was taken sick I offered to take his place. Then I bought a shop of my own in Granby, Mo. With the help of a man I employed I did all my own butchering, cutting up the beef and rendering the lard. I knocked the animals in the head as they came down the runway. Oh, yes, I hated it at first, but I soon got used to it. Some way I hated worst to kill the hogs.

The restrictions of corsets, high heels and frills are unknown to this wholesome mountain girl. She dresses very plainly in a short, dark skirt, mannish waist and tie and knockabout hat. She has mild blue eyes, curling dark hair and talks with a little lisp.

ADVISER IS BACKED BY CLUB AT SEDALIA

Sedalia, Mo., April 26.—In order to establish and encourage better agriculture in Pettis county, the Sedalia Boosters club, this city's only commercial organization, started and financed the farm adviser movement. Later, to supplement and make effective the farm adviser's work, the club launched a county bureau of agriculture with a membership of nearly 1,000. Out on the farm institutes and all-day basket dinings at which city and country people met, together with whole-county July 4 celebrations and whole-county noonday banquets in Sedalia, practically eliminated the line between city and country.

The county farm adviser, S. M. Jordan, began his service here in April, 1912, at $3,000 a year, Sedalia being one of the first cities of the United States to employ such an officer.

About two years ago the Pettis County Homeseekers' club, the woman's auxiliary of the bureau of agriculture, and composed of both country and city women, was formed, and three months ago this club emulated the bureau by employing, at a salary of $1,200 a year, an expert county teacher of domestic science, who visits farm homes and the rural schools and gives systematic instruction in domestic science and arts and manual training.

GIRLS CLUB OCCUPIES A HISTORIC ACADEMY

Quincy, Mass., April 26.—Adams academy building in which was located for many years the school founded by President John Adams and devoted exclusively to the education of young men, will be occupied henceforth by the Young Women's club, an organization whose activities are educational. The club is an outgrowth of the Quincy Woman's club, whose members were influential in securing the use of the building.

The Young Women's club was organized eight years ago and has a large membership. Its government is democratic, the officers being chosen by all the members at regular meetings. Its purpose is to educate the members in useful and important things, cultivation of a liking for the good and beautiful and development of character. With this end in view classes have been formed for instruction in dramatics, music, gymnastics, sewing and other household arts.

Many classes, nationalities and religions are represented here, and the organization is non-sectarian. The members are taught first of all to consider themselves good American citizens and to work together for the building up of a fine type of womanhood.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

CHANCE MEETING BRINGS FATHER TO DAUGHTER HE NEVER KNEW.

MISS VIOLET SILVER.

San Francisco, April 26.—A drama of chance recently brought about the meeting of twenty-year-old Miss Violet Silver, an accomplished violinist of this city, and her father, a wealthy Manchester (England) manufacturer, for the first time in their lives.

The girl was born some months after Meyer Silver, then a poor immigrant from England to California, had separated from his bride. Mrs. Silver had secured annulment of the marriage, and the husband, who had meantime returned to Manchester, was not told of the child's birth.

Not until he met Violet and her mother on a ferryboat here by chance did Meyer Silver know that he had a daughter living in California. He had remarried and has a family in England.

MARCH DEATH RATE SHOWS AN INCREASE

Indianapolis, Ind., April 26.—The death rate in Indiana for March increased over the rate for March, 1914, in both city and rural communities, according to reports just made public by the state board of health. In March, 1,945 persons died in the rural communities of the state, at a rate of 14.7, while in March, 1914, there were only 1,800 deaths, at a rate of 13.6. In cities of the state 1,787 persons died during the month, at a rate of 16.5, against a rate of 15.9 last year and a total number of deaths of 1,796 for March. The total deaths in the state for March were 3,732 and for March, 1914, the total was only 3,596.

The highest death rate was reported for the central counties of the state, where 1,619 persons died and the rate exceeded that of March a year ago and was 1.3 higher than the rate for the whole state. The death rates are estimated on each 1,000 population, figured annually, for the month in question.

In Northern Counties.

The northern counties of the state presented the highest death rates for such diseases as whooping cough, diarrhea and enteritis, poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis), influenza and smallpox. In the central counties the higher death rates were from such diseases as diphtheria, pneumonia, cerebro-spinal fever, puerperal septicemia, cancer and external causes.

Death rates for the larger cities of the state follow: Indianapolis, 18.1; Evansville, 14.3; Fort Wayne, 14.1; Terre Haute, 17.4; South Bend, 14.6; Gary, 12.8; Muncie, 12.5; Hammond, 15.9; Richmond, 20.1; Anderson, 14.5; East Chicago, 18.7; Elkhart, 16.3; Lafayette, 31.5; Michigan City, 15.3; New Albany, 19.4; Logansport, 17.4; Marion, 12.2.

Cases of Suicide.

There were forty-two suicides during the month—men, thirty-five; women, seven. Poison caused twelve such deaths, asphyxiation two, hanging or strangulation three, drowning one, firearms eighteen, cutting or piercing instruments four, jumping from high place one, and crushing one.

There were 138 accidental deaths; five by poisoning, fourteen by burning, thirteen of which were the deaths reported when the Delaware county infirmary burned. Railroad accidents caused twenty-one deaths, and auto accidents three.

Eleven persons were killed by others during the month, seven men and four women. Six were shot to death.

The total births in the state during the month numbered 5,070, at a state rate of 23.8. Of these 2,585 were boys and 2,485 girls. Lake county had the highest birth rate of any county in the state, with 36.8, and Scott county had the lowest rate, with 6.7.

CITY OF SALEM IS FAST REBUILDING

Salem, Mass., April 26.—That this city is rapidly recovering from the fire of 1914, which burned over 250 acres and destroyed more than 1,800 buildings is evidenced by the rebuilding activities seen on all sides. Already permits for 461 buildings, valued at nearly $1,075,152, have been issued and work started, and with the opening of spring plans for nearly double that number are in contemplation.

This building work is divided as follows: First class construction (absolutely fireproof) comprising mills and factories, $1,312,500; second class, hotels, lodging houses, etc, $324,585; third class, tenement houses, $345,300; fourth class, dwellings, one and two-family houses, $1,215,117; fifth class, store blocks with dwellings overhead, $363,050; sixth class, buildings of mill construction, $16,600.

When one considers that the real estate loss in the fire was estimated at $5,500,000, according to the taxable valuation at the time, the new building work in the city up to April 1 is a strong evidence of the city's rapid recovery.

In some instances whole streets have been practically restored, particularly in residential sections. The class of dwellings is of a much higher standard than those replaced, this being due to the strict building code which has been adopted and which requires, besides non-combustible roof materials, metal gutters, fire-stops in partitions, and that no building shall be nearer than five feet to the lot line, thus insuring at lease ten feet space between dwellings. The only exception to this applies to brick or concrete buildings, in which blank end walls, without windows or apertures, occur, as in rows of business blocks. The old-time three and four-story wooden tenement houses are absolutely prohibited. Such dwellings now must be of brick, concrete or some other non-combustible material. And these, if they have windows facing on adjoining property, cannot be built nearer than five feet from the lot line.

MUCH HINGES ON BIG LAND ACTION

Government's Suit to Recover Millions of Acres is Important.

Washington, April 26.—One of the most important suits the government has had in recent years is now before the supreme court of the United States. It involves an attempt to recover lands valued at $70,000,000 from the Oregon and California Railroad company and others. These lands, comprising more than two million acres are part of the "land grants" which were made with lavish hand to all the trans-continental railroads in the period after the close of the civil war. If the government wins its case, these lands will be thrown open to settlement and development, and in addition the railroad will have to pay the government for 520,000 acres which the government claims have been disposed of contrary to law.

"The defendant company," says the brief filed by Solicitor General Davis, Assistant Attorney General Kanebel and Special Assistant Smyth, "had flagrantly violated the congressional acts, and now seems to think the government harsh in calling upon it to suffer the consequences of its misconduct. There is not a single equity in the company's favor; for every dollar in value given to the government in the form of free transportation, it has received about $6 from the proceeds of the lands; for every dollar in taxes paid it has received more than $3 out of the lands. * * * For upwards of a quarter of a century the company has, for its own selfish purposes, and in contempt of the laws of the country, withheld these lands from home-seekers, and thwarted the industrial development of a large section of a great state, and at this moment demands the right to continue in its vicious work of obstruction. Unless it be reprehensible for the government to enforce the laws—and there are some who seem to think it is—there is no room for the claim that its action in demanding a forfeiture of the lands in question is inequitable and should be condemned. The decree of the lower court is right and we respectfully ask that it be [illegible] railroad company for purchase of plots of these lands for homesteading, but the railroad claimed that these applications were not made in good faith. The United States answered this argument in this way: "If the railroad company," says the brief, "had put these lands upon the market for sale according to the terms of the grants, it would have been demonstrated within a short time that there were thousands of people willing to take them and establish their abodes thereon. If that had been done, what is now a wilderness would be a land of homes filled with happy and prosperous citiens."

What the government's suit amounts to is a charge that this railroad company has monopolized these lands, unlawfully withholding them from settlement and entry to secure for itself the increment in land value which it has capitalized and upon which it is now earning dividends.

NOT VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY.

Two Elwood Youths Met Death by Accident at Lowden, Ia.

Elwood, Ind., April 26.—Charles Rager and Charles Hedrick, each nineteen years old, whose bodies were found in a gondola freight car at Lowden, Ia., met death by accident and were not the victims of foul play, as had been reported. The bodies have reached Elwood. Today a double funeral was held at the Rager home, and the bodies were taken to Alexandria and buried side by side.

The accident happened on a sidetrack at Lowden. They were tramping their way across the country. At Lowden they crawled into a car, loaded with heavy bridge timbers, and fell asleep. The car was shunted by an engine, and the jar caused the timbers to shift. The heads of both men were caught and twisted, breaking their necks. It was through postal cards in Rager's pocket that their identity was learned.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR HETTRICK.

Toledo, Ohio, April 26.—Penitentiary for life was the sentence imposed on Al Hettrick, formerly of Fort Wayne, in the court of common pleas here for the murder of Mrs. Carrie Jones Barlow, his mistress, January 26, at a rooming house in this city. A motion for a new trial, made at once after a jury had found Hettrick guilty of murder in the second degree last week, was overruled and sentence was pronounced. Hettrick and the woman came here from Fort Wayne, where they had resided for some months at a hotel, and the shooting followed a quarrel over some diamond rings Hettrick claimed as his property.

LOCAL TAILOR DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Daniel Bieker Passes Away at Richmond at the Age of 46 Years.

Daniel Bieker, a well known tailor of Fort Wayne, employed at the Grimme tailor shop, died at East Haven hospital, Richmond, Monday morning, following an illness of six weeks. He went to the hospital several weeks ago for treatment.

He resided at 1109 Cass street, coming here from Germany when a young man. He was a devoted member of the

DANIEL BIEKER.

Precious Blood Catholic church and a member of various societies of the same congregation. His host of acquaintances will be grieved to learn of his demise. Besides his wife he is survived by seven brothers and sisters. He was a member of the local tailors' union, No. 118.

The body was brought to this city and taken to his residence, where funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at the Precious Blood Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

FARR.

Mrs. Nancy Jane Farr, aged 58 years and eight months, died at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night at the family home, 1323 Erie street, following an illness due to complication of diseases. The deceased was the wife of Jacob Farr, who is employed as a night watchman at the east branch of the Knitting Mills.

Mrs. Farr was born in Green county, O., where she resided until two years ago when the family moved to this city. Besides her husband she is survived by three sons—Delmar and Homer Farr, of this city and Charles Farr of Ridgeville; one daughter, Mrs. Nora Harper, of Mercer, Ohio, and one brother, Jonas Sesler, of Fort Wayne.

Funeral services Tuesday morning at 9:45 o'clock at the residence, and at 11:50 the remains will be shipped to Antwerp for burial.

BOSSELMANN.

Mrs. Mary Bosselman, aged seventy-four years, died at 10:30 o'clock Sunday evening at the home of her son, Henry Bosselman, at Five Points. She has been ill many weeks.

Born in Germany she came to this country with her husband when she was a young woman, and for many years has been a resident of this county. Surviving relatives include two sons, Henry, of Milan township and William of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Barrow, of this city, and Mrs. Kate Grime, of Three Rivers, Mich. There are also eleven surviving grandchildren.

Funeral services at 12:30 Wednesday afternoon from the residence and at 1:30 from St. Paul's Lutheran church at Gar Creek.

SHOAFF.

Howard Shoaff, aged twenty-eight years, died late Saturday night at the county farm. He had been ill and confined at that institution for ten weeks. Although he had resided here for some time, little is known concerning surviving relatives. The body is being held at the Peltier undertaking parlors while an effort is being made to locate relatives.

FRY.

John Fry, the one day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fry, of 1415 Spy Run avenue, died Monday morning at the family home from exhaustion.

Funeral services Tuesday morning at 7:30 from the residence. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Soest.—Funeral services for Mrs. Katherine Soest will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the residence on the Auburn road and at 2:30 o'clock at the St. John Reformed church. Rev. J. H. Bosch officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

Thiele.—Funeral services for Mrs. Gertrude Thiele will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of her mother-in-law, 1102 Wilt street, and at 2:30 o'clock at the Emanuel Lutheran church, Rev. William Moll officiating.

TALK OF JOHNSON AND GIFF PINCHOT

Progressives Do a Bit of Contingent Figuring on Ticket.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, April 26.—The nomination of Governor Hiram Johnson of California for president, with Gifford Pinchot as his running mate as candidates of the progressive party, is seriously talked by the progressive managers who are watching the maneuvers of Root, Barnes, Smoot, Penrose and the standpat republicans. A man who recently has talked with Victor Murdock, chairman of the progressive national committee, admits that the above suggestion is one of those under consideration. According to this plan the progressive party convention would be held before the republican national convention. If the republicans decided to put up a candidate satisfactory to Roosevelt and the progressive leaders—a man like Norris, Cummins, or Borah—the progressive support could easily be turned to the republican candidate; Johnson and Pinchot withdrawing from the race. On the other hand, if the republican managers persisted in going forward with the plan to name a man of the Root or Taft type, the progressives would have a ticket in the field and would be able by voting their strength to insure the certain defeat of the republican candidate.

In the 1912 election, President Wilson's popular vote was 6,293,019; Roosevelt's vote was 4,119,507; Taft's was 3,484,956; while Debs polled approximately 1,000,000 votes. In the congressional elections last November, the strength of the progressive party had dwindled to approxtmately 1,500,000 votes. These voters may be regarded as "irreconcilables"; as men who prefer to vote their political convictions even when they know that they are practically bound to lose. It is fair to assume that Johnson and Pinchot could poll at least this number of votes in a presidential contest. If this million and a half be subtracted from the progressive party vote in 1912, it leaves 3,484,956 voters who might return to the republican ranks, and Wilson would still be elected by a plurality of 188,556, even if he did not get a single vote more than he polled in 1912.

In other words, the progressives feel that they have a veto power on the republican candidate. They will not be able to elect their man, but they can again defeat a reactionary republican.

An entirely new and very important principle in the wage dispute between the ninety-eight western railroads and their 64,000 engineers and firemen is expected to make the decision of the board of arbitration to be handed down April 30 one of the greatest interest. In this case, which is the second brought under the revised Erdman arbitration act, now known as the Newlands act, the workers have injected the principle that they are entitled to wage increases on the basis of "productive efficiency"; in other words, that their compensation should bear some relation to the increased earnings which come to the roads by reason of increased efficiency on the part of machinery and labor. During recent years the western roads have made extraordinary gains in operating efficiency. They have used more powerful locomotives, larger cars, longer trains and by eliminating curves and reducing grades, have increased to a tremendous extent freight-train loads; all of these changes bringing a marked increase in the labors and responsibilities of enginemen and firemen. The brotherhoods claim that the increased productivity of the railroad plants was accompanied by a decrease in the costs to the roads of engineers and firemen. All this means that the recent raises in wages were well below the increasing other costs of running the railroads.

If the arbitration board should accept this principle of "productive efficiency," it means that a new era in the fixing of railroad wages has begun. This principle amounts to establishing the right of workers to a proportionate share in the profits of business. It means that wages shall bear a ratio to the earning power of the industry. Under this principle, wages, of course, would not necessarily rise; the workers would throw in their lot with mum subsistence level. Such a plan means a direct interest of the worker in the efficiency of the industry as a whole, because it means direct results to him in increased wages. Compared to ordinary "profit-sharing" schemes, this plan goes much further and is calculated to set a precedent of great importance in industry.

The prohibitionists deny that they have any quarrel with President Wilson over the nation-wide prohibition issue. Dr. P. A. Baker, of the Anti-Saloon league, has dug up a letter in which Mr. Wilson in 1911, while governor of New Jersey, declared in favor of state-wide prohibition when the Texas campaign was on. The letter says: "I see no reason to doubt from what I know of the circumstances that state-wide prohibition is both practicable and desirable in Texas." Previously Governor Wilson had declared in another letter in favor of county option in New Jersey. The inference is that President Wilson might see the feasibility of nation-wide prohibition in the near future and in time for the next presidential campaign.

$30,000 NOT ENOUGH.

Three Children Get Annual Allowance Increased to $45,000.

Philadelphia, April 26.—An annual allowance of $30,000 was not sufficient to support properly the three children of Persifor Frazies, Jr., according to the testimony before the orphan court here, and the court on the petition of the children's guardians increased the amount to $45,000 a year. The income from a trust estate left by the children's grandfather, John Lowber Welsh, amounts to $105,000 a year.

The guardians who were appointed by the court on the death of their mother in a petition presented to the court set forth that the wages of servants and other household expenses amount to $18,000, the rent of their town house to $2,500 and country place to $1,500. Tuition amounts to $3,000 and clothing to a similar amount, while $2,500 was required for traveling and automobile expenses. This was exclusive of any sums spent for amusement and entertainment.

The children are: Marie, age fifteen; Persifor III, fourteen, and Isabella, age ten.

"TIZ" FIXED MY SORE, TIRED FEET

Use "TIZ!" Don't have puffed-up, burning, aching feet or corns.

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, bad smelling, sweaty feet. No more pain in corns, callouses or bunions. No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "TIZ."

"TIZ" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet; "TIZ" is magical; "TIZ" is grand; "TIZ" will cure your foot troubles so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore, swollen or tired. Think of it, no more foot misery; no more burning corns, callouses or bunions.

WAR WORK FOR WOMEN HAS ITS LIMITATIONS

England Denies Them License as Drivers of Motor Vehicles.

London, April 10.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—War work for women has its official limitations, since the home secretary refuses to grant licenses to women who have successfully passed the examinations required of drivers of motor vehicles. The reason the home secretary gave to the applicants was the public's alleged lack of confidence in women drivers.

"Could he not leave the public to decide that?" asked Miss Phipps, president of the National Federation of Women Teachers, in an address before that body in London the past week.

Miss Phipps aired other grievances against the government in which she had the sympathy of the teachers. The legislation closing the liquor houses to women until 11:30 a. m., and not to the men was based on the lie, she said, that most of the drinking was done by soldiers' wives. This she considered a deadly insult to the women. Discrimination in the matter of wages existed in the factories furnishing munitions of war, she charged, as men received more pay than the women for equivalent work.

Instead of putting children into the harvest fields next summer, Miss Phipps proposed that the stronger and better nourished boys from Eton and Harrow and the other great schools be set at this work.

The woman baggage porter has made her appearance in the Marylebone railway station. For some time, women have been employed cleaning the railway coaches, but now they take their place with the men to carry bags or roll trunks on hand trucks to and from the trains and the taxis. Their insignia is a metal arm badge, like the men's.

As a rule, the women porters look mainly after women travelers. The only privilege they exact over the men is their afternoon cup of tea.

The women are now quite as well up on the time tables as the men, and can pocket tips with equal adeptness.

LEGISLATION TAKES SOCIALISTIC TURN

Change in Norway Since Every Adult is Given Right to Vote.

Christiania, April 10.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—Since Norway has given every adult woman and man the right to vote, legislation is declared to have taken a remarkably socialistic turn, although the socialist party, except in special industrial centers, does not count a majority of the voters.

In parliament the radicals are in majority and in connection with the socialistic faction, they have such an overwhelming force that the conservatives have no say at all. The present legislation is characteristic of Norwegian socialistic theories, which, in many respects, are quite different from those in other countries. For instance, the legislature, with a large majority, has passed a law by which illegitimate children are to be placed in the same class as legitimate children, in relation to the father. The slogan is, "Same rights for illegitimate children as for legitimate children." One section provides that illegitimate offspring shall have full right to take the name of the father, another gives them equal rights in the matter of inheritance.

Upon a man's death, for instance, an illegitimate son, perhaps born long before the man was married, can break into the bereaved family and, according to the new law, take the dead man's name and demand his share of the estate. At the same time, if a man who has an illegitimate child wants to take the child into his family, the child's mother may prevent it, if it is her wish. Opponents of the new law have contended that it will tempt immoral women to look for rich fathers for illegitimate offspring. The proponents of the law assert that the "old-fashioned" legal matrimony must be replaced by the full love connections between "soul affinities."

In all reformatory bills before the legislature the socialistic ones are leading. One bill proposes to make away with all private schools and colleges, since the laboring men cannot afford to send his children into these schools.

In the civil service high school education has been required, but recent legislation decided that it should not hereafter be required in the government mail service.

ITEM WELCOMED BY MANY MEN

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do because the treatment consisting of grain tablets can be obtained and taken without the knowledge of any one. If the reader has any of the symptoms, and decides to try it just go to any large well stocked drug store and ask for three-grain Cadomene Tablets, and then take according to the directions which accompany each sealed tube. The tonic-invigorating power is soon felt and the joy of a healthy body experienced. These tablets, originally dispensed by prominent physicians and pharmacists, now are packed with full directions for self administration, so that it is wholly unnecessary to pay a physician for prescribing them.

MELTING POT SCHOOL IS WORKING WONDERS

Western City is Teaching Americanism Like Geography.

(By Gertrude M. Price.)

Los Angeles, April 22.—Public school classes for citizenship are now a part of the Los Angeles curriculum of education!

They are the first of the kind in the country, though their ready success has caused much interest among the foremost workers in the great melting-pot problem of the United States.

The purpose of these unique classes is to make it possible for foreigners to become proficient, take regular examinations and receive certificates of citizenship at regularly conducted commencement exercises.

The ultimate aim is to inculcate the spirit of democracy as well as to teach the letter of the constitution. This system makes it possible for any foreigner to go to school, without charge, and learn "Americanism"—something of the laws of the land he has adopted, the principles of its government and the customs of its people.

It is an excellent substitute for the previous system of hailing the candidate into the court room, putting him through a few perfunctory paces in the shape of cut and dried queries, and then awarding him the right of citizenship.

The sponsor for the novel plan of bringing the new arrival into harmonious and intelligent touch with his new surroundings, is Presiding Judge J. P. Wood, of the superior court, who believes in it thoroughly.

The classes are held at night, so that men working may have an opportunity to attend. When the course is complete examinations are conducted on the work studied. Those who pass satisfactorily are given diplomas which are, in turn, accepted by Judge Wood in lieu of the court examination as an open sesame to the privileges and rights of an American.

The commencement exercises at the close of a course are made the subject of much preparation; noted lawyers, doctors, ministers and club women taking part and extending the right hand of fellowship.

Cordiality and good will characterize all the proceedings and lead each graduate to feel that he has really entered into comradeship with the people of his adopted country.

The new system, Judge Wood believes, is a protection and aid to the United States as well as a help to the foreigners, for it is a means of disseminating knowledge where otherwise there might be a very cloudy conception, and impresses upon untrained minds the necessity of accepting the duties as well as the privileges of their new-found possession.

Splendid for Rheumatism.

"I think Chamberlain's Liniment is just splendid for rheumatism." writes Mrs. Dunburgh, Eldridge, N. Y. The quick relief from pain which Chamberlain's Liniment affords is alone worth many times the cost. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Appropriate memorial services for the eight departed members of the United Commercial Travelers, Fort Wayne council, were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. As is customary, the ceremony was performed by the officers of the council. Several selections were rendered by a quartet composed of Brothers Kolb, Rowley, Beekner and Sterling accompanied on the piano by Miss Elizabeth Waltz. Mrs. Arthur E. Rodenbeck sang a solo.

The deceased members of the council are Robert F. Kinnaird, William H. Fisher, M. F. Belger, George R. Bolen, Francis J. Ryan, Harry C. Mains, Irvin Imler and Maynard M. Durfee.

Should Not Feel Discouraged.

So many people troubled with indigestion and constipation have been benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets that no one should feel discouraged who has not given them a trial. They contain no pepsin or other digestive ferments, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

PAY FINE TRIBUTE TO COLONEL FOSTER

City Officials Join to Remind Park Board Head of Birthday.

On bloody battlefield, in political scrap or in civic encounter, Col. David N. Foster, president of the city park board, never has lost his nerve or ducked his head, but he was ready to give up the ghost Saturday afternoon. The park board had just gone into its regular weekly session and President Foster had started business on the usual order, when Mayor W. J. Hosey led an invasion of the park offices, with City Attorney Guy Colerick, Board of Works Members Robert E. Kelly, Frank E. Singrey, and Henry Hilgeman, City Comntroller W. C. Baade, and Councilmen William A. Bayer, Jacob Hartman, G. A. Rogge and A. H. Keller in close formation just behind the chief. It then transpired that Saturday, April 24, 1841, had witnesses the ushering into this more or less vale of tears of a young Foster whose parents had christened him David and that the mayor and other officials had come to join with Colonel Foster's colleagues of the park board in congratulating him on the fact of being quite a lot the youngest man of 74 that ever was, as well as to pay tribute to the value of his public services as park commissioner since the board was created. President Forster was surprised and other things. Prof. Louis Dorn, of the park board, was designated to present resolutions thanking the president for his unselfish, tireless and effectual labors for the public parks of Fort Wayne and he acquitted himself in a poem of fine spirit, literary polish and touching sincerity. A great basket of seventy-four American beauty roses was presented by City Attorney Colerick on behalf of Colonel Foster's board colleagues, who were the donors, and did it in an impressive little address in which due tribute was paid to the value of the board president's public services. Colonel Foster after an effort got the lid on his emotions and made response that was both graceful and gracious, acknowledging the tributes of the poetic resolution offered by Prof. Dorn and the address of Mr. Colerick. Following the meeting there was a dinner at the Anthony hotel for which Member Abe Ackerman, of the park board, was host. There were present besides the guest of honor and the host. Members Louis Fox and Prof. Louis Dorn, of the park board, Mayor Hosey, President William A. Bayer, of the city council, City Attorney Guy Colerick and Secretary Charles J. Steiss, of the park board.

Prof Dorn's poetic tribute was his own happy thought when requested by Messrs. Fox and Ackerman to prepare suitable resolutions for adoption by the board in appreciation of Colonel Foster's services. This poem was the result:

The ardor of youth, and the wisdom of age,
The heart of a boy and the head of a sage,
A spirit undaunted, enjoying a fight,
A soul full of sweetness that scatters delight:
All these in a single and well balanced mind
United for speech and for action we find.

For such is the man, to whom honor we pay;
We offer best wishes to Foster today,
The chairman who truly, at seventy-four,
Is hopeful and active, and young to the core.
The fountain of youth is discovered at last,
Which many sought vainly in days of the past.

That fountain is nature, its growth and its joys;
The laughter of children, the shouting of boys,
The life in the meadow, the bird in its glee,
The splendor of flowers, the pride of the tree;
Ah, that is a stream which abundantly yields
The freshness of youth in the parks and the fields!

The fountain of youth is that glorious love
Which, never to caste and to section confined,
Embraces the present and future combined.
Which, giving to others, the giver will bless
With life and with power for happy success.

A fountain of youth is the optimist's view,
Who, facing defeat, will of victory dream,
Who smiles at his losses with hope's brightest gleam;
Forgiving opponents, encouraging friends,
You drink of the fountain that sparkles and plays;
The care of the parks and boulevard ways,
The love that makes happy the young and the old,
The faith in success, both aggressive and bold;
'Tis this that insures—and you need never fear!
To you, Colonel Foster, a youthful career.

HARRIS IS A CANDIDATE.

Fort Wayne Man Will Seek Republican Nomination for Attorney General.

Announcement has been made that Attorney Emmet V. Harris, of this city, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for attorney general. Mr. Harris was a candidate before the republican state convention last year and made a splendid showing, only lacking five and a half votes of being nominated.

Mr. Harris has practiced law in Fort Wayne for a number of years and is well known throughout the state. He received his education in the Ohio Northern university and after leaving college was superintendent of the schools of Morgan county, Indiana. He was admitted to the bar in 1889 and the following year located in Fort Wayne. From 1903 to 1905 he served as referee in bankruptcy.

FLYING SQUADRON IS HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Of deep interest to women of church, temperance and civic societies of the city will be the meetings of the Flying Squadron of America on Saturday in the First Presbyterian church when Dr. Carolyn Geisel, of the Battle Creek (Mich.) sanitarium, and a noted woman physician of the country, is to make addresses, according to Mrs. N. W. Bloom, who is in charge of the effort of rallying the women of these societies to the meetings of this organization with speakers of national importance engaged in the nation-wide campaign for a national prohibition amendment.

S. B. Bechtel is chairman of the local executive committee arranging for the meetings and looks forward to capacity audiences to greet the squadron which has now conducted three-day campaigns in over 200 leading cities of the country, making splendid progress in the fight to crystallize public sentiment for national prohibition with its eradication of the liquor traffic from American life.

With Dr. Geisel comes as associate speaker, Dr. Ira Landrith, a well known educator and former moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, while the soloist of this group will be Mr. Frederick Butler, of New York, who was formerly leading basso of the Alice Nielson opera company. Mrs. Butler will be the pianist.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Dr. Geisel later took advanced courses of study at Petrograd, Russia, after which she did much research work at the Pasteur institute in Paris. She also has three American medical diplomas. Some years ago she took up the study of the scientific temperance phase of the liquor traffic, of the effects of alcohol on the human body and in her forthcoming addresses she plans to tell of the ravages of rum on the human system from the viewpoint of the pathologist. Her topic will be, "Alcohol and the Man Himself."

Noted Y. M. C. A. Worker.

Dr. Landrith has for many years been a leader of the International Y. M. C. A., and at the last convention of the organization was made president. He was one of the founders of the Tennessee Anti-Saloon league and has always been a leading official of the organization, being now a member of the executive committee. In association with Dr. Howard B. Grose, he wrote, at the Atlantic City convention, the prohibition campaign slogan of the great Christian Endeavor movement (of which he is one of the international trustees): "A Saloonless Nation by 1920, the 300th Anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims." The slogan, which has since been adopted by almost every temperance organization in the country. He was also general secretary of the Presbyterian Brotherhood before accepting the presidency of Ward-Belmont college at Nashville, Tenn., from which he recently returned.

Frederick Butler, who comes as soloist of this group, is regarded as one of the leaders of his line in this country. After retiring as leading basso of the Alice Nielsen opera company some years ago, he became soloist for Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, world evangelist, and accompanied him on a globe evangelistic tour at the close of which Dr. Chapman declared him "the greatest evangelistic singer in the world."

What Was the Origin and Meaning of Bread?

Bread is baked from many substances, although when we think of bread, we usually think of wheat bread. It is sometimes made from roots, fruits and the bark of trees, but generally only from grains such as wheat, rye, corn, etc. The word bread comes from an old word bray, meaning to pound. This came from the method used in preparing the food. Food which was pounded was said to be brayed and later this spelling was changed to bread. Properly speaking, however, these brayed or ground materials are not really bread in our sense of using the term until they are moistened with water, when it becomes dough. The word dough is an old one meaning to "moisten." This dough was in olden times immediately baked in hot ashes and a hard indigestible lump of bread was the result. Accidentally it was discovered that if the dough was left for a time before baking, allowing it to ferment, it would when mixed with more dough, swell up and become porous. Thus we got our word loaf from an old word lifian, which meant to raise up or to lift up.

When Was Wheat First Used in Making Bread?

It is not clearly known when or by whom wheat was discovered, but it seems to have been known from the earliest times. It is mentioned in the Bible, can be traced to ancient Egypt and there are records showing that the Chinese cultivated wheat as early as 2700 B. C. Today it supplies the principal article for making bread to all the civilized nations of the world.

The origin of the wheat plant is said to have been a kind of grass which is given a Latin name Aegilops ovato by the botanists.

CUBS BREAK EVEN AT EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Ind., April 26.—In the first two games of the series here Fort Wayne broke even with Evansville and incidentally hooked up the first mark in Evansville's lost column. After the locals had battered the Cub pitchers, Long, Green and Donley, all over the lot Saturday, one auburn haired Ainsworth person got into the box Sunday afternoon and with the assistance of Bratchi at the bat pulled over a win for the Cubs.

The Saturday game should not have been dignified by the name of baseball, and the visitors showed to remarkably poor advantage, but they came back Sunday with the baseball stuff big leaguers are made of. The Saturday score:

SEASON OPENS HERE TUESDAY AFTERNOON

The season opens here Tuesday. The Rotary club, the Commercial club, the mayor and the citizen body of Fort Wayne are working hard to make this the biggest and most enthusiastic opening day in the history of the city. With the popping of the lid Tuesday afternoon a hundred automobiles will be in line, and people in general will forget the bad start the Cubs got at Terre Haute and get out and ready to root their hardest.

The city officials, the Commercial club and Rotary club officers and hundreds of fans will be in line to help out the Cubs in opening the home-owned team season. With good weather promised for afternoon and the heat getting up to the baseball mark, Fort Wayne and the Cubs are ready.

ELECTRIC WORKS WINS OPENER

With Bartels, Prince and three or four other of the old timers in their line-up, the Fort Wayne Electric works boys opened the local season Saturday afternoon by taking the Concordia college boys down the line to the tune of three and two. It was one of the most brilliantly played games ever staged on Fort Wayne's amateur lots, and a crowd of five hundred people kept on edge throughout.

Batteries—Case, Grimes and Hines, and Laukenau and Matzdorf.

AMATEURS AND SEMI-PROS.

Alberts Brothers Win.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—In a cleverly played game Sunday afternoon before a big crowd Alberts Brothers' Fort Wayne aggregation copped from Kendallville by a score of 4 and 3. The locals were ahead to the ninth inning, when Rehling pushed a triple into the field and broke things up.

The Printers Lose.

Peru, Ind., April 26.—In a game that had all the earmarks of big league sport, the Fort Wayne Printers lost to Peru in the ninth by a score of 1 and 0, after both sides had been held scoreless and practically hitless until that inning.

Other Games.

The Odd Nine defeated the Rudisill avenue Stars 8 and 7 yesterday, with the playing of Leutwyler featuring the contest.

Eleven and six was the score by which the Lobs defeated the Huffs Sunday. Hass hit hard and featured the game.

The Nationals took the Miamis out for two games at Lawton park Sunday, winning the first 6 and 5 and the second 15 and 4.

RETURN FROM LOUISVILLE.

Messrs. Perrine and Luecke Attend Meeting of Dixie Highway.

Van B. Perrine, president of the Commercial club, and Martin Luecke, president of the Rotary club, have returned from Louisville, Ky., where they attended a meeting of the Dixie Highway commission. Messrs. Perrine and Luecke were delegated to attend the meeting in an effort to induce the promoters to include Fort Wayne on the route of the proposed thoroughfare, thus making this city a junction point with the Lincoln highway running from coast to coast. The Dixie highway is to start in Florida and will end at Chicago. While Messrs. Perrine and Luecke presented the claims of Fort Wayne and were given most cordial treatment and attention, no action was taken by the association.

REVEALS TRICKS OF THE DIAMOND

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

Back of the curve, the slow ball, the knuckle ball, there is all the brains and cunning, the generalship and quick thinking of the game. Occasionally, it is true, there comes some man so endowed physically that for a season or two his speed and curves make him unhittable. But the pitcher who stands among the winners three years in succession has more than that. At the end of three years his speed is less, his arm tires more quickly, his curve does not break as well—yet he is a better pitcher than ever.

Critics refer to it as "brains." Chiefly it is cunning, strategy, a close study of opponents, and an assortment of tricks that rival those of a master of legerdemain.

The abolition of the "emery ball" this year in all circuits is another blow at the pitchers. Someone discovered that by scratching the surface of the ball with emery and gripping fingers or thumb tightly upon the rough spot the ball could be made to "fade" more quickly or to "sail" as a flat stone does when thrown sidearm.

The first record we have of the tricky use of outside agents to cause a ball to perform strange antics in the air was when Tom Bond, pitching for New Bedford, used glycerine and achieved a form of what is now known as the spit ball.

Al Orth, who, according to many old-time players, was the only man to pitch an "up curve," used slippery elm, which he applied to his fingers, and, throwing underhand, caused the ball to seem to curve upward.

Elmer Stricklett discovered the use of the spit ball as it is now known, thrown overhand to cause the sharp down break. Ed Walsh used slippery elm and other substances.

Clark Griffith, now manager of the Washington team, used to knock the dirt from his spikes by striking the ball against his shoe. Grif would strike the ball sharply against his spikes, cut two small abrasions in the hide, grip his fingers into them and pitch his famous slow ball. He learned the trick from Hoss Radbourn.

While trying to "wing" the ball Griffith discovered by accident that on some diamonds the grit from his heel, adhering to the ball, made the sphere act strangely in the air. He was pitching a "nail ball" as long ago as 1896.

Bert Briggs, now dead, used emery powder which he carried in his hip pocket, and his fast ball took the most extraordinary "hops," some of which fooled his catchers.

The custom of sewing bits of sandpaper inside the pitching glove, of wearing them inside the shirt, of having the first baseman or catcher use the emery or sandpaper has been common.

In the old days when the pitchers were permitted to rub the ball in the dirt these things were easy. On the old west side park in Chicago [illegible] feet to one side of the [illegible]

SAYS STALLION HAS NOT PROVED WORTH

A jury in the superior court retired late Monday afternoon to determine whether or not a French draft stallion purchased in 1909 by Herman W. Tapp of William F. Hagan, a Lake township farmer, was worth the $500 that Tapp paid for the animal. The compyaint says that the defendant guarantede the stalion to be a "sure and safe foal-getter and breeder," whereas he proved to be otherwise. Tapp sued for $900.

Jury on Hand; Case Goes Over.

In the suit of Frank J. Burns vs. the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company for damages, a continuance without date was entered in the circuit court Monday after the plaintiff filed an amended complaint. The case was set for trial Monday morning before a jury and the jurors were in court ready to hear the case.

Will Call Claim Docket Tuesday.

Judge Eggeman will call the claim docket in the circuit court Tuesday morning and urges attorneys and all others interested to be present to take care of their interests.

Woman Sues for $7,500.

Alleging that the city of Fort Wayne and August Hench are jointly responsible by reason of their carelessness and negligance for the icy condition of a sidewalk in the front of Hench's property, 3311 Hanna street, where she fell and fractured her right wrist and sustained other injuries, Mrs. Anna L. Kiel and her husband, Fred W. Keil, have sued the municipality and Hench for $7,500. The suit is brought in the superior court. It is alleged that a drain constructed by Hench caused water to flow upon the sidewalk and freeze, a condition the city permitted to remain. The mishap occurred December 30, 1914.

Notes of the Courts.

The circuit court has granted a divorce to Cinderella Lauer from Paul J. Lauer, given her the custody of a child and $4 a week for its support. Change of venue was taken from Judge Eggeman and Hon. Carl Yaple, of the superior court, was appointed special judge to hear the case.

In the suit of Edward C. Pelz vs. Andrew M. Wallace, the circuit court has awarded the plaintiff the sum of $20 in damages and possession of certain real estate as asked.

Michael J. Carroll has begun action against Karol Naff and Howell and William Rockhill in the superior court to foreclose a mechanic's lien, demanding $50.

James C. Grames, whose wife Samantha May Grames, is suing him for divorce, has been cited to appear in the superior court April 28 to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in flouting the court's order to make payments.

The plaintiff in the suit of Gertrude Reed vs. Earl Reed for divorce has waived the appearance of the defendant in the superior court to answer to contempt proceedings for failure to make payments. He was cited to appear the 27th inst.

The suit of Thomas Craig vs. the Indiana Lighting company has been set down for trial in the superior court on June 28.

The last will and testament of the late Charles S. Kiser has been probated in the circuit court. His estate is left to John V. and Julia B. McMillen, after $200 in money shall have been paid to Ellis Kiser.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Edith M. Hixon from Raymond S. Hixon, given her the custody of a minor child and allowed her $10 a month for its support.

Noah Biberstine has brought suit in the superior court against the town of Grabill, demanding judgment of $250 for labor and materials furnished in street improvement work for the town.

Frank C. Hogan, attorney for the estate of the late Earl Duffy, a minor, has petitioned the circuit court for permission to make a settlement of a suit against George Trier, proprietor of the Minuet dancing academy, where young Duffy met his death by falling from a doorway on the 8th of November, 1913.

Judge Eggeman, on Saturday, set down for trial twenty-eight criminal cases that are pending in the circuit court. By far the larger part of them are cases appealed from the city court for minor offenses. Of these keeping houses of ill-fame, prostitution and associating with prostitutes constitute the greater number. A number of automobile license cases, also appealed, are among them. Two cases of grand larceny, several of petit larceny and one for attempted criminal assault are set.

LIMA AND GOSHEN ROADS OPEN.

After being closed for quite a period for repairs, the Goshen and Lima roads out of the city to the north and northwest were thrown open Sunday to traffic. The Maysville road has been closed for repairs and the county road superintendent, William Tonkel, announces that if mischievous persons who have been removing the barriers erected to keep traffic off that portion of the highway do not cease their outlaw work, there will be prosecutions. The Goshen and Lima roads are now in fine condition.

RETURNS HOME TO FIND HUSBAND DEAD IN BED

Returning to her home in Plymouth Sunday evening after visiting friends in this city, Mrs. Phillip Conway, formerly of Fort Wayne, found the dead body of her husband in bed, a victim of gas asphyxiation. A leak in a rubber tube which served as a gas connection, explained his death, which is thought to have been accidental.

Mr. Conway lived in Fort Wayne until five years ago, when he moved to Plymouth. While residing here he owned and operated a tailor shop. He was engaged in tailor work in Plymouth and was last seen alive Saturday evening before going home. He was well known in Fort Wayne and his many acquaintances will be shocked to hear of his death.

Surviving relatives include the wife, the father, E. D. Conway, of 2409 Smith street, and two sisters, Mrs. George Brown, of Toledo, and Mrs. Clayton E. Barker, of Valparaiso. The father went to Plymouth to bring the remains to this city for burial.

CANADIANS CAPTURED.

More Than 1,000 Taken Captive by Germans Near Ypres.

Berlin, April 26—(By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—In the official statement given out today by the German general army headquarters it was announced that more than 1,000 Canadians had been captured in the fighting around Ypres, Belgium.

The text of the statement follows:

"The Germans hold Lizerne, on the west bank of the canal which the French pretend to have reconquered. Also on the east of the canal the conquered terrain remains in the possession of the Germans. The number of cannon taken by the Germans rose to forty-five, including four English.

"Northwest of Zonnebeke the German attacks continue. More than 1,000 Canadians were taken prisoners. The total number of prisoners rose to 5,000. They include Segnegel negroes, English, Turcos, Hindus, French, Canadians, Zouaves and Algerians.

"In the Champagne region north of Beausejour, two French night attacks were repulsed.

"In the Vosges the Germans took back Hartman's Wellerkopf. In this engagement eleven officers and 740 French soldiers were made prisoners and six mine throwers and four machine guns captured."

PLAN A PAVEMENT FORT WAYNE TRACE

Mayor and Board Believe Highway Should Be Improved This Year.

Mayor Hosey and the board of works now have under consideration a project for improving Wayne trace from New Haven avenue to Felician street, now the city limits on the old trace and plans for the work may be developed at an early day. Wayne trace was paved with brick from Anthony boulevard to its junction with New Haven avenue last year and it is hoped to complete the thoroughfare this year. The mayor and board believe that it will make a highly satisfactory improvement to pave it to a width of eighteen feet with a concrete pavement of the type put down on the Lincoln highway from the city limits to New Haven. With County Commissioners Butt, Schwier and Black and engineers of the Pennsylvania railroad, the mayor, Board of Works Members Kelly, Singrey and Hilgeman, paid a visit to the scene of operations where the Pennsylvania is separating its grade from the highway at Wayne trace and also examined the plans for the subway, which they found satisfactory. The work has been ordered by the Indiana public service commission. The city disannexed a small area of territory in order that the whole work might be carried on under the auspices of the county. When the subway is completed Wayne trace will become more than ever an important artery into and out of the city. The county commissioners now have on file a petition to improve the highway from the city limits out. The unpaved portion within the city is more than 3,000 feet long and the Pennsylvania railroad owns a large part of the property fronting upon it.

GOOD WORK FOR PUBLIC HEALTH.

Board of Health Has Eliminated 300 Vaults This Year.

Under the operation of a recent ordinance the health department of Fort Wayne has achieved the elimination of something like 300 vaults and caused the installation of household toilets with sewer connections. In a majority of cases the abolished vaults never had been connected with sewers although such connections were possible. The vaults in most cases have been filled up and these breeding places of flies and hatching places of disease are wiped out. Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary of the board of health, believes this work to be one of the most important labors of his department for conservation of health and life, and the campaign against vaults will go on. Many vaults that were situated nearer dwellings than is permitted by the ordinances have been moved back, but wherever it has been possible to abolish vaults that has been done.

BASS FOR LAKESIDE LAGOONS.

Through the efforts of Councilman Jacob Agne, of the First ward, arrangements have been made with Captain Rodney D. Fleming, of the Indiana fish and game department, to stock the lagoons and lake in Lakeside park with young bass. Previous efforts to do this have failed because the lagoons would not hold water. The plans of the park board to convey water from the St. Joe river to the lagoons and lake will make the stocking with fish practicable.

OPENING OF CITY PARKS.

Water will be turned on at the comfort stations and into the fountains of the city parks this week and those pleasure places may be regarded as formally open. The rule that parks will be open until 10:30 at night will prevail. Watchmen will go on duty at 10:30 in the morning.

PAY TRIBUTE TO NELSON'S MEMORY

Kansas City, Mo., April 26.—A memorial service to the late William R. Nelson, founder of the Kansas City Star, brought an overflowing audience to a local theater yesterday. Letters were read from President Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt. Former Congressman Victor Murdock, Frank P. Walsh and other speakers paid tributes to the memory of the publisher who died April 13.

In his letter President Wilson said: "I cannot deny myself the pleasure of sending a word of appreciation of Colonel Nelson's sterling qualities and distinguished work as an editor. He has left a deep abiding mark on the annals of his profession."

Mr. Roosevelt wrote: "There was no more useful nor patriotic citizen in the United States; no man better exemplified how to be the highest kind of public servant, though in private life. I mourn him as a friend. I mourn him still more deeply as an American citizen."

SECEDERS FORM NEW UNION.

Iron, Tin and Steel Workers Organise at Martins Ferry, O.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 26.—Several hundred seceding members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers met yesterday at Martins Ferry, Ohio, and perfected the organization of the United Iron, Steel and Tinworkers of America. National officers were elected and plans for the organization of locals in Martins Ferry, Wheeling, W. Va., Steubenville, O., Granite City, Ill., and Elwood, Ind., completed. Representatives for several eastern steel mills attended the meeting and it was announced by leaders of the new movement that they will attempt to unionize the steel workers of the country.

FIFTEEN TAKE EXAMINATIONS.

Civil Service Tests for Federal Jobs Held Monday.

Fifteen applicants took civil service examinations conducted Monday in the court room of the federal building under the direct supervision of E. L. Earhardt, secretary of the sixth civil service district, with headquarters in Cincinnati.

Two took the examination for stenographer and typewriter, ten for departmental clerk, two for penitentiary guard and one for a sub-clerical position. The number was much larger than usual.

HOLD A DOLL CONTEST.

"Rose Marie" Will Be Given Away at the Bazaar at Library Hall.

With opening of the bazaar at the Library hall under the auspices of the St. Joseph's Catholic Italian church Monday evening also opens the doll contest. The name of the beautiful and costly doll is "Marie Rose," and those who have entered are: Alma Bennigin, of the Cathedral; Elanore Ankenbruck and Marie Noll, of St. Mary's; Dorothy Gunkel, of St. Paul's; Teresa Leonard and Beatrice Jaeger, of St. Peter's; Irene Loney and Helen Kelly, of St. Patrick's, and Nellie Jammairno, of St. Joseph's.

The doll has been donated by the L. C. B. A. of St. Patrick's church. The contest closes Friday evening at 10 o clock.

A small change has been made in the program to be rendered at the opening evening. Miss Schanz will sing in the "Card Trio" in the place of Mrs. E. H. Kirkland, who has kindly consented to the change. Much interest centers around the orchestra which will make its first appearance. The musicians number fifteen and are under the able leadership of Rev. Anthony Petrilli, pastor of St. Joseph's church.

Training School Meets Monday.

The Fort Wayne Training school for Sunday school and church workers will hold its sixth session at the Plymouth Congregational church this evening. The interest in this school is being splendidly maintained. Dr. Chas. Manchester will lecture upon "Psalmody," at 7:45. The sectional work is proving very practical. These conferences serve as clearing houses into which the problems of the local schools are brought for general discussion. In the secondary division, Rev. Mahlon C. Tunison will lecture upon "The Special Characteristics of the Teen Age Girl." In the adult division, Rev. H. B. Masters will treat of social service through the Adult Bible class. Rev. O. E. Tomes will continue the study of the organization of the bible school before the class of officers. Rev. Arthur J. Folsom is proving himself an interesting teacher before his class in "The Challenge of the City."

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS IN CAB

S. D. Crist Becomes Helpless While at Throttle of Engine.

While at the throttle of the engine bringing the Pennsylvania local freight train from Lima, Ohio, Saturday afternoon, Engineer Samuel D. Crist was stricken with paralysis as the train neared Monroeville. He was removed from the cab at that place and brought to the city on a passenger train, and taken in charge by the company's surgeon. Engineer Crist had been in excellent health and the attack came as a surprise to himself and members of his family. It is believed that the attack will be lasting or very serious. Mr. Crist is about fifty years old and has worked for the company, in the capacity of fireman and later as engineer, for a quarter of a century. He resides at 2827 Janes street.

DISPENSARY TO BE RE-OPENED.

Mrs. Mary Young Will Assume Charge May 1.

Mrs. Mary Young, a trained nurse who has been practicing in Fort Wayne for nearly three years, will assume charge of the dispensary at the General Electric Lamp works next Saturday, May 1. This dispensary was closed last fall, when a reduction in the operating force of the lamp works was made, but improving business and the re-employment of a number of the women makes it necessary to re-open it. There will be about 225 female employes at the lamp works next month. Mrs. Young is a graduate from a Milwaukee hospital and trained nurse school and she followed her calling in that city several years before coming to Fort Wayne.

MANY AT ROME CITY.

Over 150 Cottagers and Fishermen There Over Sunday.

Over 150 people, chiefly cottagers and fishermen, were brought down from Rome City on G. R. and I. train No. 6 last night. Most of these people went to the lake Saturday or the preceding day, only thirty-six going there on train No. 11, which leaves Fort Wayne at 7 o'clock in the morning. Among the fishermen were Machinist Owen Farnan and Blacksmith Edward Feaser, who went up Saturday. These two caught twenty-three bass Saturday, all good sized making one of the finest strings seen at the lake this year. Five of these bass weighed over four pounds each and one weighed five and a quarter pounds. The boys preserved the head of the latter fish and will have it mounted.

SCHOOL FOR ORPHAN GIRLS.

"Information," the booklet issued by the Pennsylvania railroad for the benefit of its employes and the public, last week devoted its entire pages to a description of the John Edgar Thomson school for the daughters of deceased railroad men, which is located in Philadelphia. The school was established in 1882 and the first year had only three pupils; at present it has thirty-four, all girls, who are educated up to the eighth grade of grammar schools. "Information" says the school is the culmination of a "long cherished plan of Mr. Thomson. It was his wish to devote his personal fortune to some end helpful to those dependent upon the calling in which he spent the greater part of his own busy life."

M. R. HARDENDORF INJURED.

The Decatur, (Ill.) papers publish an account of a serious accident to M. R. Hardendorf, a blacksmith in the Wabash shops in that city. He was struck in the side by a piece of iron thrown out by the steam hammer he was operating and received internal injuries. Mr. Hardendorf is a former Fort Wayne man. For a number of years he was employed in the Pennsylvania shops, resigning to take employment at the Wabash shops and going with others to Decatur when the new shops at that place were opened to business.

DEUTSCHMANN TO BE DELEGATE.

Barney Deutschmann, foreman of the finishing department of the Van Arnam factory, has been elected the representative of local branch, No. 61, of the Workmen's Sick and Death Benefit association at the national convention of the order to be held in New York next month. Mr. Deutschmann has been president of the local branch for twenty-one years. He resides at 1159 Organ avenue.

ELECTRIC FLIEGEN.

Henry Stahlhut, foreman of the mechanical maintenance department, has about completed the formation of a baseball team which he will call "The Electric Fliegen." There are many amateur ball players in the mechanical department of the Fort Wayne Electric works and Captain Stahlhut expects to have a strong team.

HAD OLD TIME BIKE TRIP.

Carl Bartles, of the Fort Wayne Electric works; Edwin Sherer, Robert Baade, Roland Leidolf and John Bitsinger, of the Fort Wayne Drug store, and Walter Fuchshuber, clerk in the Bass foundry office, composed a bicycle party which took an all day spin yesterday, visiting Auburn and Garrett.

WILL LEAVE HOSPITAL TOMORROW

William J. Neizer, the Pennsylvania tinner, who was stricken with paralysis while at work at his bench three months ago, is improving rapidly and will leave the St. Joseph hospital tomorrow.

BRAKEMAN IS INJURED.

Pennsylvania Brakeman D. F. Burman, stepped upon a piece of stone at W. S. tour yesterday and severely sprained one of his ankles. He was attended by the company's Crestline surgeon and came home on a passenger train.

Last Saturday C. F. Daoust, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, went to Toledo to spend a week with friends.

C. H. Ludwig, a clerk at the N. Y. C. freight offices, spent Sunday with his parents at Auburn.

J. H. Kamm, a tinner, and J. H. Waldman, a pipefitter, at the Pennsylvania shops, are sick and off duty.

Mrs. G. E. Campbell, whose husband is the N. Y. C. cashier at Fort Wayne, was the guest of relatives at Valparaiso over Sunday.

Machinist W. J. McCarthy, of the Wabash shops, has gone to Adrian, Mich., to repair the company's coal docks.

Pennsylvania Machinist G. W. Barbler and his wife and son are preparing for a visit with friends in Madison, Ind.

Miss Mabel Ryan, of Pittsburg, daughter of a B. & O. engineer who formerly resided in Fort Wayne, is visiting relatives in the city.

A son has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hughes. This is the first child in the family. Mr. Hughes is employed in the Pennsylvania flue shop.

E. O. Wagner, commercial agent of the G. R. & I., and his family were guests of friends in Lagrange over Sunday. They made the trip in an automobile.

H. F. Moran, president of the Fort Wayne [illegible] central fire engine house. While there he also obtained contracts for two small jobs.

Ed Hergenrather, clerk in the road foreman of engines office at the G. R. & I., who has been unable to work for two or three days, is suffering severely from rheumatism.

Operator A. C. Houghtby, of the New York Central railroad, spent yesterday with his parents at Jackson, Mich. Operator C. A. Ridgeway also was in Jackson yesterday.

J. C. M. Baker, ticket receiver for the Pennsylvania railroad, who has spent a two weeks' vacation at his country home southeast of the city, will resume work tomorrow.

Machinist Earle Thomson, of the Delray shops of the Wabash, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thomson, for a few days and will return to his home tonight.

Capt. H. C. Stoll, of the Pennsylvania, was called to Toledo Saturday night on business for the police department. He took advantage of the opportunity to visit a friend in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Madden, the former of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, went to Plymouth this morning, upon receipt of news of the death of the mother of Mrs. Madden, which occurred yesterday.

Julius F. Doriot, who had a foot hurt some days ago, and J. J. Vodde, who had some fingers badly cut two weeks ago, resumed work at the Pennsylvania round house this morning.

The breaking down of their furnace has temporarily put Hammersmith Samuel Dunbar and Heater L. P. Spanley, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, temporarily on the off duty list.

George Swartz, William Lang and Myron Johnson, of the Wabash shops, were at Clear Lake yesterday to arrange for the erection of cottages on lots they purchased last fall.

LEGAL ADVICE COST HIM $20 AND SOME

John Dunlap Acted on the Opinion and is Fined in City Court.

It was stated by John R. Dunlap what the legal advice he procured from a Garrett lawyer and notary as to the Indiana automobile license law cost him, but in the Fort Wayne city court it put a $20 crimp in his bank roll. Dunlap bought a Ford car of an Auburn dealer and wanted to drive it home to Fort Wayne. The dealer did not supply him with dealers' or factory license tags, telling him to go to a notary and make affidavit that he had applied for license. This Dunlap did in Garrett. He got not only an affidavit, but the written opinion of his counselor on the Indiana law. Thus doubly armed Dunlap drove his automobile through the down town streets of Fort Wayne with feeling of ample security. Officer Adkins lamped the untagged car and sent Dunlap to headquarters. He was fined $10 and costs by Judge Kerr Monday morning and was advised to try to recover from the agent who sent him forth fenceless.

Young Highwayman Pleads Guilty.

George Soliday, one of the three youths who held up an East Lewis street car at the city limits the night of April 8 and robbed Conductor C. H. Ettor of $6 cash and a watch, pleaded guilty in the city court Monday morning to a charge of highway robbery and was bound over to the circuit court. He was unable to furnish bond for $1,500 and went to jail to await arraignment in the higher court. Young Soliday, with the characteristic egotism of a criminal, seemed proud of his plight and smiled and grinned at admiring and envious youths in the court room lobby as he was arraigned before Judge Kerr. Soliday confessed to Chief of Police Lenz Sunday that he had participated in the car holdup, but gave no information that will help the police to capture the other bandits who, armed with guns, assisted in the east end job. He said that the weapons with which they were armed the night of the stick-up were procured by burglarizing the store of the Summit City Machine company, 618 Clinton street. Soliday entered the place while his companions stood guard and stole four revolvers. Soliday is a dangerous youth and is fully bent to a criminal career. He, with three other youths, were arrested some months ago for burglarizing the Geoglein hardware store on Columbia street. Soliday got off with a suspended sentence and leniency was shown the other lads because of the good families to which they belonged. Soliday was arrested by Detective Sergeants Spillner and Junk for the street car hold-up.

Other City Court Cases.

George Swain was fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct and his brother, Howard Swain, was continued indefinitely on a similar charge. George was drunk and Howard tried to get him to go home when Officer Wilmoth was giving him good advice. There was considerable noise and swearing—George's directed at the officer and Howard's aimed at his brother.

Charles Schaunecker, for driving a car without license tags, was fined $10 and costs and paid it.

William Shields was fined $5 and costs for drunkenness, forfeiting cash bond he had deposited.

Paul McBride, drunk, was fined $25 and costs and went to jail.

CHIEF WARNS PEDESTRIANS.

Chief of Police Lenz has issued a warning to pedestrians who are persistent in walking in the roadway of the Lincoln highway and off the sidewalks in city streets. Numerous complaints reach the police of minor accidents and narrow escapes incurred by pedestrians who obstinately use the roadways intended for vehicular traffic for footpaths. The chief, therefore warns careless pedestrians and all others to keep on the sidewalks in the city and to right side of the road on the Lincoln highway. The chief says he does not seek to minimize the responsibility of careless and reckless automobile drivers, but that he does know great risks are incurred by careless pedestrians.

BEN STREIFLING IN TROUBLE.

Ben Streifling, formerly a detective in the employ of the city, has been found guilty in Toledo of contempt of court along with George W. Simmons, a real estate dealer. Streifling has been conducting a private detective agency in Toledo for several years. He and Simmons are accused by C. A. Schmetteau, an attorney, of having offered to "fix" a jury in a damage suit against the Clover Leaf railroad so that a verdict for not more than $800 would be returned. The jury did bring in a verdict against the railroad, but it was for $15,000. Lawyer Schmetteau laid the proposal before Judges Manton, Johnson and Brough, in Toledo, and they counseled him to proceed with the negotiations to a point where Streifling and Simmons could be entrapped and this, it appears, was done. Streifling is a Roumanian Jew and was born in Bucharest. He was in much trouble here, but always escaped penalty.

OFFICER AIDS AGED MAN.

James H. Bader, aged 75, who says he was once a wealthy man in Jackson, Mich., was found at the interurban station Sunday by Officer Falber, to whom Bader stated he was trying to get to Huntington to a son's shelter, but had lost $20, all the money he had, on a car. He inquired the way to Huntington, intending to walk. Officer Falber, [illegible]

Ford

This is the most Important Advertisement I Ever Caused to Be Published. Read Every Word,—and then Marvel!

On a personal visit to Mr. Henry Ford I broached the subject of a possible August 1st Rebate.

The Ford Company announced last year—as you well remember—that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, each purchaser during that period would receive back a refund of $40.00 to $60.00.

"Mr. Ford," I suggested, "Is there anything I can say to our people with regard to the Ford Motor Company's 300,000 car rebate plan?"

"We shall sell the 300,000," was the quiet reply—"and in 11 months, a full month ahead of August 1st!"

"Then a refund is practically assured?"

"Yes—Barring the totally unexpected. We are 50,000 to 75,000 cars behind orders today. Factory and branches are sending out 1,500 daily."

I then said to Mr. Ford: "If I could make a definite refund statement we would increase our local sales 500 cars."

"You may say," was Mr. Ford's deliberate and significant reply to this—"You may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford car between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, barring the unforeseen, the sum of $60. You may say that I authorize you to make this statement!"

What can I add to the above? $18,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners! And to prospective Ford owners up to August 1, 1915, it actually makes Ford Touring Cars for $360 and the 1915 model Ford Roadster for $345—less the free amount. What is there you can say? Perhaps you can [illegible]

FURNITURE OF QUALITY for Complete Home Outfits

The true test of saving is not so much in the price you pay as in the quality and service you get in the homefurnishings which your money pays for. Cheap, shoddy, poorly constructed of poor material furniture and furnishings will have to be replaced in a very short time. In fact well within the time that good articles bought in the first place would last. In your search for first class qualities at prices consistent with the wear and beauty you expect, you must come to Fox Bros. and Company. This is the Homefurnishing Institution that Quality Built. It's the foundation upon which our reputation and enormous buying and selling power is built. We urge all prospective homefurnishers, whether Newlyweds just starting or builders equipping a new home; or houseeleaners renewing the attractiveness, convenience and comfort; to come in and see our line, learn our prices and consult our master homemakers.

Quality is Economy

To those deserving deferred payments we will extend the convenience of our payment plan. In buying this way it is always to the interest of the customer to buy all that he can in the same store in order to keep his entire bill in the same place. We are able, through the completeness of this Homefurnishing Department Store, to furnish every article which it takes to make up a home. Furniture, carpets, rugs, curtains, draperies, wallpaper, stoves, both heating and cooking; refrigerators, kitchen utensils and household utilities of all kinds, porch furniture, lawn furniture, china, crockery, glassware, etc., etc. Everything for the home in the quality you want at the prices you want to pay. A man and his wife may come into our store, be waited upon by a courteous and able home furnishing expert and after spending a couple of hours have selected everything for any home of any size and degree of attractiveness, convenience and comfort. Try it and see.

Every Thing for Every Home

Nobody will deny that we have the most extensive homefurnishing institution in this city. Quantity buyers always get the advantage of the lowest wholesale prices. This is passed along to our customers in low prices on the very articles that would cost more elsewhere. In buying a Complete Home Outfit, the savings on each article when added into a sum total, makes a very healthy saving well worth taking into consideration. It is our earnest desire to help those Homefurnishers to whom saving is an all important item. We are glad if you will call and give us an opportunity to make good. We have done so for thousands and want to do the same for you.

WIDOW AND CHILD TO DEFEND RIGHTS

Fight Over $16,000,000 Estate at St. Louis is Unabated.

St. Louis, April 26.—When the trial to determine the validity of the will of James Campbell, traction magnate, which disposed of an estate valued at $16,000,000, was resumed in the circuit court here today, it was expected that Mrs. James M. Campbell, the widow, and Mrs. Lois Campbell Burkham, referred to in the will as Mr. Campbell's daughter, would take the witness stand to defend their right to the entire estate throughout their lives and unmaturity of any heir Mrs. Burkham may leave.

St. Louis university, sole beneficiary of the estate, after the death of Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Burkham and the latter's heirs, also was represented in the court room.

The will is being contested by a sister and several nephews and nieces of Mr. Campbell. The contestants claim that Mrs. Burkham is not the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, but that her mother was a Mrs. Elizabeth Hicks, of Texas, who, according to the contestants' testimony, is now an English duchess.

It was evident that both sides would use pictures, the defense to show the resemblance between Mrs. Burkham and Mrs. Campbell and the contestants to show a likeness between Mrs. Burkham and the thus far unnamed English duchess, the former Mrs. Hicks.

The Ladies' auxiliary to the Letter Carirers' association will give a pedro party Tuesday afternoon in Harmony hall.

GERMAN PRICE FOR TRUCE STIFF ONE

Washingtn, D. C., April 26.—"No truce till you agree to pay for the evacuation of Belgium."

This is the reply Germany gave to a recent proposal of a truce for peace discussions which Great Britain and France submitted in the conferences at Rome last week, according to information obtained today from the foreign diplomatic source.

It is asserted that there was an extended discussion of the German attitude by Prince von Buelow and the intermediaries in which the kaiser's ambassador was drawn into a statement of the price of the evacuation of Belgium which his government would be willing to consider. Prince von Buelow is quoted as having stated that there are several conditions of the evacuation of Belgium to which the allies must agree before Germany would be willing to assent to a truce for the further discussion of peace terms. These conditions in substance were:

Restoration to Germany of such of its colonies as have been seized by the allies.

Cession to Germany of the Belgian Congo or of equally desirable British or French territory in Africa.

Neutralization of the Belgian coast.

May Continue Negotiations.

According to the account derived from German sources the intermediaries who were endeavoring to bring about a truce for the purpose of peace parleying carried Prince von Buelow's conditions back to the British and French ambassadors and the action of the allies upon the terms has not been made known.

It is intimated that the negotiations for a truce may be resumed if the representatives of the allies in Rome are authorized by their governments, after consideration of the German conditions, to continue the discussion with Prince von Buelow.

British officials emphatically deny the truth of this account of what took place in Rome last week. They deny that the allies approached Prince von Buelow with any proposal of a truce and they deny with unusual fervor that Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, was in Rome for any purpose.

MUST GO SOME TO BEAT FORT WAYNE

Dr. Lyon Urges Terre Haute to Keep Ahead of This City.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 26.—In his sermon here Saturday night, Dr. Milford H. Lyon declared he is not going to close the saloons of Terre Haute, but that the people of Terre Haute were going to close them. He urged the people of this city to keep ahead of Fort Wayne, but said that in order to do this they must "hustle."

The evangelist placed the blame for the downfall of many women on the dance hall and advocated a single standard of morality for son and daughter, man and wife.

Speaking of the opposition he said has been aroused by his meeting, he said there were many people in this city who were opposed to revival meetings for the reason that they feared that their rascality would be exposed before the meetings were over. He declared his meetings were opposed for the reason that "When Christian people get awake and start revivals the devil gets awake and starts revivals, too."

Petersburg, Ind., April 26.—Jacob Bowers, 103 years old, died at his home near here yesterday. He was a recluse.

GERMAN WARSHIPS ON WAY TO HIT CANADA?

Portland, Ore., April 26.—Headed for the Atlantic coast of Canada is a German squadron bent on bombarding important cities and fortifications there according to a letter received today by Captain Carl Brauch, master of the German bark Dalbek, interned here since July 23, from a friend who is a deck officer of the German navy.

"Eight days before the German fleet bombarded Scarborough, Hartlepool and other ports, I received a letter from the same friend, telling me that the German fleet would strike for the British coast and I thought that statement was laughable," said Captain Brauch. "Since it came to pass, I am convinced that the move of the squadron to the Canadian coast may not be a myth."

PEACE DELEGATES MAROONED.

Noordam is Refused Permission to Proceed to Rotterdam.

London, April 26.—The steamer Noordam, with forty American women delegates to The Hague peace congress among its passengers, is anchored in the Downs, unable to obtain permission to proceed up the channel to Rotterdam. Jane Addams has sent an appeal to United States Ambassador Page urging him to enlist the aid of the American government to secure the release of the marooned delegates and enable them to arrive at The Hague in time for the conference, which opens Wednesday.

BOYS ATTACK MOVIE PICTURE SHOW HOUSE

Louisville, Ky., April 26.—A band of boys ranging in age from fourteen to twenty years created a reign of terror in the central section of the city last night when they made an attack upon attaches of a moving picture show.

Revolvers were brought into play and about a dozen shots were fired at their pursuers by the boys, who had been routed. The chase led for several blocks through the most crowded section of the city and there was a general rush for shelter when the shooting began. Leroy Nichols, 15, was shot through the knee with his own revolver during a struggle with an usher at the theater for its possession. Nichols and one other lad were arrested.

WILL CELEBRATE MUSTER DAY.

Special Exercises to Be Held Monday Evening by Spanish War Vets.

Special exercises will be held Monday evening, by members of Henry W. Lawton camp, No. 35, U. S. W. V., in celebration of the seventeenth anniversary of the calling out of the troops for the Spanish-American war by President William McKinley. Several new recruits will be mustered in, which will be followed by a banquet at the restaurant of Comrade Billy Richards, on Calhoun street. Music will be furnished by the Lawton camp string orchestra and the Emerson male quartet. Commander John G. B. Jones will preside as toastmaster.

MEXICAN SOLDIERS WILL ALL BE BARRED

El Paso, April 26.—American military authorities along the entire Mexican border have received orders to prevent the entry into the United States of persons known to be soldiers of any Mexican faction it was learned here today.

It is said this order grew out of conditions caused by recent border fighting opposite Naco, Arizona, and Brownsville, Texas. Heretofore officers of the Carranza and Villa armies have been permitted without restraint to visit American border towns.

Several Mexicans held at the expense of the United States government are at variance with both of the Mexican factions controlling border and coast points. Their deportation, it is believed by officials would be equivalent to their death sentence.

CHILD ON WITNESS STAND.

Long Cross-Examination in Sebastian Case at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, April 26.—When court opened today Edith Serkin, 10 years old, half sister of Mrs. Lillie Pratt, resumed the witness stand for further cross examination by counsel for Mrs. Pratt and Charles E. Sebastian, suspended chief of police, who are charged with having contributed to the girl's delinquency. It was expected the entire day would be occupied with the examination of the young witness.

The New Method Gas Range Is The World's Best

You Can Wash the Burners Right With Your Dishes

They Are All Steel Enameled Inside and Out

Could You Wish for Greater Sanitation?

This will come as a surprise to many familiar with the old style heavy cast iron burners, rough and rusty.

Enameled steel burners are not the only sanitary features about the New Method. The entire Range is of jet black enameling, except where nickeled, while in some styles where desired, the

Range Backs are of Snow-White Enamel

And all you have to do to remove the grease is to apply a damp cloth. This enameling is baked on to stay and to retain its original brilliancy.

Let Us Demonstrate

The accuracy with which you can bake with a New Method Gas Range. How almost impossible it is to burn anything because of the scientific distribution of heat. Study the illustration. See how the flame travels along the bottom flame plate. It does not touch the bottom. The heat travels up the sides and down on whatever you are baking. (Follow the arrows). The same flame used in baking is used in broiling. The flames travel in solid sheets insuring Broiling and Toasting (without changing) alike at all points. Almost impossible to burn the oven out.

Your New Method Gas Range will not only be the most sanitary, the most economical, the most efficient, the most durable, but

It Will be Absolutely Impossible For You to Explode Your New Method Gas Range

The New Method has no pilot light. It needs no safety catches that sometimes get caught. You can turn on the oven burners and not touch a match to them for ten or fifteen minutes, and there will not be the slightest disturbance.

Keep the Slogan "Safety First" in Mind

There is no way in which you can light a New Method oven without opening the door. The match must be applied directly to the burners themselves, which, together with the flame, are always visible.

White Enamel

The Water Boiling Test never fails to show the superiority of the New Method steel burners over the cast iron burners. Few makers of gas ranges or dealers care to enter their stoves in a comparative water boiling test with the New Method, for invariably water is brought to a boiling point on the New Method in 25% less time than on any other range, and no one knows this better than the trade itself.

We Are Agents For The New Method Gas Range

An Automatic Lighter And Simmerer in One

With the simmering burner you need not move the heavy vessels after their contents comes to boiling point. You simply move the simmering burner underneath the vessel.

With this burner you can also light one burner from the other without matches.

No Escaping Gas From Dangerous Pilot Lighter

There is no dangerous pilot light to be blown out by a gust of wind causing gas to escape and endangering the lives of your children. Nor is your gas meter registering 24 hours in the day from the burning pilot light. With this burner you simply move it to any point of the front top and light one burner from the other.

Guaranteed For Five Years

The only burner manufactured on which this Guarantee will be made to you in print.

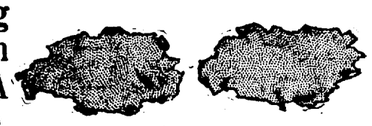
On account of the way it is constructed it will cause a reduction of from 20 to 40 per cent. in Gas Bills over any Cast Iron range burner.

This statement can be verified by testimonials from users.

Being light in weight and coated inside and out with Vitreous Enamel, it is easily taken out and washed the same as any enameled kitchen utensil without fear of rust.

Will Your Gas Range Stand This Test?

Place some pieces of wrapping paper on the shelves in your oven and see if they brown evenly. A good oven will bake them all alike.



The New Method Oven Browns Evenly on Both Sides

You will find upon removing the pieces of wrapping paper from a New Method oven that both the upper and under sides have been browned evenly, proving the absolute uniform distribution of heat. And it doesn't matter where the pieces of paper are placed.

AT THE NEW PALACE

COOLEST SPOT IN TOWN.

New Palace is Refreshingly Inviting These Hot Days.

Refreshingly inviting these hot days, the New Palace is the place to go to escape from the unwonted heat. The great theater is equipped with the most modern and complete ventilating system known to building practice, and the temperature never rises above seventy and may be lowered to sixty-five if there were any occasion for it. This is accomplished by driving water cooled air into the building and drawing it out again rapidly enough to change the entire supply every few minutes, thus making the Keith house the coolest spot in town. The bill is the only sizzling thing connected with the institution, but it is a hummer from beginning to end.

Morris Cronin and his Merry Men, will present the splendid novelty that proved the season's sensation at the Palace in New York and which last week was the headline attraction on the Grand's program at Pittsburg. Emmet Devoy's reputation as an actor is established both in vaudeville and on the legitimate stage, but he never has done anything quite so good as his skit "His Wife's Mother," in which he departs from the villification of the mother-in-law and instead of poking fun at her, eulogizes her in a comedy of gem. He is assisted by Ann Pittfield and company.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

RUSTIN FARNUM.

Popular Romantic Idol at Jefferson in "Captain Courtesy."

"Captain Courtesy" is a thrilling drama starring Dustin Farnum in the title role, that of a bandit who roams throughout the mountains of California, striking terror into the hearts of the Mexicans, who years before had murdered his father and mother during an expedition into American territory. The plot is laid in the early fortics, when California was under Mexican rule and when the missions served alike as school, church and place of refuge.

On the morrow Blanche Sweet, the beautiful young Lasky star, will be seen at the Jefferson in the romantic drama, "The Captive." House Peters plays with Miss Sweet.

AT THE MINUET.

"THE MAN WHO COULD NOT LOSE."

Carlyle Blackwell at Minuet in Picturization of Davis Novel.

This rendition of the popular Richard Harding Davis novel, "The Man Who Could Not Lose," into film form, is easily the most delightful screen subject in which that buoyant young star, Carlyle Blackwell, has yet appeared.

The story tells of a young author, a native of New York city, who is blessed with an uncanny faculty of picking winners in horse races. These names are revealed to him in dreams, and, after betting upon the horse he wins huge sums of money. His consistent winning attract the attention of all New York, and he becomes the cynosure of all eyes, gaining the sobriquet of "The Man Who Could Not Lose."

AT THE COLONIAL

"THE ARRIVAL OF PERPETUA."

Fetching Little Stage Idol, Vivian Martin, at Colonial.

That glorious little idol of the legitimate stage, Vivian Martin, who scored such an unmistakable success with Lew Fields in the great comedy hit, "The High Cost of Living," has resigned from the footlights long enough to play the captivating title role in this daintiest and most charming of all screen romances, "The Arrival of Perpetua."

Tomorrow brings to the Colonial the noted stars of the speaking stage, Thomas Jefferson and Adelaide Thurston, who create the leading roles in a powerful drama of modern times, "The Shadows of a Great City."

FORT WAYNE'S GREATEST BARGAIN STORE.

100 COMPANIES TO MERGE SALES CREWS

Indiana Coal Men Hope to Reduce Selling Cost of Product.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 26.—Representatives of 114 coal mining companies many of them with headquarters in Terre Haute, announced arrangements today for a meeting here Thursday night at which plans will be perfected to merge the sales forces of the mines. The merger will represent $30,000,000 in mining properties in Indiana and will be for the purpose of conservation. A delegation of coal men which recently conferred with Assistant Attorney General C. G. Todd at Washington consisted of Carl Scholz, Chicago; W. S. Bogle, Chicago; John T. Connery, Chicago; Hugh Shirkie, Terre Haute; J. C. Kolsem, Terre Haute, and M. L. Gould, Indianapolis.

MONDAY WARMEST DAY SINCE APRIL, 1899

With the mercury reaching a maximum of 87 degrees at 1 o'clock p. m. Monday was the warmest day since in April, 1899, when the thermometer registered 90 degrees. A slight sprinkle of rain shortly after the noon hour Monday had little effect on the temperature. Unsettled weather with practically no change in the temperature is predicted for Tuesday.

CITY BREVITIES.

School No. 7 in Monroe township will close Thursday for the term.

Joseph Collett, elevator operator at the federal building, is suffering from an acute attack of indigestion.

The Phillippines yearly import 20,000,000 pounds of salt.

Packard

There is a difference between notoriety and reputation. You may have heard more about some pianos than you have about the Packard, but you have not heard anything better about any other piano than you hear about the Packard from those who know it. No piano has a better reputation, because no better piano is made.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 26.—Reports of extreme apprehension in Liverpool regarding continued decrease of stocks had a bullish effect here today on the price of wheat. On the bulge, however, heavy realising by large holders, especially in July, caused a reaction. After opening ¼c to 1¼c higher, prices fell back sharply but later displayed power to rally.

Prospects for larger receipts made the corn market weaken. The opening, which varied from ¼c off to ⅛c up, was followed by a decline all around.

Oats at first seemed inclined to harden with wheat.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, April 26.—Indications of a continuance of stock market activity was seen at the beginning of this week's operations. Specialties were again conspicuous with gains of one to two points in Bethlehem Steel, National Lead, Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin Locomotive, General Motors and Guggenheim exploration, while leaders were fractionally higher. American Can was up almost two points on initial sales of 3,900 shares, and United States Steel rose the smallest fraction on offerings of 5,000 shares but soon lost a full point. Standard railway shares were relatively backward.

Early gains were materially reduced by heavy profit taking, but the setback was of brief duration, renewed buying on a larger scale soon overtaking any reactionary tendency. Higher prices were made before noon. Reading recovering much of its two point loss and other investment issues showing greater strength. Coppers responded to another advance in metal prices. Gains of one to two points

THE WEATHER.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Unsettled tonight and Tuesday, with possibly showers; continued warm.

For Ohio: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

High temperatures for the season prevailed yesterday over the Ohio valley, the lower lake region and the middle Atlantic coast states. Maximum temperatures over these districts yesterday ranged from 82 to 94 degrees. Detroit, Grand Rapids and Scranton reported the highest temperature ever recorded during the month of April. High temperatures continue this morning over the states east of the Rockies.

A low pressure area central over southwestern Nebraska this morning is giving general and quite heavy rains over the plains states from southern Texas northward to central South Dakota. Showers are reported from the upper Mississippi valley, the upper lake region and portions of the uper Ohio valley and north Atlantic coast sections.

In this section conditions favor unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, with possibly showers. The temperature change will be slight.

"Hang Them! They're All Traitors, Bandits and Bloodsuckers!" Declares Gen. Victoriano Huerta

(By Kenneth W. Payne.)

With a snap in his voice and a snap in his eyes, the general hurled it at me as I stood before him in a salon of the luxurious hotel apartment where he is holding court.

"The rope and the scaffold!" he jerked out, standing straight and motionless, his sharp, aggressive eyes staring straight through and beyond me toward that vague audience, the American public, into whose soul he was trying to drive the iron of his "blood and iron" policy.

"Yes, I'd hang 'em, everyone of them! They deserve it in law. These leaders all—Carranza, Villa, Diaz—they want plunder. They want to rule! It's legal even in your country to hang bandits who murder for loot! You hang traitors. These men are traitors—traitors to my poor, bleeding Mexico!"

That is the way Huerta speaks—in short, keen sentences that cut their way straight to the heart of the matter. He is steadfast, grim, unafraid—almost bellicose when he speaks of his "wronged" country—but a polished, courtly gentleman withal in his attitude toward his guest.

His courtesy almost paralyzes the interviewer, at first. We were prepared for gruff hostility. It had taken endless time and pains to get the appointment. Huerta's ubiquitous, wily, nervous agent, interpretor, mentor, protector, secretary and guide—Abraham Z. Ratner—had to be dealt with and pacified. A pass had to be obtained at the hotel office. A page in gold-braided uniform stood guard at the door of the general's palatial suite. The page was appeased, when shown the pass, and opened.

Inside, we waited—Artist Frank Parker and I—many minutes on a gilt settee. Then Ratner ushered us into The Presence.

We must have been a second too soon. For a short man with leathern features, gray mustache, heavy glasses, and clad in a brown smoking jacket and slippers, scuttled swiftly behind the curtains of the breakfast room, disposed of a half-smoked cigaret—and returned.

He drew himself up with unimpeachable military grace—and saluted us! Then with what would have been a half-smile on any other face, his exeuprisings. Each leader has a lust for land and license. The poor Indians are ignorant, and follow. The result is anarchy. Thousands of my people are being murdered. Women are being terribly abused. And all this strike is kept going by a few bloodsuckers, who fatten on the sores of my poor country!

"So, see you, it must be an iron rule—an iron rule by a man with a—a big stick. I'd hang everyone of those fellows! I'd put 'em on the scaffold so quick their followers wouldn't know what had happened. Get 'em out of the way, and peace will come back to my country soon enough!

But first of all must come the man of iron, the leader with the mailed fist, who will put down these endless riots!"

The interviewer spoke of "liberties of the people."

CLING TO FAITH IN ANTIQUE FATALITY

Paris, April 15.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—"Many of us, soldiers and officers," says an officer who has been at the front since the beginning of the war, "have faith in a mysterious power analogous to antique fatality which disposes of our sort. Those that it favors we say are 'in luck.' The greatest imprudence does not affect their invulnerability. Others seem fated to sacrifice; if they escape from a pitched battle, a spent ball or a fragment of shell will get them the following day, miles behind the trenches, while they are in apparent security.

"This instinctive belief brings a certain tranquility, not only to those who think that they are 'in luck,' but to those also who are in doubt whether they possess a lucky star. 'No one escapes his fate,' they say. 'If one is slated for death, what's the good of taking precautions; the bullet that's intended for me will find me.'

"Certain cases seem to bear out this superstition. One of them was related by an officer of the general staff, tall, cool, almost as phlegmatic as an Englishman behind his eye glasses, and so careful to exaggerate nothing that he seems to contemplate the most tragic events with the wrong end of his spyglass.

"'I ought to have been killed a hundred times,' he told me. 'At the moment of the general mobilization I was in the staff of the general of division, to whom I was personally attached after years of very close collaboration; he treated me somewhat as his personal aide-de-camp. I went everywhere with him. A few days after the declaration of war he was informed of the death of his wife, whom I knew he adored. He concealed his pain, but I understood at once that the blow had morally crushed him and that he had made up his mind to get himself killed. He took me with him where the bullets were thickest. The division was on the eastern frontier, and alongside the storms of shrapnel that burst above our heads the German bombardment of today are small incidents. Every other day we went to the first line, and while the men lying round us fired at the Germans, we remained erect to encourage them.

"'One afternoon we had passed four hours under the enemy's shells. From time to time I said to myself, 'In ten minutes or even in five minutes perhaps it'll be my turn.' But we were neither of us touched. Another day, after a very violent engagement in which we had been obliged to give way, one of our batteries remained stuck between the two armies. I proposed to reconnoiter the position to see if it were possible to bring it back. I intended to go alone and to come back quickly. But the general decided to go with me, a major and a private soldier, guarding the battery, firing with all their energy to make the enemy believe that the position was still occupied in force. We succeeded in getting the pieces into shape and dragging them out of danger, but instead of following the direct route toward our lines, the general proposed that we make a little detour, 'in order,' he said, 'that the men may not have the impression that we are retreating.' We followed a route on the side of a hill, which during several hundred yards passed over a space of absolutely uncovered ground between the two firing lines. If I had been alone I should have covered that space at double quick. The general, though, declared that this precipitation would have produced a bad effect upon the troops, so it was at a walk that we crossed this exposed ground offering ourselves as targets to the German infantry.

"The balls whistled around us incessantly—so thickly that the leaves on the trees along the route fell as in an autumn storm. Neither of us received a scratch, neither were our horses touched. I asked the general if he did not think it marvelous that we should have passed unscathed through this storm of bullets. He shook his head sadly and said: 'The bullets don't seem to want me.' As for me, since that trial there is nothing that surprises me, I sincerely believe I'm 'in luck' and am quite sure that the Germans will never get me."

BIGGEST BATTLE OF WAR IS NOW RAGING

Today's War News Given in Summary.

The new German offensive in Belgium, styled by some British commentators the greatest battle of the war, is being pushed on with all the power of the army Germany is reputed to have assembled along this front. The official announcement from Berlin today reports impressive victories, although no admissions to this effect are made at Paris or London.

The German statement makes no specific claims as to further territory conquered but just described attacks in which it is said large numbers of prisoners were taken including 1,000 Canadians. The Belgian statement of yesterday that Lizerne had been recaptured is characterized as untrue. The official Paris statement gives out few details of the fighting in Belgium. It is said German attacks were checked by the British.

The German attack is developing with great force over a large part of the western front. Berlin announces the re-capture of Hartmans-Weilerkopf in the mountains near the eastern end of the lines which the French took recently after several weeks of fighting. In the heights of the Meuse a severe battle has begun.

In the east there was no change so far as the German statement revealed. It is said Russian attacks near the east Prussian border were defeated.

London, April 26.—What some military critics are inclined to pronounce the "greatest battle of the war" is now under way on the Yser canal.

Official reports are both meagre and contradictory, but it is generally believed in London that the Germans again are making desperate efforts to break through to the French channel ports. Some such recrudescence of the German offensive has been anticipated by the war experts but this movement, forestalling the long predicted allied offensive comes as a distinct shock to the general public.

It is impossible as yet to get a clear idea of the extent of the German movement, but some special dispatches to London papers describe it as so important that the Germans are even credited with bringing field Marshal von Hindenburg from the east to conduct the operations, and Emperor William himself is reported as proceeding to the Yser front.

Again in Carpathians.

In the eastern arena of hostilities the Carpathians compete with the Yser for interest. The gateway into Hungary formed by the Uzsok pass again is becoming the scene of sanguinary fighting with neither side making any great gains. Warsaw as a German objective is dimmed by the importance of keeping the Russians out of Hungary, and the Germans are reported as withdrawing their lines from in front of the Polish capital for new concentrations along the fronts of Cracow and in the Carpathians.

Peace Delegate Halted.

The fairway between England and Holland is still being kept clear of commercial shipping with the result that the Steamer Noordam, bearing the women delegates to the peace conference is marooned in the Downs.

Some of the delegates have sent an appeal to Ambassador Page. Answering the appeal of Miss Addams Mr. Page said it would be impossible for the embassy to aid the delegates to reach The Hague. All shipping to Dutch ports had been stopped, he explained, and it was not even possible for the members of the embassy to make the trip.

JUDGE ANDERSON IS ILL AT EVANSVILLE

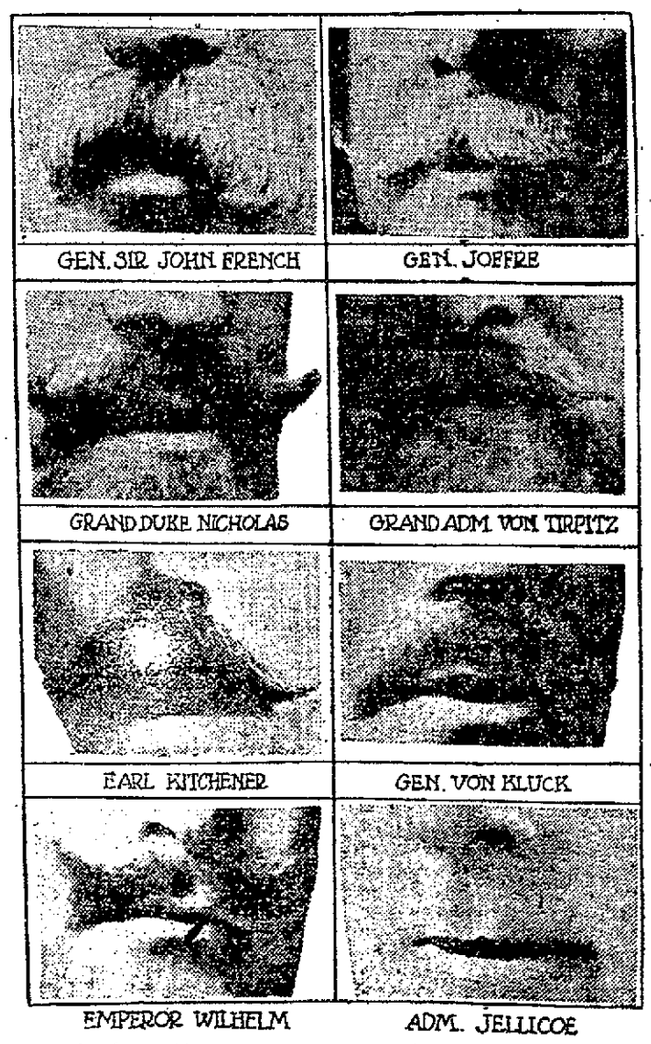
THE LIPS THAT COMMAND.



The lips from which come the commands of eight forceful men in the great war. Sir John French is the field marshal commanding the British land forces; Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief; Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian commander-in-chief; Grand Admiral von Tirwitz, the German naval chief; Earl Kitchener, British secretary of war; Gen von Kluck, German officer in charge of Turkish operations; Emperor William of Germany, the great figure of the war; Admiral Jellicoe, chief of the British fleets.

ALLIES HAVE LANDED ARMY

Big Force of Troops to Back Up Attack on Dardanelles.

WARSHIPS AGAIN BELCHING DEATH

Fleet Renews Attempt to Drive Through Turkish Stronghold.

London, April 26.—4:30 p. m.)—The following official announcement was given out in London today:

"The general attack on the Dardanelles by the fleet and the army was resumed yesterday.

"The disembarkation of the army, covered by the fleet, began before sunrise at various points on the Gallipoli peninsula, and in spite of serious opposition from the enemy in strong entrenchments, protected by barb wire, was completely successful.

"Before night fall large forces were established on shore.

The last concerted effort on the part of the allies against the Turkish fortifications on the Dardanelles straits was over a month ago, March 19 and 20. This action was entirely from the sea, and from the standpoint of the allies it was a failure. A more or less persistent bombardment covering several weeks left the straits still firmly in the hands of the Turks. The allies lost in this fighting, the British battleships Irresistable and Ocean and the French battleship Bouvet. The last five weeks have seen naval activity of only minor importance in the straits. There have been mine sweeping and occasional scouting, but no important endeavor to penetrate this waterway.

FORT WAYNE MEN IN A JAIL DELIVERY

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Bluffton, Ind., April 26.—Grant Cumerford and Clyde Dubois, of Fort Wayne, in jail here awaiting trial for stealing chickens in this county, and Ambers Butler, held on a charge of associating with prostitutes, but under investigation on more serious charges, escaped from the Wells county jail at 2 o'clock this morning.

The three men had help from the outside. A ladder was placed against the outside of the jail wall and the bars of one of the windows were sawed off.

Cumerford and Dubois were captured by the sheriff and an armed posse two weeks ago, when they were detected robbing a poultry house in the country.

LAST MINUTE NEWS

AMERICAN UNDER SENTENCE TO DIE.

Washington, April 26.—Philip E. McCleary, an American newspaper correspondent at Vera Cruz, has been imprisoned and sentenced to be shot by Carranza authorities for having sent out uncensored news dispatches. Secretary Bryan instructed Consul Silliman to make the question up at once with General Carranza.

JOHN BUNNY, MOVIE ACTOR, PASSES AWAY

New York, April 26.—John Bunny, whose antics as a moving picture comedian have made millions laugh, died at his home in Brooklyn today. He had been ill for about three weeks of a complication of diseases. Members of his family were with him when he died. For a week he had apparently been on the mend. A strenuous month of work, it is believed cause the breakdown which resulted in his death.

ARMY BOARD WILL BE HERE TUESDAY

Members of the board of army engineers will not arrive in Fort Wayne until Tuesday, when they will review the report of Captain L. H. Watkins on the proposed Toledo, Fort Wayne and Chicago barge canal connecting Lake Erie with Lake Michigan. The members of the board are Major P. S. Bond, Colonel W. V. Judson and Colonel John Millis. Captain Watkins expects the board to be here for the remainder of the week.

Work on the survey for the proposed canal was started on Dec. 20, 1913, and was completed but a few days ago. According to the report twenty-three locks will have to be constructed in the event the northern route is selected and eighteen locks if the southern route is accepted. The Maumee river will be followed from Toledo to Fort Wayne.

From Columbia street bridge, Fort Wayne, to Michigan the northern route is a total of 133 miles, while the southern route from the same point to Indiana Harbor is 150 miles. Captain Watkins recommends that single locks be used throughout the entire canal.

FIRE ON ROCKHILL STREET.

A call at 9:43 o'clock Monday morning summoned the city fire department to the residence of James E. Clifford, 708 Rockhill street, where sparks from the chimney caused a small blaze on the roof. The damages amounted to $10.

SHOAFF NEXT SPEAKER.

Fred Shoaff will be the principal speaker Tuesday at the noon luncheon of the Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange to be held at the Commercial club. He will take for his subject: "Examining Abstracts."

FATHER DIES IN GERMANY.

John and Fred Weiech, of this city, received word Monday morning that their father, Kurt Weseloh, died at Hanover, Germany, at the age of 58 years. Besides the two sons of this city he is survived by a daughter, Miss Anna Weseloh, of Webster City, Iowa, and four children at home.

REDMAN CASE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Indianapolis, Ind., April 26.—Action for the impeachment of Eli H. Redman, as judge of the Vigo circuit court, was taken under advisement by the state supreme court here today, following a conference between members of the court and Richard M. Milburn, state's attorney general, who filed the petition for impeachment. The proceedings were in chambers and their nature was not made public.

Judge Redman was one of the men convicted with Mayor Donn M. Roberts in the Terre Haute election conspiracy case here in the federal court. He is in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., to which he was sentenced to serve five years by Judge A. B. Anderson. Mr. Milburn filed the proceedings with the state supreme court, asking the removal of Redman last Saturday.

POSTPONES DECISION FOR ANOTHER DAY

As there are a few more points of law which he desires to look into, D. O. McComb, county superintendent, will not give a decision in the famous Washington township school controversy until 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. He was to have given a decision Monday afternoon.

Many questions are involved in the matter and the county superintendent wants to know to a certainty that he is right before rendering his opinion, which will probably determine whether Washington township is to have a school building sufficiently large for the consolidation of a number of other schools in that section of the township.

PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY.

Ira D. Odle, Fort Wayne Merchant, Says He Cannot Pay His Debts.

Scheduling his liabilities at $1,553.58 and assets at $599, Ira D. Odle, a Fort Wayne retail merchant, filed a petition in the federal court Monday afternoon, asking that he be declared a bankrupt. Odle's principal indebtedness is for merchandise, the Fort Wayne Drug company being the largest creditors scheduled.

EVERYTHING READY FOR OPENING DAY

Two Bands and Rotary Club to Make Baseball Noise on Tuesday.

LINE OF MARCH.

Form on Harrison between Wayne and Main; south on Harrison to Washington; east on Washington to Hanna; north on Hanna to Wayne; west on Wayne to Barr; north on Barr to Columbia; west on Columbia to Harrison; south on Harrison to Berry; west on Berry to Fairfield; south on Fairfield to DeWald; east on DeWald to Calhoun; north on Calhoun to park.

The Rotary club will form on Wayne street, west of Harrison, Auto Dealers' association on Wayne, east of Harrison, and city officials on Harrison between Wayne and Washington.

Secretary Charles Biederwolf, of the Fort Wayne Commercial club Monday afternoon announced the line of march for the baseball parade which Tuesday afternoon will open the baseball season in this city. He has been promised 150 automobiles for the parade, and the new home-owned Cubs will begin their march to glory to the inspiring tooting of several bands and a couple of hundred automobile horns.

The Rotary club, which has taken in hand the opening day festivities, sharing the honor and the work with the Commercial club, will attend the game in a body, and some forty cars will convey the members of the club. The parade will start with the Sherman-White auto truck carrying the Elk band, and following the music will be members of the city departments, with police, park, board of works, fire, and other commissioners and officials in line. Then come the heroes, and following the ten cars which they will grace another band will toot. Then the Commercial club and Rotary club members will ride, and the Allen County Automobile Owners' association will bring up the lengthy rear.

At the park Mayor Hosey will fling the first ball in the general direction of the plate, and Secretary Charles Biederwolf, of the Commercial club, will pretend he's trying to catch it.

GERMAN CRUISER NOW COALING UP

Capt. Thierfelder Soon to Decide on Dash or Interment.

Newport News, Va., April 26.—The German auxiliary cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm, which put in here for repairs two weeks ago, after her commerce raiding cruise, was towed from her anchorage to a coal pier early today. She will take aboard between 3,500 and 4,000 tons of bunker coal, it was stated at the pier.

The Wilhelm also will take on a ten days' supply of water and provisions. That is the estimated time she would require to make the nearest German port.

Installation of boiler tubes and other inside repairs were completed yesterday and very soon Captain Thierfelder will decide whether to attempt a dash to sea or to interne with the Prinz Eitel. In marine circles it is said the date limit for the Wilhelm expires Friday or Saturday.

AT LEAST TWO DAYS MORE OF IT COMING

Early Season Hot Spell is Setting New Records for April.

Washington, April 26.—At least 48 hours more of the early season hot spell was predicted today by the weather bureau. Extraordinarily high temperatures for the season were reported today from all points east of the Mississippi river and new records for an April hot spell were made in many places, including Lexington, Ky., Washington, D. C., Detroit, Grand Rapids and Columbus.

Chicago today reported an official temperature of 72 at 7 a. m.

Washington at the same ime had 65 degrees. In the New England and middle Atlantic coast states a rise in temperature tonight and Tuesday was indicated.

The absence of rain, except for some scattered showers, is being felt in many sections and crops are suffering.

Colonel Roosevelt Says So, and Admits Consulting Him Freely.

MORE LETTERS GO IN EVIDENCE

Conferences with Platt Not "Invisible Government," He Says.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 26.—A series of confidential letters taken from the files kept by the late Thomas C. Platt, while he was representing the state of New York in the United States senate were today read to the jury trying Wm. Barnes' suit for alleged libel against Theodore Roosevelt in the supreme court here. Some of the letters were signed by Senator Platt while others were signed by Col. Roosevelt.

In nearly all of them the writers discussed candidates for office in the state government and in reply to a question by Mr. Barnes' counsel, the former president said without the slightest hesitation tha he consuled freely with Senator Platt, about affairs at Albany, knowing and realizing at all times that he was the "boss" of he republican pary in this state.

The letters were brought to Syracuse by the former senator's son and turned over to counsel for Mr. Barnes. Although the colonel could not say whether he had ever made it known to the public that he was conferring with Mr. Platt over appointments he denied emphatically that such conferences constituted "invisible government."

"My actions," the witness asserted, "were as visible as they could be."

RESUMES HIS TESTIMONY.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 26.—Theodore Roosevelt resumed his testimony on the witness stand today for further cross examination by counsel for William Barnes. It was the former president's fifth day as a witness.

When court opened a stipulation between counsel that depositions of four unnamed witnesses outside the state should have the same effect as if the witnesses had appeared on the stand, was read into the record. Mr. Ivins, Mr. Barnes' attorney, then put into the record letters written by Mr. Barnes to Col. Roosevelt and by Colonel Roosevelt to Mr. Barnes and to Herbert Parsons.

The latter letters, dated August 21, 1908, were nearly identical in contents and phraseology. In one letter Mr. Barnes discussed Governor Hughes. In it he said if Gov. Hughes was elected he would set up a political machine and all who opposed him would have to 'sneak in the back door or get out of politics."

Roosevelt to Barnes

On Sept. 16 Col. Roosevelt wrote this letter to Mr. Barnes:

"I am very glad you joined in making the nomination of Hughes unanimous. I think it was the wise and patriotic thing to do. After the election I shall want to see you in Washington and talk over matters with you."

Replies by Mr. Barnes to some of the colonel's letters were also read to the jury. The colonel identified all the letters and declared them to be authentic. Col. Roosevelt said his favoring Gov. Hughes was not due to any personal reasons. "It was because I though the people wanted him," he added.

"Do you regard it as any evidence of corruption that Messrs. Barnes, Hendricks and Parsons favored some other man than Mr. Hughes?"

"I can't answer that collectively."

Later Col. Roosevelt answered in the negative when asked specifically about each of the men named.

Mr. Ivins then told Justice Andrews he wished to put into evidence correspondence between Thomas C. Platt and Col. Roosevelt between 1898 and 1905. While attorneys for both sides were discussing these letters, Col. Roosevelt opened some mail and sat in the witness chair reading it.

Letters to Platt.

The first letter, dated Oct. 21, 1898, was addressed to Senator Platt. In it Col. Roosevelt said: "I was misquoted. I never discriminate against any man because of his religion or his race."

In the second letter he said: "Can I see you Friday morning?"

The third was dated from Albany. The colonel told of a conference with Gov. Black over the appointment of a judge. He said further: "I would like to see you about the matter."

The name of a Mr. Hill was mentioned in the letter.

"Did you consult Boss Platt about the appointment of Mr. Hill as a district attorney of Erie county?" asked the cross-examiner.

"I consulted Senator Platt about all matters he wished to be consulted about and then did what I thought best. I

Jonesville, Ind., April 26.—Jonesville was given a thrill of the wild West variety yesterday afternoon when one of three men arrested on charges of intoxication, pulled a revolver in the court of Justice Begood, and, holding back pursuers with threats to shoot, backed out of town with his companions. An armed posse of fifty men rounded up two of the men in the bottoms of White river a few hours later and they were taken to the county jail at Columbus.

The prisoners were James and Jean Spencer, brothers, of Columbus, 25 and 22 years old, respectively, and Donald Simmons, 22 years old, of Indianapolis. Simmons was the one who drew the revolver.

Intended to Let Them Go.

Justice Begood had intended to discharge the men from custody after giving them a talk on the error of their ways, he says.

The trio drove a hired horse from Columbus to Jonesville while intoxicated, it is charged and Harry Patrick, a Columbus liveryman, being informed that the men were abusing the horse by driving too fast, followed to Jonesville.

An altercation between Patrick and the three men ensued in Jonesville when Patrick demanded possession of his rig. It ended suddenly when Patrick struck James Spencer and knocked him down. Town Marshal Harry Crane appeared and took the Spencer brothers and Simmons into custody.

They were taken to the office of Justice Begood, where Marshal Crane searched them. When he began feeling in Jean Spencer's pockets the man is alleged to have said:

"I haven't any gun on me. If I had I would have been using it before now."

Pulls Gun; Backs Away.

Marshal Crane then turned to Simmons, who had a revolver beneath his shirt, under his arm. Crane took hold of the weapon, but Simmons jerked it away. He then backed to the door, flourishing the revolver and pointing it first at the marshal and then at Justice Begood.

"Come on boys," yelled Simmons, and the Spencer boys followed him through the door. The trio vaulted a rear fence and were at the edge of town before an alarm could be given.

Some boys and men who tried to follow them were halted by Simmons, who turned and pointed his revolver, declaring he would shoot the firt man who interferred. Finally the three took to their heels and raced for the bottom land along the river, about three-quarters of a mile from Jonesville.

Meanwhile there was wild excitement in the town. Marshal Crane, hastily forming a posse of armed men, commandeered an automobile and set off for the bottoms.

Jonesville Hits the Trail.

Jonesville soon was a deserted village. Every man who had a shotgun or a squirrel rifle left his Sunday dinner and grabbed a weapon. Young beaux forgot their devotion to the fair ones of Jonesville and set off hotfoot for the river. Some girls who were out riding with their admirers at the time soon found themselves flying along behind a galloping horse, bound for the river bottoms.

Two Men Surrender.

Meanwhile the posse had surrounded the thickly wooded strip of land where the three men had disappeared and were hot on the trail. Simmons was seen, still flourishing his revolver, and half a dozen impetuous manhunters let go with shotguns and squirrel rifles. But they were still out of range and no harm was done. By the time the posse came within hailing distance, Simmons and Jean Spencer were cowed and they surrendered without firing a shot. But James Spencer had disappeared.

Justice Begood, in another automobile, had foreseen the move that Spencer made, and with two armed men, sped around by another road to cut off Spencer's flight. The justice and his companions sighted their man as he emerged from the thicket. But there was no fight in Spencer.

"In fact," said Justice Begood, "the appeared to be perfectly sober and sorry for all the commotion he had caused. He said he was going back to Columbus, so we just let him go."

Mrs. Jack Etter, 838 West DeWald street, is much improved after a week's illness.

ITALY'S DEMANDS HELD IMPOSSIBLE

London, April 26.—The opinion is growing in Rome that Austria and Italy are drifting inevitably toward war. A diplomat accredited to the Quirnial quotes Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador at Rome, who has been the principal figure in the efforts to avert such a war as saying that it would be impossible for Austria to accept Italy's demands.

Peppino Garibaldi, grandson of the famous Italian statesman who recently has talked with the Italian king and premier, is said to have received from them the impression that Italy would enter the war with the allies.

Italian refugees from Austria say the frontier has been fortified by the Austrians with concrete trenches and heavy artillery.

New victories in the fighting in the Carpathians are claimed by the Austrians. After several weeks of slow progress they have at last reduced the Russian positions on both sides of the Orawa valley, the Vienna war office announces. Petrograd reports the repulse of an attack in Uzsok pass, and says that the Austrians have brought up a large amount of artillery along the Carpathian front.

NEED POWERFUL ARMY.

Allies' Expectations at Dardanelles Were Too Great.

London, April 26.—Too great expectations were raised by the preliminary operations of the allied fleet in the Dardanelles, according to a representative of British newspapers who is officially accredited to the expedition.

"The British navy is convinced," the correspondent says, "that the narrows could be forced if occasion justified the loss of ships that would result but unless there were a powerful army ready to occupy the Gallipoli peninsula the moment the fleet passed into the Sea of Marmora, the Turks and Germans immediately would close the straits behind it so the warships would find it difficult to fight their way out again.

"Nothing amazed the British and French gunners more than the resisting power of the old forts around the Dardanelles. For example, those at Sud-dul Bahr and Kum Kale were subjected to a devastating bombardment in February, yet when landing parties examined them they found the material damage done was comparatively small. Although they were mere shambles many guns were still intact and one 9-inch piece actually was found loaded.

"Similar conditions existed in the forts nearer the narrows. After the terrific bombardment of March 18 their gunners were forced to seek shelter and the fortifications were silenced but the fleet does not claim to have put many guns out of commission. After the disasters to the battleships Ocean and Irresistible some of these guns were remanned, concentrating a heavy fire on those vessels while the work of removing the crews to destroyers was in progress."

The correspondent considers the Turks such poor gunners that the allies would have been at Constantinople if there had been only Turkish troops to deal with. He said, however, that a prize must be given German officers for their skillful use of the defences to meet ships fire.

TRAINS MOVED BY WIRELESS.

New York, April 26.—A new distance record for wireless telephony in railroad service was claimed today by officials of the Lackawanna railroad. Communications by wireless concerning the movement of Lackawanna trains were exchanged between railroad superintendents at Scranton, Pa., and Binghampton, N. Y., 63 miles. Trains between these two cities were moved for several hours yesterday under orders sent or received by wireless.

MANY ARE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Sunday an Unlucky Day for Automobilists and Motorcyclists.

With the streets and roads thronged with automobiles, motorcycles and bicycles many accidents occurred Sunday. Perhaps the most seriously injured was Herbert Neischwonger, 14 years old, who resides with his parents on the Decatur road four miles south of Fort Wayne. While riding his bicycle, Sunday afternoon, the front fork broke, throwing him into a ditch at Rudisill and South Calhoun streets. A portion of the frame of the bicycle struck him in the groin, rendering him unconscious. He was taken to his home and later removed to the St. Joseph hospital in the police ambulance. He was reported as getting along as well as could be expected, Monday.

Fred Fox, 17 years old, residing on Anthony boulevard, was thrown from his bicycle at Holman and Calhoun streets, about 9:10 o'clock Sunday night when he was struck by a five passenger Ford machine driven by David F. Ault, 1013 Eckert street. The boy was painfully injured about the back and right side and was removed to the St. Joseph hospital.

Thrown From Motorcycle.

Tony Laporte, residing at 1507 Spy Run avenue, was thrown from his motorcycle Sunday morning, when struck by an automobile driven by Michael Gilmartin. The machine was going north on Wells street and on reaching Cass, skidded about forty-five feet, striking Laporte's motorcycle and striking a tree on the northwest corner. Laporte was taken to St. Joseph's hospital where it was found he was painfully injured about the left side and hip. His motorcycle was badly damaged.

The Lakeside "jitney bus" driven by Clarence Smith, collided with Dr. George W. Gillie's automobile about 7 o'clock Sunday evening, both machines being badly damaged. Gillie was backing his car onto Lake avenue off Crescent avenue when the accident occurred.

Victor Robbe, who is employed in the city light department, was painfully burned about the hands, Saturday night, while putting gasoline into his new Saxon automobile. Sparks from the engine ignited the gasoline and Robbe was burned in attempting to extinguish the blaze.

An automobile driven by Arthur H. Kiel, 81 Portage avenue, collided with a buggy at Clay and Columbia streets, Saturday afternoon. The cross piece in the rear of the vehicle was broken, which was the only damage that was done.

Sugar exists not only in the cane, the beet root and maple, but also in the sap of about 190 other plants and trees.

MAN SENT TO WARN LINCOLN NO MORE

Montrose, N. Y., April 26.—Frederick W. Seward, assistant secretary of state in the cabinets of Presidents, Lincoln, Johnson and Hayes, and son of the late Secretary of State William H. Seward, died here yesterday in his eighty-fifth year. He leaves a widow, Anna M. Seward, and one brother, Gen. William H. Seward, of Auburn.

Mr. Seward was closely associated with some of the gravest events in the nation's history. It was he who was sent on that mission from Washington to Philadelphia to warn President Lincoln that his life was in danger if he followed his itinerary through Baltimore.

Four years later he figured in another stirring incident after the assassination of Lincoln. He was at his father's bedside when Payne, one of Booth's accomplices, pretending to be a messenger with medicine for Secretary Seward, suddenly drew a revolver and beat Frederick Seward into unconsciousness. Then, dashing into the sick room, Payne slashed Secretary Seward many times. Both Sewards eventually recovered.

Later Payne was captured and executed with others involved in the plot.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.—Adv.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

HERMAN KREUGER DEAD.

Kendallville Pioneer, Business Man and Councilman Passes at 80.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—Herman Krueger, a pioneer business man of this city and at the time of his death a councilman-at-large, died at his home Saturday evening at the age of 80 years. He was one of the most prominent as well as most public spirited citizens this city ever had and his death will be widely felt and regretted.

Herman Krueger was a native of Germany and was born in 1835. He was 18 years old when he came to America, going to Sturgis, Mich., from which place he came afoot the same year to Kendallville. His first employment in the west was as a laborer on the construction work for the old New York and Michigan Southern railroad, now the Lake Shore. He was similarly employed here for a time, but his industry, ambition and business abilities soon started him in independent channels and in 1856 he engaged in partnership with the late Reuben Miller in the grocery business. At the end of a year the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Krueger entered the real estate business. Later he re-engaged with Mr. Miller in business and his activities found opportunities in other fields of business. He was for a considerable period engaged in the operation of a brewery here, an enterprise that prospered. He built the Kelly house, for nearly half a century this city's leading hotel, erected the Krueger block and the brick block on Mitchell street in this city. Mr. Krueger was active in politics and was constant in participation in public affairs. He was elected to the city council in 1861, was one of the first trustees of the municipal waterworks department and in 1913 was elected a councilman-at-large, a position he held at the time of his death. As councilman he was chairman of the building committee to replace the city hall that was destroyed by fire more than a year ago and the handsome and completely appointed modern municipal building is largely due to his intelligent efforts. His home was one of the finest in the city.

INEBRIATE ASSAULTS WOMAN.

Auburn, Ind., April 26.—Herbert Girard, of Ashley, is locked up in the DeKalb county jail here in default of $500 bond on a charge of house-breaking with intent to commit violence for forcibly entering the home of Mrs. Philip Albright, aged 84 years, in Ashley. Girard, formerly driver of the hack between Ashley and Steubenville, got drunk and broke into Mrs. Albright's home and had his hands on the aged woman, when her son, O. G. Albright, an Ashley merchant came in and knocked the man senseless. Neighbors had watched Girard's attempt to enter the house and summoned Albright, who reached his mother's home in time to prevent serious harm to her. Girard says he was too drunk to know what he was doing. He is married and has several children.

INJURED BLASTING STUMPS.

Auburn, Ind., April 26.—Milo Boren, a farmer residing on the Adam Prosser farm, three miles southwest of Auburn, was injured and had a narrow escape from death while blasting stumps with dynamite. He had exhausted his supply of fuses and improvised one out of paper and gunpowder and attached it to a quarter-pound charge of dynamite. When he applied the match to the fuse there was a sudden flash and the explosion of the dynamite followed before he could get from harm's way. His face was filled with sand and gravel that it took considerable time by a physician to remove. His right eye was quite severely injured. Permanent consequences do not appear likely.

MISS STAUB WELL IN BLUFFTON.

Bluffton, Ind., April 26.—Miss Martha Staub, of whom was reported late last week that she had been discharged from a hospital at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where she had been treated for aphasia and was en route to her home in Fort Wayne, is in Bluffton with relatives and has been for the last five weeks. Miss Staub is now well, but early in March was in Saratoga Springs, where she was ill for several days, though the story that she suffered from aphasia or anything resembling that malady is denied by her relatives here. She is staying here with Mrs. R. J. Martin, an aunt. She formerly taught in the public schools of Bluffton. Miss Staub is puzzled by the Saratoga Springs dispatches and has no idea of the identity of the person said to be herself. She is a daughter of Alex H. Staub, a Fort Wayne merchant.

FORT WAYNE MOTORIST FINED.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—C. F. McDonald, a Fort Wayne saloonist, was fined $1 and costs—$11 in all—for speeding his automobile through the streets of this city and remarked as he settled that he was getting off easy, as it would have cost him $75 at home to burn up the street. McDonald and a companion dashed through the city at wild speed and were not interrupted. Later they returned and Marshal Cunningham arrested the driver. McDonald said they had met with a breakdown south of the city and after calling a machinist from the Auburn automobile works and getting the auto repaired drove back again to Kendallville.

MANOAH FRANKS BURIED.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—Manoah Franks, aged 86 years, and for sixty-five years of his life a resident of this community, was buried from his late residence Sunday afternoon. His death was quite sudden and unexpected. He was born in Wayne county, Ohio, and came to Noble county in 1851, and ever since that time had resided in Noble and DeKalb counties. He was a widely known man and universally respected. A son and a daughter survive him, his wife having died nine years ago.

LOCKE LEASES KOKOMO HOTEL.

Bluffton, Ind., April 26.—Dell Locke, who disposed of the fixtures of the Bliss hotel in this city a few weeks ago and turned over the hotel to the new landlord, W. R. Swinford, has closed a lease for the new Courtland hotel at Kokomo and he stated upon his arrival in Bluffton Friday evening, that he will be ready to open the Courtland to the public about May 25th.

CHILD FATALLY HURT.

Warsaw, Ind., April 26.—Injuries received Saturday in a fall from a child's wagon while playing with several little playmates, caused the death of little Mildred Lucile Fawley, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fawley, of West Center street. The little girl died in convulsions late Saturday afternoon at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Fawley.

SMALL CHILD SCALDED.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—Keith, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem McCullough of the Trinity neighborhood, six miles northeast of the city, was frightfully burned about the back and body when he accidentally took a plunge in a tub of scalding water. The burns are quite deep and severe, and the child's back, which was the most severely burned, is covered with a large blister.

OPTION FIGHT GETS BITTER.

Hartford City, Ind., April 26.—The main topic of conversation in Hartford City at the present time is concerning the option election to be held one week from next Tuesday. Both factions are now putting in their best licks and the next week will witness a very bitter fight. It is useless to venture a prediction on the outcome, for it is evident that the fight will be close.

WARNED BY STATE BOARD.

Hartford City, Ind., April 26.—The city officers here have received notices from the state board of accounts warning against the use of city funds for street fairs, festivals and the like. It is pointed out that such a practice is against the law. Another portion of the circular sets out the fact that it is not legal to take as fees delinquent taxes which are collected.

JAY COUNTY'S OLDEST MAN DIES.

Portland, Ind., April 26.—Levi Lovel Lawrence, 94, perhaps the oldest resident of Jay county, died at his home four miles south of this city Saturday evening. He was one of the pioneer manufacturers of Richmond, being engaged there for a number of years in the manufacture of farm implements. The aged widow and three children survive.

DR. DAVE LINVILL IMPROVED.

Columbia City, Ind., April 26.—Dr. Dave Linvill, who recently recovered from an attack of pneumonia and who was much better and attending to his patients, became very sick again last week with something like erysipelas of the lower limbs but is reported much better. He is not able to be up for any length of time but is not entirely bedfast.

ANGOLA LOVERS ELOPE.

Hillsdale, Mich., April 26.—Charles S. Freygang and Miss Mabel E. Ferguson, both of Angola, Ind., eloped to this city and were married at the court house by Justice C. M. Weaver. There was nothing secret about the elopement, for several of the friends of the couple came along with them as witnesses.

JAY COUNTY JAIL EMPTY.

Portland, Ind., April 26.—Jay county's jail is again without prisoners, the last being released yesterday when Elmer Boyd and Orph Snediker were released after serving eighteen days each for intoxication.

TOO MUCH MIXING OF HOSTILITIES

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, April 26.—Inability to keep personal and business hostilities out of the administration of his office appears to be chiefly responsible for the trouble between John Skelton Williams, controller of the currency, and the Riggs National bank, of this city.

There is no reason to believe that this is the beginning of an attack by the banking interests generally on the administration, or even on Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. Reports to this effect are unfair to the administration.

The fact is the bankers throughout the country are much pleased with McAdoo's handling of the trying problems which were precipitated by the war panic, and are growing daily more satisfied with the Wilson federal reserve law and the way the board is administering it.

Some business animosities were buried when McAdoo hurried over to New York that Sunday night after the declaration of the European war and met the Wall street men in a conference at the Biltmore. All the strongest men in the world of finance were there and at that meeting old feuds were put aside to plan for and meet a great and threatening danger.

The trouble in the Riggs bank case is distinctly personal. It is unquestionably brought about by the inability of Mr. Williams to forget an old grudge. McAdoo has been dragged into it in part by the force of circumstances and in part by the great personal charm of Mr. Williams, who is as much beloved by his friends as he is hated by his enemies.

McAdoo becomes one of the defendants because he tried to put the Riggs officials on the treasury "carpet" for articles published in the New York Tribune about the Munsey Trust company affair, and when the officials talked back McAdoo let his Irish get the better of him and with some profanity threatened to put Mr. Ailes out of his office, and told Mr. Glover that he must know what this would mean to the Riggs bank—the implied threat as understood by the Riggs officials being that the power of the treasury would be exercised to put the bank out of business.

While it is not so stated in the bank's petition filed in court, it is understood here that the feud began with the elimination of Williams as a director in the Seaboard Air Line railroad following the acquisition of that property by Thomas F. Ryan and other New York interests. Milton E. Ailes, vice president of the Riggs bank, was put in to succeed Williams as a director, and the latter's hostility lighted on the unhappy head of Ailes. So marked had this hostility become at the time Williams was nominated for controller of the currency that the senate committee on finance when considering the question of Williams' confirmation, sent for Ailes and asked for some account of the relations between Williams and the Riggs bank. Ailes told the committee that Mr. Williams was known in business circles as a man possessing a very vindictive disposition and expressed the fear that the controller might not be entirely fair in the administration of his office. Williams was called before the committee, and assured the senators that he could and would be fair to the Riggs bank.

The next thing on the program was the loud and spectacular ejection from the treasury department of a woman clerk who for years had been accustomed to tabulate certain public information collected by the controller's office and to transmit it to the Riggs bank officials. The ejecting was done by the secretary of the treasury at the suggestion of Mr. Williams.

The affair was unduly magnified. Whatever improper connection may have existed between the treasury department and Wall street was not maintained through this humble woman clerk, and the inference that the treasury had been freed from a terrible menace was not a legitimate one. Beginning with this incident, the Riggs bank became the object of special examinations by agents of the controller's office; its government deposits were removed and Secretary McAdoo announced that it would have no more government deposits; its officials were harassed with letters, charging and insinuating all manner of crookedness, and the controller, according to the bill filed in court, even went so far as to exercise his personal influence to secure the removal of the Red Cross funds on deposit in the bank. The removal of government money occurred at a time when all banks were conserving their resources and with a weaker bank would probably have thrown it into the hands of a receiver. The last straw came in the imposition of a succession of cumulative fines, which in a short time amounted to $5,000, for the alleged failure to give information which the bank officials say they had given. This money was taken out of interest on bonds in the possession of the treasury department and it was to save these fines that the injunction was secured.

The contract for the new $10,000 office building to be erected by the Hartford City Paper company has been awarded to Thomas Cunningham, of that place. The plans were drawn by Architect Charles R. Weatherhogg.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Proverb 11:17-31.

17 The merciful man doeth good to his own soul: but he that is cruel troubleth his own flesh.

18 The wicked worketh a deceitful work: but to him that soweth righteousness shall be a sure reward.

19 As righteousness tendeth to life: so he that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death.

20 They that are of a forward heart are abomination to the Lord: but such as are upright in their way are his delight.

21 Though hand join in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished: but the seed of righteousness shall be delivered.

22 As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman which is without discretion.

24 There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty.

25 The liberal soul shall be made fat: and he that watereth shall be watered also himself.

26 He that withholdeth corn, the people shall curse him: but blessing shall be upon the head of him that selleth it.

27 He that diligently seeketh good procureth favour: but he that seeketh mischief, it shall come unto him.

28 He that trusteth in his riches shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a branch.

29 He that troubleth his own house shall inherit the wind: and the fool shall be servant to the wise of heart.

30 The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth souls is wise.

Mr. Bryan and the Young Voter

Speaking recently at a luncheon of the City club in Baltimore, Secretary of State Bryan laid down a series of "rules for the new voter" which he recommended to the serious attention of the young man who is about to cast his first ballot, as well as to the woman who finds herself enfranchised by the advance of the equal suffrage movement. As the keystone of his structure, Mr. Bryan asserted the propostion that "the social idea toward which world is moving requires that human institutions shall approximate toward the divine measure of rewards. This can be realized only when each individual is able to draw from society a reward proportionate to his contribution to society."

There are those who will declare utterances of this character mere platitudes, and decry preachment of lofty motives in an age intensely political and in politics that are tremendously practical, but the young voter who desires to measure up most fully to his opportunity with the ballot will do well to give thoughtful heed to Mr. Bryan's admonition. Partisan as he is, Mr. Bryan is first patriotic. There are things much more important than temporary triumph, and in his Baltimore address the secretary placed the ballot not in the rank of political privilege, but of sacred civic duty.

It is not to be presumed, nor is it necessary or even desirable, that people be all of one mind regarding the desirability of this or the undesirability of that. It is not to be expected, as Mr. Bryan argued, that an intelligent people will always acquiesce in the evidence of a wrong, but he asserted it the plain duty of every citizen "to exert himself to the utmost to eradicate every evil in government." Mr. Bryan's career has furnished a striking example of this purpose. He has perhaps not always been absolutely right, but he has always been courageous, and he has not hesitated, and is not hesitating now, to assail what he believes wrong, whether in his own party or in another. He has practiced as he has preached through many years of political life the course he is still advising for others. This does not mean that man can be infallible or inevitably right and everybody else wrong. It means that the voter, young and old, will perform a higher service for his country if he will make his vote count not so much for party triumph or personal victory as for the hastening of that millenium which is held up by Mr. Bryan as the time when "human institutions shall approximate toward the divine measure of rewards." This means that voting must becomes less a party expediency and more a matter of square-toed justice for class and mass alike.

Through the medium of a letter written to President Garfield, of Williams college, Secretary Daniels has taken occasion to definitedly refute recent attacks on the preparedness of the United States navy. The secretary insists that more vessels of all character are now in commission than ever before in time of peace, that they are better equipped and more fully supplied with munitions of war, and that during the past two years progress toward naval betterment has gone forward steadily. Summarized, the secretary's view is that Uncle Sam's navy is prepared to give a good account of itself, should the unfortunate necessity arise for doing it. Somehow, Mr. Daniels' letter is a relief. We had gathered from some recent critics that the American navy amounted to little more than some expensive toys and a vast deal of back-number junk.

The reappointment of Dr. James M. Dinnen, of this city, to membership on the Indiana state board of medical examination and registration is about the most graceful recognition possible of Dr. Dinnen's long and valuable service as a member of that body. He has been identified with it since its organization in 1897, and at the close of the new term will have served continuously for twenty-four years through various changes in state administration. Dr. Dinnen doubtless duly appreciates an honor so signal in character, but he has amply merited it by the conscientious and high-class service he has given the state in this capacity.

Fort Wayne's Central League baseball team will be seen in its first home game of the 1915 season on Tuesday, and it should be a matter of civic pride to see that the new organization gets the proper sort of a send-off. Quite aside from the entertainment it affords, professional baseball is important to aid in keeping Fort Wayne before the public abroad. The town which supports a hustling high-grade professional baseball aggregation is always a live town, and position in a league like the Central is worth a vast sum to any city from the standpoint of publicity alone.

After all, there may be some warrant for the suspicion that Mr. Barnes brought that libel suit against Colonel Roosevelt merely to make it clear that he is still running things in the New York republican camp, and as fair warning that no poaching will be permitted on his preserves.

UNIFORM LAWS ARE NEEDED.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The confusion that has arisen in Maryland as a result of a conflict of the divorce laws of that state and of Nevada, should serve to revive the movement started three years ago by the American Bar association to secure uniform laws on divorce and other important questions. There should be a basis on which all states could agree regarding divorce. And divorce is not the only subject on which there is absurd variance among the states.

We have, for example, four states that provide death penalty for conviction on a charge of burglary in the first degree and six that provide for life imprisonment. We have eighteen states in which a burglar may be let off with a sentence of one year. We have fourteen states in which the minimum sentence for forgery ranges from two to seven years.

Perjury in Indiana is punishable by a sentence of two to twenty-one years. Illinois fixes its limits at one to fourteen years, Ohio at three to ten years, Kentucky at one to five years. Florida insists on four and not more than ten years. Perjury is perjury whether it is committed in Indiana or some other state. It should not be any more criminal for a resident of Florida to swear falsely than for a Hoosier to do so. The place is not the essence of the crime.

Manslaughter in the first degree is not punished as severely in Colorado as we punish those in Indiana who are convicted of forgery. Virginia looks upon robbery as worse than manslaughter. North Dakota imposes one to five years for manslaughter in the second degree and not less than ten years for forgery. Larceny in Indiana is worse than manslaughter in Nebraska.

It requires no argument to convince anyone that all this is illogical. There should be something approximating justice for each misdeed and it should be the same in each state. If Indiana, for example, is just in dealing with its criminals some other states are too lenient and others are harsh and too exacting.

MAIL VOTING FOR TRAVELING MEN

(Toledo Blade.)

A proposition before the constitutional convention of New York provides for an arrangement by which commercial travelers may vote by mail.

This convention, being ultra-conservative, may not adopt the amendment. Yet it is one that should be put in force, not only in New York, but in every other state of the union. The commercial travelers are among the very best of our citizens. Their judgment in political matters is keen, their opportunities for forming judgments being unusual.

But as it is with them now, they can not vote without penalizing themselves. They must pay for long journeys and sacrifice time that is as valuable to them as to fortunate stay-at-home citizens who have to sacrifice no time at all. The results of the present system are bad. A great many traveling men weigh their business and their civic responsibility and too often decide for business. They are frequently so situated that they can do nothing else. The loss is not simply theirs alone. Society loses something every time a responsible citizen fails to vote.

If we favored political bossism we would fight every suggestion which would favor this mail voting scheme. For barriers existing between the polls and the traveling salesmen directly benefit political bosses. The fraudulent votes have just that many fewer honest votes to overcome.

DR. GEISEL'S COMING.

To the Editor of The Sentinel:—I trust the women of Fort Wayne are awake to the privilege we are to have on May 1, in hearing Dr. Caroline Geisel who is with the Flying Squadron.

The time is here when the states and nation are calling to you to help decide this greatest question before the American people. On April 30, May 1-2, there will be a company of experts, as great in their chosen field of work, as the Lyons party were in theirs.

It is hoped that the men, women and children will arrange their time and work to avail themselves of this opportunity.

There is no more convincing speaker among women than Dr. Geisel. She is in demand all over the United States.

This call is to the women of Fort Wayne who stand for the homes, the youth of America, to lend their strength and time to make this work vital in our midst.

"WHAT WOULD TEMPT YOU WOULDN'T FEAZE ME" — BILLY SUNDAY.
THE TANGO DEMON
ONE MAN MAY SEE THE DEVIL WITH HORNS, HOOFS AND A TAIL, WHILE TO ANOTHER — HE WILL APPEAR AS AN ANGEL OF LIGHT" — REV. BILLY SUNDAY.
"SOMEDAY THAT OLD DEVIL WILL HIT THE TRAIL WITH THE OTHER SINNERS."

(By Nixola Greeley-Smith.)

Paterson, N. J., April 26.—Ladies and gentleman—the Devil!

I am not swearing, just introducing to you, the readers of this newspaper, Billy Sunday's personal devil as the famous evangelist described him to me in a talk we have just had in Paterson, N. J., where Mr. Sunday is now conducting a record-breaking campaign for souls.

This is the first time Mr. Sunday has ever talked about the devil in an interview, the reason being that nobody has ever asked him before to describe the famous personage that the twentieth century seems to forget all about except when it stubs its toe.

"I am writing a sermon about the devil now," Mr. Sunday told me when I broached the subject but it is not finished yet. (So you see you are getting Mr. Sunday's thoughts on the devil in the very making.)

"The devil is a real person," he continued earnestly, "and I say you have got to believe he is a real person to be saved! The Bible says he is a real person and I believe the Bible from cover to cover! When I preach there is a personal devil folks say to me, 'That's sixteenth century preaching. It won't do in the twentieth century!' But when a century gets too smart to believe in the devil and in everything else the Bible teaches, I say to hell with the century! That's the kind of man I am!"

"Has the devil really got horns and hoofs and a tail?" I asked the champion devil-chaser of the world.

"The devil has a thousand forms," Mr. Sunday replied with great earnestness. "To one man he may appear with horns, hoofs and a tail while to another he may look like an angel of light. The devil wears whatever form will make him most of a tempter. That's why he has so many disguises. He suits his appearance to the person he is trying to tempt. That's what makes him so cute and foxy. Because what would tempt you, for instance, wouldn't feaze me!

"Nobody knows how cute and foxy that old devil is," the baseball evangelist continued. "To find out how smart he is just think how seldom he appears in the guise of out-and-out infidelity. There are mighty few real infidels in the world. Most people believe in God. But the devil, he goes about with a handful of isms and seisms to fool people."

"How about hell, Mr. Sunday?" I inquired meekly—such is the man's magnetism—such his earnest belief in the gospel he preaches—that I was beginning to think about "hitting the trail" myself. "Is hell really a place of fire and brimstone and burning marl?"

"Hell is a place of torment, just as a heaven is a place of beauty," he answered. "We think about hell as a place of fire—because fire tortures just as we think about heaven as a place of gold and diamonds and rubies and sapphires because those are the most beautiful things we have. Whether hell is really a fiery pit and whether heaven really has gold streets, is God's business. I leave it to him!

"I want to say one more thing," Mr. Sunday swung suddenly around from his desk in the big room on the third floor which is gay with baseball banners. "All the preachers in the world may frown and all the editors in the world may sneer, but I will go right on preaching a personal devil and an eternal hell because they are in the Bible and I won't abate one iota, jot or tittle for any of them!"

Such is the force of Mr. Sunday's character, such his faith and fire that some day soon I expect the same old devil that Billy pounds so much will see the error of his ways, draw in his horns and skulk up the aisle of the tabernacle to "hit the trail" with the other sinners.

GIRL PUTS CATTLE AHEAD OF CLOTHES

Eureka Springs, Ark., April 26.—"Cattle are more interesting than clothes," says Miss Allie Pitts, of Eureka Springs, who has forsaken the butcher business to run a laundry. Miss Pitts is twenty-seven years old. She was accustomed to killing her own cattle and hogs when she was in the meat business. This summer she plans to quit the laundry, buy a cattle ranch and ship her own stock to market.

Before she became a butcher Miss Pitts was a plumber. At an age when most girls are giggling over beaux and party dresses this mountain girl was repairing broken water pipes and defective drains.

"I guess it's because I'm just naturally odd," she says bashfully when asked how she came to choose such odd professions. "I went to keeping books in a meat shop and one day when the butcher was taken sick I offered to take his place. Then I bought a shop of my own in Granby, Mo. With the help of a man I employed I did all my own butchering, cutting up the beef and rendering the lard. I knocked the animals in the head as they came down the runway. Oh, yes, I hated it at first, but I soon got used to it. Some way I hated worst to kill the hogs.

The restrictions of corsets, high heels and frills are unknown to this wholesome mountain girl. She dresses very plainly in a short, dark skirt, mannish waist and tie and knockabout hat. She has mild blue eyes, curling dark hair and talks with a little lisp.

ADVISER IS BACKED BY CLUB AT SEDALIA

Sedalia, Mo., April 26.—In order to establish and encourage better agriculture in Pettis county, the Sedalia Boosters club, this city's only commercial organization, started and financed the farm adviser movement. Later, to supplement and make effective the farm adviser's work, the club launched a county bureau of agriculture with a membership of nearly 1,000. Out-on-the-farm institutes and all-day basket dinings at which city and country people met, together with whole-county July 4 celebrations and whole-county noonday banquets in Sedalia, practically eliminated the line between city and country.

The county farm adviser, S. M. Jordan, began his service here in April, 1912, at $3,000 a year, Sedalia being one of the first cities of the United States to employ such an officer.

About two years ago the Pettis County Homeseekers' club, the woman's auxiliary of the bureau of agriculture, and composed of both country and city women, was formed, and three months ago this club emulated the bureau by employing, at a salary of $1,200 a year, an expert county teacher of domestic science, who visits farm homes and the rural schools and gives systematic instruction in domestic science and arts and manual training.

GIRLS CLUB OCCUPIES A HISTORIC ACADEMY

Quincy, Mass., April 26.—Adams academy building in which was located for many years the school founded by President John Adams and devoted exclusively to the education of young men, will be occupied henceforth by the Young Women's club, an organization whose activities are educational. The club is an outgrowth of the Quincy Woman's club, whose members were influential in securing the use of the building.

The Young Women's club was organized eight years ago and has a large membership. Its government is democratic, the officers being chosen by all the members at regular meetings. Its purpose is to educate the members in useful and important things, cultivation of a liking for the good and beautiful and development of character. With this end in view classes have been formed for instruction in dramatics, music, gymnastics, sewing and other household arts.

Many classes, nationalities and religions are represented here, and the organization is non-sectarian. The members are taught first of all to consider themselves good American citizens and to work together for the building up of a fine type of womanhood.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

CHANCE MEETING BRINGS FATHER TO DAUGHTER HE NEVER KNEW.

MISS VIOLET SILVER.

San Francisco, April 26.—A drama of chance recently brought about the meeting of twenty-year-old Miss Violet Silver, an accomplished violinist of this city, and her father, a wealthy Manchester (England) manufacturer, for the first time in their lives.

The girl was born some months after Meyer Silver, then a poor immigrant from England to California, had separated from his bride. Mrs. Silver had secured annulment of the marriage, and the husband, who had meantime returned to Manchester, was not told of the child's birth.

Not until he met Violet and her mother on a ferryboat here by chance did Meyer Silver know that he had a daughter living in California. He had remarried and has a family in England.

MARCH DEATH RATE SHOWS AN INCREASE

Indianapolis, Ind., April 26.—The death rate in Indiana for March increased over the rate for March, 1914, in both city and rural communities, according to reports just made public by the state board of health. In March, 1,945 persons died in the rural communities of the state, at a rate of 14.7, while in March, 1914, there were only 1,800 deaths, at a rate of 13.6. In cities of the state 1,787 persons died during the month, at a rate of 16.5, against a rate of 15.9 last year and a total number of deaths of 1,766 for March. The total deaths in the state for March were 3,732 and for March, 1914, the total was only 3,596.

The highest death rate was reported for the central counties of the state, where 1,619 persons died and the rate exceeded that of March a year ago and was 1.3 higher than the rate for the whole state. The death rates are estimated on each 1,000 population, figured annually, for the month in question.

In Northern Counties.

The northern counties of the state presented the highest death rates for such diseases as whooping cough, diarrhea and enteritis, poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis), influenza and smallpox. In the central counties the higher death rates were from such diseases as diphtheria, pneumonia, cerebro-spinal fever, puerperal septicemia, cancer and external causes.

Death rates for the larger cities of the state follow: Indianapolis, 18.1; Evansville, 14.3; Fort Wayne, 14.1; Terre Haute, 17.4; South Bend, 14.6; Gary, 12.8; Muncie, 12.5; Hammond, 15.9; Richmond, 20.1; Anderson, 14.5; East Chicago, 18.7; Elkhart, 16.3; Lafayette, 31.5; Michigan City, 15.3; New Albany, 19.4; Logansport, 17.4; Marion, 12.2.

Cases of Suicide.

There were forty-two suicides during the month—men, thirty-five; women, seven. Poison caused twelve such deaths, asphyxiation two, hanging or strangulation three, drowning one, firearms eighteen, cutting or piercing instruments four, jumping from high place one, and crushing one.

There were 138 accidental deaths; five by poisoning, fourteen by burning, thirteen of which were the deaths reported when the Delaware county infirmary burned. Railroad accidents caused twenty-one deaths, and auto accidents three.

Eleven persons were killed by others during the month, seven men and four women. Six were shot to death.

The total births in the state during the month numbered 5,070, at a state rate of 23.8. Of these 2,585 were boys and 2,485 girls. Lake county had the highest birth rate of any county in the state, with 36.8, and Scott county had the lowest rate, with 6.7.

CITY OF SALEM IS FAST REBUILDING

Salem, Mass., April 26.—That this city is rapidly recovering from the fire of 1914, which burned over 250 acres and destroyed more than 1,300 buildings is evidenced by the rebuilding activities seen on all sides. Already permits for 461 buildings, valued at nearly $1,075,152, have been issued and work started, and with the opening of spring plans for nearly double that number are in contemplation.

This building work is divided as follows: First class construction (absolutely fireproof) comprising mills and factories, $1,312,500; second class, hotels, lodging houses, etc. $324,585; third class, tenement houses, $345,300; fourth class, dwellings, one and two-family houses, $1,215,117; fifth class, store blocks with dwellings overhead, $363,050; sixth class, buildings of mill construction, $16,600.

When one considers that the real estate loss in the fire was estimated at $5,500,000, according to the taxable valuation at the time, the new building work in the city up to April 1 is a strong evidence of the city's rapid recovery.

In some instances whole streets have been practically restored, particularly in residential sections. The class of dwellings is of a much higher standard than those replaced, this being due to the strict building code which has been adopted and which requires, besides non-combustible roof materials, metal gutters, fire-stops in partitions, and that no building shall be nearer than five feet to the lot line, thus insuring at lease ten feet space between dwellings. The only exception to this applies to brick or concrete buildings, in which blank end walls, without windows or apertures, occur, as in rows of business blocks. The old-time three and four-story wooden tenement houses are absolutely prohibited. Such dwellings now must be of brick, concrete or some other non-combustible material. And these, if they have windows facing on adjoining property, cannot be built nearer than five feet from the lot line.

MUCH HINGES ON BIG LAND ACTION

Washington, April 26.—One of the most important suits the government has had in recent years is now before the supreme court of the United States. It involves an attempt to recover lands valued at $70,000,000 from the Oregon and California Railroad company and others. These lands, comprising more than two million acres are part of the "land grants" which were made with lavish hand to all the trans-continental railroads in the period after the close of the civil war. If the government wins its case, these lands will be thrown open to settlement and development, and in addition the railroad will have to pay the government for 520,000 acres which the government claims have been disposed of contrary to law.

"The defendant company," says the brief filed by Solicitor General Davis, Assistant Attorney General Kanchel and Special Assistant Smyth, "had flagrantly violated the congressional acts, and now seems to think the government harsh in calling upon it to suffer the consequences of its misconduct. There is not a single equity in the company's favor; for every dollar in value given to the government in the form of free transportation, it has received about $6 from the proceeds of the lands; for every dollar in taxes paid it has received more than $3 out of the lands. * * * For upwards of a quarter of a century the company has, for its own selfish purposes, and in contempt of the laws of the country, withheld these lands from home-seekers, and thwarted the industrial development of a large section of a great state, and at this moment demands the right to continue in its vicious work of obstruction. Unless it be reprehensible for the government to enforce the laws—and there are some who seem to think it is—there is no room for the claim that its action in demanding a forfeiture of the lands in question is inequitable and should be condemned. The decree of the lower court is right and we respectfully ask that it be affirmed."

The government's brief declares that between 1907 and 1912 at least 10,000 individuals made application to the railroad company for purchase of plots of these lands for homesteading, but the railroad claimed that these applications were not made in good faith. The United States answered this argument in this way: "If the railroad company," says the brief, "had put these lands upon the market for sale according to the terms of the grants, it would have been demonstrated within a short time that there were thousands of people willing to take them and establish their abodes thereon. If that had been done, what is now a wilderness would be a land of homes filled with happy and prosperous citizens."

What the government's suit amounts to is a charge that this railroad company has monopolized these lands, unlawfully withholding them from settlement and entry to secure for itself the increment in land value which it has capitalized and upon which it is now earning dividends.

NOT VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY.

Two Elwood Youths Met Death by Accident at Lowden, Ia.

Elwood, Ind., April 26.—Charles Rager and Charles Hedrick, each nineteen years old, whose bodies were found in a gondola freight car at Lowden, Ia., met death by accident and were not the victims of foul play, as had been reported. The bodies have reached Elwood. Today a double funeral was held at the Rager home, and the bodies were taken to Alexandria and buried side by side.

The accident happened on a sidetrack at Lowden. They were tramping their way across the country. At Lowden they crawled into a car, loaded with heavy bridge timbers, and fell asleep. The car was shunted by an engine, and the jar caused the timbers to shift. The heads of both men were caught and twisted, breaking their necks. It was through postal cards in Rager's pocket that their identity was learned.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR HETTRICK.

Toledo, Ohio, April 26.—Penitentiary for life was the sentence imposed on Al Hettrick, formerly of Fort Wayne, in the court of common pleas here for the murder of Mrs. Carrie Jones Barlow, his mistress, January 26, at a rooming house in this city. A motion for a new trial, made at once after a jury had found Hettrick guilty of murder in the second degree last week, was overruled and sentence was pronounced. Hettrick and the woman came here from Fort Wayne, where they had resided for some months at a hotel, and the shooting followed a quarrel over some diamond rings Hettrick claimed as his property.

LOCAL TAILOR DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Daniel Bieker Passes Away at Richmond at the Age of 46 Years.

Daniel Bieker, a well known tailor of Fort Wayne, employed at the Grimme tailor shop, died at East Haven hospital, Richmond, Monday morning, following an illness of six weeks. He went to the hospital several weeks ago for treatment.

He resided at 1109 Cass street, coming here from Germany when a young man. He was a devoted member of the

DANIEL BIEKER.

Precious Blood Catholic church and a member of various societies of the same congregation. His host of acquaintances will be grieved to learn of his demise. Besides his wife he is survived by seven brothers and sisters. He was a member of the local tailors' union, No. 118.

The body was brought to this city and taken to his residence, where funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at the Precious Blood Catholic church. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

FARR.

Mrs. Nancy Jane Farr, aged 58 years and eight months, died at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night at the family home, 1323 Erie street, following an illness due to complication of diseases. The deceased was the wife of Jacob Farr, who is employed as a night watchman at the east branch of the Knitting Mills.

Mrs. Farr was born in Green county, O., where she resided until two years ago when the family moved to this city. Besides her husband she is survived by three sons—Delmar and Homer Farr, of this city and Charles Farr of Ridgeville; one daughter, Mrs. Nora Harper, of Mercer, Ohio, and one brother, Jonas Sesler, of Fort Wayne.

Funeral services Tuesday morning at 9:45 o'clock at the residence, and at 11:50 the remains will be shipped to Antwerp for burial.

BOSSELMANN.

Mrs. Mary Bosselman, aged seventy-four years, died at 10:30 o'clock Sunday evening at the home of her son, Henry Bosselman, at Five Points. She has been ill many weeks.

Born in Germany she came to this country with her husband when she was a young woman, and for many years has been a resident of this county. Surviving relatives include two sons, Henry, of Milan township and William of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Barrow, of this city, and Mrs. Kate Grime, of Three Rivers, Mich. There are also eleven surviving grandchildren.

Funeral services at 12:30 Wednesday afternoon from the residence and at 1:30 from St. Paul's Lutheran church at Gar Creek.

SHOAFF.

Howard Shoaff, aged twenty-eight years, died late Saturday night at the county farm. He had been ill and confined at that institution for ten weeks. Although he had resided here for some time, little is known concerning surviving relatives. The body is being held at the Peltier undertaking parlors while an effort is being made to locate relatives.

FRY.

John Fry, the one day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fry, of 1415 Spy Run avenue, died Monday morning at the family home from exhaustion.

Funeral services Tuesday morning at 7:30 from the residence. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Soest.—Funeral services for Mrs. Katherine Soest will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the residence on the Auburn road and at 2:30 o'clock at the St. John Reformed church, Rev. J. H. Bosch officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

Thiele.—Funeral services for Mrs. Gertrude Thiele will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of her mother-in-law, 1102 Wilt street, and at 2:30 o'clock at the Emanuel Lutheran church, Rev. William Moll officiating.

TALK OF JOHNSON AND GIFF PINCHOT

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, April 26.—The nomination of Governor Hiram Johnson of California for president, with Gifford Pinchot as his running mate as candidates of the progressive party, is seriously talked by the progressive managers who are watching the maneuvers of Root, Barnes, Smoot, Penrose and the standpat republicans. A man who recently has talked with Victor Murdock, chairman of the progressive national committee, admits that the above suggestion is one of those under consideration. According to this plan the progressive party convention would be held before the republican national convention. If the republicans decided to put up a candidate satisfactory to Roosevelt and the progressive leaders—a man like Norris, Cummins, or Borah—the progressive support could easily be turned to the republican candidate; Johnson and Pinchot withdrawing from the race. On the other hand, if the republican managers persisted in going forward with the plan to name a man of the Root or Taft type, the progressives would have a ticket in the field and would be able by voting their strength to insure the certain defeat of the republican candidate.

In the 1912 election, President Wilson's popular vote was 6,293,019; Roosevelt's vote was 4,119,507; Taft's was 3,484,956; while Debs polled approximately 1,000,000 votes. In the congressional elections last November, the strength of the progressive party had dwindled to approximately 1,500,000 votes. These voters may be regarded as "irreconcilables"; as men who prefer to vote their political convictions even when they know that they are practically bound to lose. It is fair to assume that Johnson and Pinchot could poll at least this number of votes in a presidential contest. If this million and a half be subtracted from the progressive party vote in 1912, it leaves 3,484,956 voters who might return to the republican ranks, and Wilson would still be elected by a plurality of 168,556, even if he did not get a single vote more than he polled in 1912.

In other words, the progressives feel that they have a veto power on the republican candidate. They will not be able to elect their man, but they can again defeat a reactionary republican.

An entirely new and very important principle in the wage dispute between the ninety-eight western railroads and their 64,000 engineers and firemen is expected to make the decision of the board of arbitration to be handed down April 30 one of the greatest interest. In this case, which is the second brought under the revised Erdman arbitration act, now known as the Newlands act, the workers have injected the principle that they are entitled to wage increases on the basis of "productive efficiency"; in other words, that their compensation should bear some relation to the increased earnings which come to the roads by reason of increased efficiency on the part of machinery and labor. During recent years the western roads have made extraordinary gains in operating efficiency. They have used more powerful locomotives, larger cars, longer trains and by eliminating curves and reducing grades, have increased to a tremendous extent freight-train loads; all of these changes bringing a marked increase in the labors and responsibilities of enginemen and firemen. The brotherhoods claim that the increased productivity of the railroad plants was accompanied by a decrease in the costs to the roads of engineers and firemen. All this means that the recent raises in wages were well below the increasing other costs of running the railroads.

If the arbitration board should accept this principle of "productive efficiency," it means that a new era in the fixing of railroad wages has begun. This principle amounts to establishing the right of workers to a proportionate share in the profits of business. It means that wages shall bear a ratio to the earning power of the industry. Under this principle, wages, of course, would not necessarily rise: the workers would throw in their lot with the business in which they are engaged, and in dull times there would be wage cuts; but not, however, below a minimum subsistence level. Such a plan means a direct interest of the worker in the efficiency of the industry as a whole, because it means direct results to him in increased wages. Compared to ordinary "profit-sharing" schemes, this plan goes much further and is calculated to set a precedent of great importance in industry.

* * *

The prohibitionists deny that they have any quarrel with President Wilson over the nation-wide prohibition issue. Dr. P. A. Baker, of the Anti-Saloon league, has dug up a letter in which Mr. Wilson in 1911, while governor of New Jersey, declared in favor of state-wide prohibition when the Texas campaign was on. The letter says: "I see no reason to doubt from what I know of the circumstances that state-wide prohibition is both practicable and desirable in Texas." Previously Governor Wilson had declared in another letter in favor of county option in New Jersey. The inference is that President Wilson might see the feasibility of nation-wide prohibition in the near future and in time for the next presidential campaign.

$30,000 NOT ENOUGH.

Three Children Get Annual Allowance Increased to $45,000.

Philadelphia, April 26.—An annual allowance of $30,000 was not sufficient to support properly the three children of Persifor Frazier, Jr., according to the testimony before the orphan court here, and the court on the petition of the children's guardians increased the amount to $45,000 a year. The income from a trust estate left by the children's grandfather, John Lowber Welsh, amounts to $105,000 a year.

The guardians who were appointed by the court on the death of their mother in a petition presented to the court set forth that the wages of servants and other household expenses amount to $18,000, the rent of their town house to $2,500 and country place to $1,500. Tuition amounts to $3,000 and clothing to a similar amount, while $2,500 was required for traveling and automobile expenses. This was exclusive of any sums spent for amusement and entertainment.

The children are: Marie, age fifteen; Persifor III, fourteen, and Isabella, age ten.

"TIZ" FIXED MY SORE, TIRED FEET

Use "TIZ!" Don't have puffed-up, burning, aching feet or corns.

Ah! what relief. No more tired feet; no more burning feet; no more swollen, bad smelling, sweaty feet. No more pain in corns, callouses or bunions. No matter what ails your feet or what under the sun you've tried without getting relief, just use "TIZ."

"TIZ" is the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up the feet; "TIZ" is magical; "TIZ" is grand; "TIZ" will cure your foot troubles so you'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't seem tight and your feet will never, never hurt or get sore, swollen or tired. Think of it, no more foot misery; no more burning corns, callouses or bunions.

Get a 25-cent box at any drug store or department store, and get instant relief. Get a whole year's foot relief for only 25 cents. Think of it!

WAR WORK FOR WOMEN HAS ITS LIMITATIONS

England Denies Them License as Drivers of Motor Vehicles.

London, April 10.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—War work for women has its official limitations, since the home secretary refuses to grant licenses to women who have successfully passed the examinations required of drivers of motor vehicles. The reason the home secretary gave to the applicants was the public's alleged lack of confidence in women drivers.

"Could he not leave the public to decide that?" asked Miss Phipps, president of the National Federation of Women Teachers, in an address before that body in London the past week.

Miss Phipps aired other grievances against the government in which she had the sympathy of the teachers. The legislation closing the liquor houses to women until 11:30 a. m., and not to the men was based on the lie, she said, that most of the drinking was done by soldiers' wives. This she considered a deadly insult to the women. Discrimination in the matter of wages existed in the factories furnishing munitions of war, she charged, as men received more pay than the women for equivalent work.

Instead of putting children into the harvest fields next summer, Miss Phipps proposed that the stronger and better nourished boys from Eton and Harrow and the other great schools be set at this work.

The woman baggage porter has made her appearance in the Marylebone railway station. For some time, women have been employed cleaning the railway coaches, but now they take their place with the men to carry bags or roll trunks on hand trucks to and from the trains and the taxis. Their insignia is a metal arm badge, like the men's.

As a rule, the women porters look mainly after women travelers. The only privilege they exact over the men is their afternoon cup of tea.

The women are now quite as well up on the time tables as the men, and can pocket tips with equal adeptness.

LEGISLATION TAKES SOCIALISTIC TURN

Christiania, April 10.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—Since Norway has given every adult woman and man the right to vote, legislation is declared to have taken a remarkably socialistic turn, although the socialist party, except in special industrial centers, does not count a majority of the voters.

In parliament the radicals are in majority and in connection with the socialistic faction, they have such an overwhelming force that the conservatives have no say at all. The present legislation is characteristic of Norwegian socialistic theories, which, in many respects, are quite different from those in other countries. For instance, the legislature, with a large majority, has passed a law by which illegitimate children are to be placed in the same class as legitimate children, in relation to the father. The slogan is, "Same rights for illegitimate children as for legitimate children." One section provides that illegitimate offspring shall have full right to take the name of the father, another gives them equal rights in the matter of inheritance.

Upon a man's death, for instance, an illegitimate son, perhaps born long before the man was married, can break into the bereaved family and, according to the new law, take the dead man's name and demand his share of the estate. At the same time, if a man who has an illegitimate child wants to take the child into his family, the child's mother may prevent it, if it is her wish. Opponents of the new law have contended that it will tempt immoral women to look for rich fathers for illegitimate offspring. The proponents of the law assert that the "old-fashioned" legal matrimony must be replaced by the full love connections between "soul affinities."

In all reformatory bills before the legislature the socialistic ones are leading. One bill proposes to make away with all private schools and colleges, since the laboring men cannot afford to send his children into these schools.

In the civil service high school education has been required, but recent legislation decided that it should not hereafter be required in the government mail service.

A POOR COMPLIMENT.

Hubby—I praised you to the boys, my dear. I told them you had made me all that I am.

Wifey—Huh, that's just like you—putting all the blame on me!

ITEM WELCOMED BY MANY MEN

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do because the treatment consisting of grain tablets can be obtained and taken without the knowledge of any one. If the reader has any of the symptoms, and decides to try it just go to any large well stocked drug store and ask for three-grain Cadomene Tablets, and then take according to the directions which accompany each sealed tube. The tonic-invigorating power is soon felt and the joy of a healthy body experienced. These tablets, originally dispensed by prominent physicians and pharmacists, now are packed with full directions for self administration, so that it is wholly unnecessary to pay a physician for prescribing them.

Told That There Was No Cure for Him.

"After suffering for over twenty years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think it only right to tell you for the sake of other sufferers as well as your own satisfaction that a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me, but cured me within two months, although I am a man of 65 years," writes Jul. Grobien, Houston, Texas. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

MELTING POT SCHOOL IS WORKING WONDERS

Western City is Teaching Americanism Like Geography.

(By Gertrude M. Price.)

Los Angeles, April 22.—Public school classes for citizenship are now a part of the Los Angeles curriculum of education!

They are the first of the kind in the country, though their ready success has caused much interest among the foremost workers in the great melting-pot problem of the United States.

JUDGE J. P. WOOD.

The purpose of these unique classes is to make it possible for foreigners to become proficient, take regular examinations and receive certificates of citizenship at regularly conducted commencement exercises.

The ultimate aim is to inculcate the spirit of democracy as well as to teach the letter of the constitution. This system makes it possible for any foreigner to go to school, without charge, and learn "Americanism"—something of the laws of the land he has adopted, the principles of its government and the customs of its people.

It is an excellent substitute for the previous system of hailing the candidate into the court room, putting him through a few perfunctory paces in the shape of cut and dried queries, and then awarding him the right of citizenship.

The sponsor for the novel plan of bringing the new arrival into harmonious and intelligent touch with his new surroundings, is Presiding Judge J. P. Wood, of the superior court, who believes in it thoroughly.

The classes are held at night, so that men working may have an opportunity to attend. When the course is complete examinations are conducted on the work studied. Those who pass satisfactorily are given diplomas which are, in turn, accepted by Judge Wood in lieu of the court examination as an open sesame to the privileges and rights of an American.

The commencement exercises at the close of a course are made the subject of much preparation; noted lawyers, doctors, ministers and club women taking part and extending the right hand of fellowship.

Cordiality and good will characterize all the proceedings and lead each graduate to feel that he has really entered into comradeship with the people of his adopted country.

The new system, Judge Wood believes, is a protection and aid to the United States as well as a help to the foreigners, for it is a means of disseminating knowledge where otherwise there might be a very cloudy conception, and impresses upon untrained minds the necessity of accepting the duties as well as the privileges of their new-found possession.

Splendid for Rheumatism.

"I think Chamberlain's Liniment is just splendid for rheumatism," writes Mrs. Dunburgh, Eldridge, N. Y. "It has been used by myself and other members of my family time and time again during the past six years and has always given the best of satisfaction." The quick relief from pain which Chamberlain's Liniment affords is alone worth many times the cost. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Appropriate memorial services for the eight departed members of the United Commercial Travelers, Fort Wayne council, were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. As is customary, the ceremony was performed by the officers of the council. Several selections were rendered by a quartet composed of Brothers Kolb, Rowley, Beekner and Sterling accompanied on the piano by Miss Elizabeth Waltz. Mrs. Arthur E. Rodenbeck sang a solo.

The deceased members of the council are Robert F. Kinnaird, William H. Fisher, M. F. Belger, George R. Bolen, Francis J. Ryan, Harry C. Mains, Irvin Imler and Maynard M. Durfee.

Should Not Feel Discouraged.

So many people troubled with indigestion and constipation have been benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets that no one should feel discouraged who has not given them a trial. They contain no pepsin or other digestive ferments, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

PAY FINE TRIBUTE TO COLONEL FOSTER

On bloody battlefield, in political scrap or in civic encounter, Col. David N. Foster, president of the city park board, never has lost his nerve or ducked his head, but he was ready to give up the ghost Saturday afternoon. The park board had just gone into its regular weekly session and President Foster had started business on the usual order, when Mayor W. J. Hosey led an invasion of the park offices, with City Attorney Guy Colerick, Board of Works Members Robert E. Kelly, Frank E. Singrey, and Henry Hilgeman, City Comptroller W. C. Baade, and Councilmen William A. Bayer, Jacob Hartman, G. A. Rogge and A. H. Keller in close formation just behind the chief. It then transpired that Saturday, April 24, 1841, had witnesses the ushering into this more or less vale of tears of a young Foster whose parents had christened him David and that the mayor and other officials had come to join with Colonel Foster's colleagues of the park board in congratulating him on the fact of being quite a lot the youngest man of 74 that ever was, as well as to pay tribute to the value of his public services as park commissioner since the board was created. President Forster was surprised and other things. Prof. Louis Dorn, of the park board, was designated to present resolutions thanking the president for his unselfish, tireless and effectual labors for the public parks of Fort Wayne and he acquitted himself in a poem of fine spirit, literary polish and touching sincerity. A great basket of seventy-four American beauty roses was presented by City Attorney Colerick on behalf of Colonel Foster's board colleagues, who were the donors, and did it in an impressive little address in which due tribute was paid to the value of the board president's public services. Colonel Foster after an effort got the lid on his emotions and made response that was both graceful and gracious, acknowledging the tributes of the poetic resolution offered by Prof. Dorn and the address of Mr. Colerick. Following the meeting there was a dinner at the Anthony hotel for which Member Abe Ackerman, of the park board, was host. There were present besides the guest of honor and the host, Members Louis Fox and Prof. Louis Dorn, of the park board, Mayor Hosey, President William A. Bayer, of the city council, City Attorney Guy Colerick and Secretary Charles J. Steiss, of the park board.

Prof Dorn's poetic tribute was his own happy thought when requested by Messrs. Fox and Ackerman to prepare suitable resolutions for adoption by the board in appreciation of Colonel Foster's services. This poem was the result:

The ardor of youth, and the wisdom of age,
The heart of a boy and the head of a sage,
A spirit undaunted, enjoying a fight,
All these in a single and well balanced mind
United for speech and for action we find.

For such is the man, to whom honor we pay;
We offer best wishes to Foster today,
The chairman who truly, at seventy-four,
Is hopeful and active, and young to the core.
The fountain of youth is discovered at last,
Which many sought vainly in days of the past.

That fountain is nature, its growth and its joys;
The laughter of children, the shouting of boys,
The life in the meadow, the bird in its glee,
The splendor of flowers, the pride of the tree;
Ah, that is a stream which abundantly yields
The freshness of youth in the parks and the fields!

The fountain of youth is that glorious love
Which, never to caste and to section confined,
Embraces the present and future combined.
Which, giving to others, the giver will bless
With life and with power for happy success.

A fountain of youth is the optimist's view,
Who, facing defeat, will of victory dream,
Who smiles at his losses with hope's brightest gleam;
Forgiving opponents encouraging friends,
You drink of the fountain that sparkles and plays;
The care of the parks and boulevard ways,
The love that makes happy the young and the old,
The faith in success, both aggressive and bold;
'Tis this that insures—and you need never fear!
To you, Colonel Foster, a youthful career.

HARRIS IS A CANDIDATE.

Fort Wayne Man Will Seek Republican Nomination for Attorney General.

Announcement has been made that Attorney Emmet V. Harris, of this city, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for attorney general. Mr. Harris was a candidate before the republican state convention last year and made a splendid showing, only lacking five and a half votes of being nominated.

Mr. Harris has practiced law in Fort Wayne for a number of years and is well known throughout the state. He received his education in the Ohio Northern university and after leaving college was superintendent of the schools of Morgan county, Indiana. He was admitted to the bar in 1889 and the following year located in Fort Wayne. From 1903 to 1905 he served as referee in bankruptcy.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.—Adv.

FLYING SQUADRON IS HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Of deep interest to women of church, temperance and civic societies of the city will be the meetings of the Flying Squadron of America on Saturday in the First Presbyterian church when Dr. Carolyn Geisel, of the Battle Creek (Mich.) sanitarium, and a noted woman physician of the country, is to make addresses, according to Mrs. N. W. Bloom, who is in charge of the effort of rallying the women of these societies to the meetings of this organization with speakers of national importance engaged in the nation-wide campaign for a national prohibition amendment.

S. B. Bechtel is chairman of the local executive committee arranging for the meetings and looks forward to capacity audiences to greet the squadron which has now conducted three-day campaigns in over 200 leading cities of the country, making splendid progress in the fight to crystallize public sentiment for national prohibition with its eradication of the liquor traffic from American life.

With Dr. Geisel comes as associate speaker, Dr. Ira Landrith, a well known educator and former moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, while the soloist of this group will be Mr. Frederick Butler, of New York, who was formerly leading basso of the Alice Nielson opera company. Mrs. Butler will be the pianist.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Dr. Geisel later took advanced courses of study at Petrograd, Russia, after which she did much research work at the Pasteur institute in Paris. She also has three American medical diplomas. Some years ago she took up the study of the scientific temperance phase of the liquor traffic, of the effects of alcohol on the human body and in her forthcoming addresses she plans to tell of the ravages of rum on the human system from the viewpoint of the pathologist. Her topic will be, "Alcohol and the Man Himself."

Noted Y. M. C. A. Worker.

Dr. Landrith has for many years been a leader of the International Y. M. C. A., and at the last convention of the organization was made president. He was one of the founders of the Tennessee Anti-Saloon league and has always been a leading official of the organization, being now a member of the executive committee. In association with Dr. Howard B. Grose, he wrote, at the Atlantic City convention, the prohibition campaign slogan of the great Christian Endeavor movement (of which he is one of the international trustees): "A Saloonless Nation by 1920, the 300th Anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims." The slogan, which has since been adopted by almost every temperance organization in the country. He was also general secretary of the Presbyterian Brotherhood before accepting the presidency of Ward-Belmont college at Nashville, Tenn., from which he recently returned.

Frederick Butler, who comes as soloist of this group, is regarded as one of the leaders of his line in this country. After retiring as leading basso of the Alice Nielsen opera company some years ago, he became soloist for Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, world evangelist, and accompanied him on a globe evangelistic tour at the close of which Dr. Chapman declared him "the greatest evangelistic singer in the world."

What Was the Origin and Meaning of Bread?

Bread is baked from many substances, although when we think of bread, we usually think of wheat bread. It is sometimes made from roots, fruits and the bark of trees, but generally only from grains such as wheat, rye, corn, etc. The word bread comes from an old word bray, meaning to pound. This came from the method used in preparing the food. Food which was pounded was said to be brayed and later this spelling was changed to bread. Properly speaking, however, these brayed or ground materials are not really bread in our sense of using the term until they are moistened with water, when it becomes dough. The word dough is an old one meaning to "moisten." This dough was in olden times immediately baked in hot ashes and a hard indigestible lump of bread was the result. Accidentally it was discovered that if the dough was left for a time before baking, allowing it to ferment, it would when mixed with more dough, swell up and become porous. Thus we got our word loaf from an old word lifian, which meant to raise up or to lift up.

When Was Wheat First Used in Making Bread?

It is not clearly known when or by whom wheat was discovered, but it seems to have been known from the earliest times. It is mentioned in the Bible, can be traced to ancient Egypt and there are records showing that the Chinese cultivated wheat as early as 2700 B. C. Today it supplies the principal article for making bread to all the civilized nations of the world.

The origin of the wheat plant is said to have been a kind of grass which is given a Latin name Aegilops ovato by the botanists.

CUBS BREAK EVEN AT EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Ind., April 26.—In the first two games of the series here Fort Wayne broke even with Evansville and incidentally hooked up the first mark in Evansville's lost column. After the locals had battered the Cub pitchers, Long, Green and Donley, all over the lot Saturday, one auburn haired Ainsworth person got into the box Sunday afternoon and with the assistance of Bratchi at the bat pulled over a win for the Cubs.

The Saturday game should not have been dignified by the name of baseball, and the visitors showed to remarkably poor advantage, but they came back Sunday with the baseball stuff big leaguers are made of. The Saturday score:

SEASON OPENS HERE TUESDAY AFTERNOON

The season opens here Tuesday. The Rotary club, the Commercial club, the mayor and the citizen body of Fort Wayne are working hard to make this the biggest and most enthusiastic opening day in the history of the city. With the popping of the lid Tuesday afternoon a hundred automobiles will be in line, and people in general will forget the bad start the Cubs got at Terre Haute and get out and ready to root their hardest.

The city officials, the Commercial club and Rotary club officers and hundreds of fans will be in line to help out the Cubs in opening the home-owned team season. With good weather promised for afternoon and the heat getting up to the baseball mark, Fort Wayne and the Cubs are ready.

ELECTRIC WORKS WINS OPENER

With Bartels, Prince and three or four other of the old timers in their line-up, the Fort Wayne Electric works boys opened the local season Saturday afternoon by taking the Concordia college boys down the line to the tune of three and two. It was one of the most brilliantly played games ever staged on Fort Wayne's amateur lots, and a crowd of five hundred people kept on edge throughout.

Batteries—Case, Grimes and Hines, and Laukenau and Matzdorf.

Alberts Brothers Win.

Kendallville, Ind., April 26.—In a cleverly played game Sunday afternoon before a big crowd Alberts Brothers' Fort Wayne aggregation copped from Kendallville by a score of 4 and 3. The locals were ahead to the ninth inning, when Rehling pushed a triple into the field and broke things up.

The Printers Lose.

Peru, Ind., April 26.—In a game that had all the earmarks of big league sport, the Fort Wayne Printers lost to Peru in the ninth by a score of 1 and 0, after both sides had been held scoreless and practically hitless until that inning.

Other Games.

The Odd Nine defeated the Rudisill avenue Stars 5 and 7 yesterday, with the playing of Leutwyler featuring the contest.

Eleven and six was the score by which the Lobs defeated the Huffs Sunday. Hass hit hard and featured the game.

The Nationals took the Miamis out for two games at Lawton park Sunday, winning the first 6 and 5 and the second 15 and 4.

KNIGHT OF COLUMBUS DIES.

Chicago, April 26.—James Maher, national supreme director of the Knights of Columbus, died at his home here today. He was a native of Illinois and was 65 years old.

RETURN FROM LOUISVILLE.

Messrs. Perrine and Luecke Attend Meeting of Dixie Highway.

Van B. Perrine, president of the Commercial club, and Martin Luecke, president of the Rotary club, have returned from Louisville, Ky., where they attended a meeting of the Dixie Highway commission. Messrs. Perrine and Luecke were delegated to attend the meeting in an effort to induce the promoters to include Fort Wayne on the route of the proposed thoroughfare, thus making this city a junction point with the Lincoln highway running from coast to coast. The Dixie highway is to start in Florida and will end at Chicago. While Messrs. Perrine and Luecke presented the claims of Fort Wayne and were given most cordial treatment and attention, no action was taken by the association.

CHICAGO GAY WITH FLAGS.

The celebration included a parade this afternoon in which 70,000 persons were expected to take part. Preparations had been made to place six thousand automobiles and 250 floats in the parade, which it was planned would be twelve miles long and four hours in passing the reviewing stand.

REVEALS TRICKS OF THE DIAMOND

(By Hugh S. Fullerton).

Back of the curve, the slow ball, the knuckle ball, there is all the brains and cunning, the generalship and quick thinking of the game. Occasionally, it is true, there comes some man so endowed physically that for a season or two his speed and curves make him unhittable. But the pitcher who stands among the winners three years in succession has more than that. At the end of three years his speed is less, his arm tires more quickly, his curve does not break as well—yet he is a better pitcher than ever.

Critics refer to it as "brains." Chiefly it is cunning, strategy, a close study of opponents, and an assortment of tricks that rival those of a master of legerdemain.

The abolition of the "emery ball" this year in all circuits is another blow at the pitchers. Someone discovered that by scratching the surface of the ball with emery and gripping fingers or thumb tightly upon the rough spot the ball could be made to "fade" more quickly or to "sail" as a flat stone does when thrown sidearm.

The first record we have of the tricky use of outside agents to cause a ball to perform strange antics in the air was when Tom Bond, pitching for New Bedford, used glycerine and achieved a form of what is now known as the spit ball.

Al Orth, who, according to many old-time players, was the only man to pitch an "up curve," used slippery elm, which he applied to his fingers, and, throwing underhand, caused the ball to seem to curve upward.

Elmer Stricklett discovered the use of the spit ball as it is now known, thrown overhand to cause the sharp down break. Ed Walsh used slippery elm and other substances.

Clark Griffith, now manager of the Washington team, used to knock the dirt from his spikes by striking the ball against his shoe. Grif would strike the ball sharply against his spikes, cut two small abrasions in the hide, grip his fingers into them and pitch his famous slow ball. He learned the trick from Hoss Radbourn.

While trying to "wing" the ball Griffith discovered by accident that on some diamonds the grit from his heel, adhering to the ball, made the sphere act strangely in the air. He was pitching a "sail ball" as long ago as 1896.

Bert Briggs, now dead, used emery powder which he carried in his hip pocket, and his fast ball took the most extraordinary "hops," some of which fooled his catchers.

The custom of sewing bits of sandpaper inside the pitching glove, of wearing them inside the shirt, of having the first baseman or catcher use the emery or sandpaper has been common.

In the old days when the pitchers were permitted to rub the ball in the dirt these things were easy. On the old west side park in Chicago there was a spot to one side of the pitcher's box where the home pitchers rubbed the ball—and came up with it "scuffed" and winged until no matter how thrown it would "jump" or "ride" the air.

SAYS STALLION HAS NOT PROVED WORTH

A jury in the superior court retired late Monday afternoon to determine whether or not a French draft stallion purchased in 1909 by Herman W. Tapp of William F. Hagan, a Lake township farmer, was worth the $500 that Tapp paid for the animal. The compyaint says that the defendant guarantede the stallon to be a "sure and safe foal-getter and breeder," whereas he proved to be otherwise. Tapp sued for $800.

Jury on Hand; Case Goes Over.

In the suit of Frank J. Burns va. the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company for damages, a continuance without date was entered in the circuit court Monday after the plaintiff filed an amended complaint. The case was set for trial Monday morning before a jury and the jurors were in court ready to hear the case.

Will Call Claim Docket Tuesday.

Judge Eggeman will call the claim docket in the circuit court Tuesday morning and urges attorneys and all others interested to be present to take care of their interests.

Woman Sues for $7,500.

Alleging that the city of Fort Wayne and August Hench are jointly responsible by reason of their carelessness and negligance for the icy condition of a sidewalk in the front of Hench's property, 3311 Hanna street, where she fell and fractured her right wrist and sustained other injuries, Mrs. Anna L. Kiel and her husband, Fred W. Keil, have sued the municipality and Hench for $7,500. The suit is brought in the superior court. It is alleged that a drain constructed by Hench caused water to flow upon the sidewalk and freeze, a condition the city permitted to remain. The mishap occurred December 30, 1914.

Notes of the Courts.

The circuit court has granted a divorce to Cinderella Lauer from Paul J. Lauer, given her the custody of a child and $4 a week for its support. Change of venue was taken from Judge Eggeman and Hon. Carl Yaple, of the superior court, was appointed special judge to hear the case.

In the suit of Edward C. Pelz vs. Andrew M. Wallace, the circuit court has awarded the plaintiff the sum of $20 in damages and possession of certain real estate as asked.

Michael J. Carroll has begun action against Karol Naff and Howell and William Rockhill in the superior court to foreclose a mechanic's lien, demanding $50.

James C. Grames, whose wife Samantha May Grames, is suing him for divorce, has been cited to appear in the superior court April 28 to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in flouting the court's order to make payments.

The plaintiff in the suit of Gertrude Reed vs. Earl Reed for divorce has waived the appearance of the defendant in the superior court to answer to contempt proceedings for failure to make payments. He was cited to appear the 27th inst.

The suit of Thomas Craig vs. the Indiana Lighting company has been set down for trial in the superior court on June 28.

The last will and testament of the late Charles S. Kiser has been probated in the circuit court. His estate is left to John V. and Julia B. McMillen, after $200 in money shall have been paid to Ellis Kiser.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Edith M. Hixon from Raymond S. Hixon, given her the custody of a minor child and allowed her $10 a month for its support.

Noah Biberstine has brought suit in the superior court against the town of Grabill, demanding judgment of $250 for labor and materials furnished in street improvement work for the town.

Frank C. Hogan, attorney for the estate of the late Earl Duffy, a minor, has petitioned the circuit court for permission to make a settlement of a suit against George Trier, proprietor of the Minuet dancing academy, where young Duffy met his death by falling from a doorway on the 8th of November, 1913.

Judge Eggeman, on Saturday, set down for trial twenty-eight criminal cases that are pending in the circuit court. By far the larger part of them are cases appealed from the city court for minor offenses. Of these keeping houses of ill-fame, prostitution and associating with prostitutes constitute the greater number. A number of automobile license cases, also appealed, are among them. Two cases of grand larceny, several of petit larceny and one for attempted criminal assault are set.

LIMA AND GOSHEN ROADS OPEN.

After being closed for quite a period for repairs, the Goshen and Lima roads out of the city to the north and northwest were thrown open Sunday to traffic. The Maysville road has been closed for repairs and the county road superintendent, William Tonkel, announces that if mischievous persons who have been removing the barriers erected to keep traffic off that portion of the highway do not cease their outlaw work, there will be prosecutions. The Goshen and Lima roads are now in fine condition.

RETURNS HOME TO FIND HUSBAND DEAD IN BED

Returning to her home in Plymouth Sunday evening after visiting friends in this city, Mrs. Phillip Conway, formerly of Fort Wayne, found the dead body of her husband in bed, a victim of gas asphyxiation. A leak in a rubber tube which served as a gas connection, explained his death, which is thought to have been accidental.

Mr. Conway lived in Fort Wayne until five years ago, when he moved to Plymouth. While residing here he owned and operated a tailor shop. He was engaged in tailor work in Plymouth and was last seen alive Saturday evening before going home. He was well known in Fort Wayne and his many acquaintances will be shocked to hear of his death.

Surviving relatives include the wife, the father, E. D. Conway, of 2409 Smith street, and two sisters, Mrs. George Brown, of Toledo, and Mrs. Clayton E. Barker, of Valparaiso. The father went to Plymouth to bring the remains to this city for burial.

CANADIANS CAPTURED.

Berlin, April 26—(By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—In the official statement given out today by the German general army headquarters it was announced that more than 1,000 Canadians had been captured in the fighting around Ypres, Belgium.

The text of the statement follows:

"The Germans hold Lizerne, on the west bank of the canal which the French pretend to have reconquered. Also on the east of the canal the conquered terrain remains in the possession of the Germans. The number of cannon taken by the Germans rose to forty-five, including four English.

"Northwest of Zonnebeke the German attacks continue. More than 1,000 Canadians were taken prisoners. The total number of prisoners rose to 5,000. They include Segnegel negroes, English, Turcos, Hindus, French, Canadians, Zouaves and Algerians.

"In the Champagne region north of Beausejour, two French night attacks were repulsed.

"In the Vosges the Germans took back Hartmann's Weilerkopf. In this engagement eleven officers and 740 French soldiers were made prisoners and six mine throwers and four machine guns captured."

A sensational price-cutting fight on Carpets and Rugs has broken out in the New York Carpet market between two of the largest Carpet Manufacturers in the United States, Alex Smith Sons & Co., and Stephen Samford, Sons & Co. PLAN A PAVEMENT FORT WAYNE TRACE

Mayor Hosey and the board of works now have under consideration a project for improving Wayne trace from New Haven avenue to Felician street, now the city limits on the old trace and plans for the work may be developed at an early day. Wayne trace was paved with brick from Anthony boulevard to its junction with New Haven avenue last year and it is hoped to complete the thoroughfare this year. The mayor and board believe that it will make a highly satisfactory improvement to pave it to a width of eighteen feet with a concrete pavement of the type put down on the Lincoln highway from the city limits to New Haven. With County Commissioners Butt, Schwier and Black and engineers of the Pennsylvania railroad, the mayor, Board of Works Members Kelly, Singrey and Hilgeman, paid a visit to the scene of operations where the Pennsylvania is separating its grade from the highway at Wayne trace and also examined the plans for the subway, which they found satisfactory. The work has been ordered by the Indiana public service commission. The city disannexed a small area of territory in order that the whole work might be carried on under the auspices of the county. When the subway is completed Wayne trace will become more than ever an important artery into and out of the city. The county commissioners now have on file a petition to improve the highway from the city limits out. The unpaved portion within the city is more than 3,000 feet long and the Pennsylvania railroad owns a large part of the property fronting upon it.

GOOD WORK FOR PUBLIC HEALTH.

Under the operation of a recent ordinance the health department of Fort Wayne has achieved the elimination of something like 300 vaults and caused the installation of household toilets with sewer connections. In a majority of cases the abolished vaults never had been connected with sewers although such connections were possible. The vaults in most cases have been filled up and these breeding places of flies and hatching places of disease are wiped out. Dr. J. H. Gilpin, secretary of the board of health, believes this work to be one of the most important labors of his department for conservation of health and life, and the campaign against vaults will go on. Many vaults that were situated nearer dwellings than is permitted by the ordinances have been moved back, but wherever it has been possible to abolish vaults that has been done.

BASS FOR LAKESIDE LAGOONS.

Through the efforts of Councilman Jacob Agne, of the First ward, arrangements have been made with Captain Rodney D. Fleming, of the Indiana fish and game department, to stock the lagoons and lake in Lakeside park with young bass. Previous efforts to do this have failed because the lagoons would not hold water. The plans of the park board to convey water from the St. Joe river to the lagoons and lake will make the stocking with fish practicable.

OPENING OF CITY PARKS.

Water will be turned on at the comfort stations and into the fountains of the city parks this week and those pleasure places may be regarded as formally open. The rule that parks will be open until 10:30 at night will prevail. Watchmen will go on duty at 10:30 in the morning.

PAY TRIBUTE TO NELSON'S MEMORY

Kansas City, Mo., April 26.—A memorial service to the late William R. Nelson, founder of the Kansas City Star, brought an overflowing audience to a local theater yesterday. Letters were read from President Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt. Former Congressman Victor Murdock, Frank P. Walsh and other speakers paid tributes to the memory of the publisher who died April 13.

In his letter President Wilson said: "I cannot deny myself the pleasure of sending a word of appreciation of Colonel Nelson's sterling qualities and distinguished work as an editor. He has left a deep abiding mark on the annals of his profession."

Mr. Roosevelt wrote: "There was no more useful nor patriotic citizen in the United States; no man better exemplified how to be the highest kind of public servant, though in private life. I mourn him as a friend. I mourn him still more deeply as an American citizen."

SECEDERS FORM NEW UNION.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 26.—Several hundred seceding members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers met yesterday at Martins Ferry, Ohio, and perfected the organization of the United Iron, Steel and Tinworkers of America. National officers were elected and plans for the organization of locals in Martins Ferry, Wheeling, W. Va., Steubenville, O., Granite City, Ill., and Elwood, Ind., completed. Representatives for several eastern steel mills attended the meeting and it was announced by leaders of the new movement that they will attempt to unionize the steel workers of the country.

HOLD A DOLL CONTEST.

With opening of the bazaar at the Library hall under the auspices of the St. Joseph's Catholic Italian church Monday evening also opens the doll contest. The name of the beautiful and costly doll is "Marie Rose," and those who have entered are: Alma Bennigin, of the Cathedral; Elanore Ankenbruck and Marie Noll, of St. Mary's; Dorothy Gunkel, of St. Paul's; Teresa Leonard and Beatrice Jaeger, of St. Peter's; Irene Loney and Helen Kelly, of St. Patrick's, and Nellie Jammairno, of St. Joseph's.

The doll has been donated by the L. C. B. A. of St. Patrick's church. The contest closes Friday evening at 10 o'clock.

A small change has been made in the program to be rendered at the opening evening. Miss Schanz will sing in the "Card Trio" in the place of Mrs. E. H. Kirkland, who has kindly consented to the change. Much interest centers around the orchestra which will make its first appearance. The musicians number fifteen and are under the able leadership of Rev. Anthony Petrilli, pastor of St. Joseph's church.

Training School Meets Monday.

The Fort Wayne Training school for Sunday school and church workers will hold its sixth session at the Plymouth Congregational church this evening. The interest in this school is being splendidly maintained. Dr. Chas. Manchester will lecture upon "Psalmody," at 7:45. The sectional work is proving very practical. These conferences serve as clearing houses into which the problems of the local schools are brought for general discussion. In the secondary division, Rev. Mahlon C. Tunison will lecture upon "The Special Characteristics of the Teen Age Girl." In the adult division, Rev. H. B. Masters will treat of social service through the Adult Bible class. Rev. O. E. Tomes will continue the study of the organization of the bible school before the class of officers. Rev. Arthur J. Folsom is proving himself an interesting teacher before his class in "The Challenge of the City."

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS IN CAB

S. D. Crist Becomes Helpless While at Throttle of Engine.

While at the throttle of the engine bringing the Pennsylvania local freight train from Lima, Ohio, Saturday afternoon, Engineer Samuel D. Crist was stricken with paralysis as the train neared Monroeville. He was removed from the cab at that place and brought to the city on a passenger train, and taken in charge by the company's surgeon. Engineer Crist had been in excellent health and the attack came as a surprise to himself and members of his family. It is believed that the attack will be lasting or very serious. Mr. Crist is about fifty years old and has worked for the company, in the capacity of fireman and later as engineer, for a quarter of a century. He resides at 2827 Janes street.

Y. M. C. A. DOINGS.

Secretary A. J. Cash Bulletins a Busy Week.

The Monday morning bulletin issued by A. J. Cash, of the Railroad Y. M. C. A., for the current week, is unusually large and interesting. In addition to announcing the shop and other meetings of the week, it announces a very important social event. The bulletin, in substance, is as follows:

Tuesday—Meeting at noon at the Pennsylvania machine shop; special music by Y. M. C. A. quartet and speaking by Frank Gaylord.

Tuesday evening, 8 p. m.—Reception by the Railroad Y. M. C. A. in Unity hall for railroad employes, street railway employes and their wives and friends. A most cordial invitation is extended to all. A splendid program is being arranged, and everybody is guaranteed a good time. Special vocal and instrumetal music will be part of the entertainment. It will be necessary for those attending to secure tickets at the secretary's desk in the Y. M. C. A. building before going to Unity hall. Refreshments will be served.

Thursday, 12:30 p. m.—Noonday meeting at Pennsylvania east car shops. A. Bruce Minear, of Chicago, speaker; special music. 2 to 3 p. m.—Meeting at the street railway barns; good address and special music.

Saturday, 2:30 p. m.—Meeting of the educational committee: 4 p. m.—Meeting of publicity committee.

DISPENSARY TO BE RE-OPENED.

Mrs. Mary Young Will Assume Charge May 1.

Mrs. Mary Young, a trained nurse who has been practicing in Fort Wayne for nearly three years, will assume charge of the dispensary at the General Electric Lamp works next Saturday, May 1. This dispensary was closed last fall, when a reduction in the operating force of the lamp works was made, but improving business and the re-employment of a number of the women makes it necessary to re-open it. There will be about 225 female employes at the lamp works next month. Mrs. Young is a graduate from a Milwaukee hospital and trained nurse school and she followed her calling in that city several years before coming to Fort Wayne.

MANY AT ROME CITY.

Over 150 Cottagers and Fishermen There Over Sunday.

Over 150 people, chiefly cottagers and fishermen, were brought down from Rome City on G. R. and I. train No. 6 last night. Most of these people went to the lake Saturday or the preceding day, only thirty-six going there on train No. 11, which leaves Fort Wayne at 7 o'clock in the morning. Among the fishermen were Machinist Owen Farnan and Blacksmith Edward Feaser, who went up Saturday. These two caught twenty-three bass Saturday, all good sized making one of the finest strings seen at the lake this year. Five of these bass weighed over four pounds each and one weighed five and a quarter pounds. The boys preserved the head of the latter fish and will have it mounted.

SCHOOL FOR ORPHAN GIRLS.

"Information," the booklet issued by the Pennsylvania railroad for the benefit of its employes and the public, last week devoted its entire pages to a description of the John Edgar Thomson school for the daughters of deceased railroad men, which is located in Philadelphia. The school was established in 1882 and the first year had only three pupils; at present it has thirty-four, all girls, who are educated up to the eighth grade of grammar schools. "Information" says the school is the culmination of a "long cherished plan of Mr. Thomson. It was his wish to devote his personal fortune to some end helpful to those dependent upon the calling in which he spent the greater part of his own busy life."

M. R. HARDENDORF INJURED.

The Decatur, (Ill.) papers publish an account of a serious accident to M. R. Hardendorf, a blacksmith in the Wabash shops in that city. He was struck in the side by a piece of iron thrown out by the steam hammer he was operating and received internal injuries. Mr. Hardendorf is a former Fort Wayne man. For a number of years he was employed in the Pennsylvania shops, resigning to take employment at the Wabash shops and going with others to Decatur when the new shops at that place were opened to business.

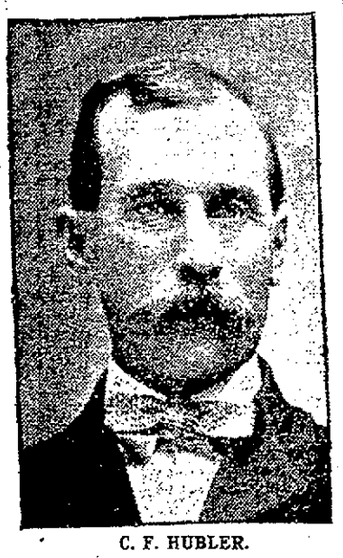
Hubler Retires as County Chairman



C. F. HUBLER.

After serving some ten years as chairman of the Allen County Farmers' institute, C. F. Hubler, of Hoagland, has retired from that position and Albert Egley, of Grabill, has been elected to take his place. Through the efforts of Mr. Hubler much interest has been aroused in farmers' institute work throughout the county and there is now an organization in practically every township. Mr. Hubler declined re-election. A meeting of the various township chairmen was held Saturday afternoon in the office of C. Henry, county agent, at which time plans for the ensuing year were discussed.

LEGAL ADVICE COST HIM $20 AND SOME

It was stated by John R. Dunlap what the legal advice he procured from a Garrett lawyer and notary as to the Indiana automobile license law cost him, but in the Fort Wayne city court it put a $20 crimp in his bank roll. Dunlap bought a Ford car of an Auburn dealer and wanted to drive it home to Fort Wayne. The dealer did not supply him with dealers' or factory license tags, telling him to go to a notary and make affidavit that he had applied for license. This Dunlap did in Garrett. He got not only an affidavit, but the written opinion of his counselor on the Indiana law. Thus doubly armed Dunlap drove his automobile through the down town streets of Fort Wayne with feeling of ample security. Officer Adkins lamped the untagged car and sent Dunlap to headquarters. He was fined $10 and costs by Judge Kerr Monday morning and was advised to try to recover from the agent who sent him forth fenceless.

Young Highwayman Pleads Guilty.

George Soliday, one of the three youths who held up an East Lewis street car at the city limits the night of April 8 and robbed Conductor C. H. Ettor of $6 cash and a watch, pleaded guilty in the city court Monday morning to a charge of highway robbery and was bound over to the circuit court. He was unable to furnish bond for $1,500 and went to jail to await arraignment in the higher court. Young Soliday, with the characteristic egotism of a criminal, seemed proud of his plight and smiled and grinned at admiring and envious youths in the court room lobby as he was arraigned before Judge Kerr. Soliday confessed to Chief of Police Lenz Sunday that he had participated in the car holdup, but gave no information that will help the police to capture the other bandits who, armed with guns, assisted in the east end job. He said that the weapons with which they were armed the night of the stick-up were procured by burglarizing the store of the Summit City Machine company, 918 Clinton street. Soliday entered the place while his companions stood guard and stole four revolvers. Soliday is a dangerous youth and is fully bent to a criminal career. He, with three other youths, were arrested some months ago for burglarizing the Geoglein hardware store on Columbia street. Soliday got off with a suspended sentence and leniency was shown the other lads because of the good families to which they belonged. Soliday was arrested by Detective Sergeants Spillner and Junk for the street car hold-up.

Other City Court Cases.

George Swain was fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct and his brother, Howard Swain, was continued indefinitely on a similar charge. George was drunk and Howard tried to get him to go home when Officer Wilmoth was giving him good advice. There was considerable noise and swearing—George's directed at the officer and Howard's aimed at his brother.

Charles Schaunecker, for driving a car without license tags, was fined $10 and costs and paid it.

Paul McBride, drunk, was fined $25 and costs and went to jail.

CHIEF WARNS PEDESTRIANS.

Chief of Police Lenz has issued a warning to pedestrians who are persistent in walking in the roadway of the Lincoln highway and off the sidewalks in city streets. Numerous complaints reach the police of minor accidents and narrow escapes incurred by pedestrians who obstinately use the roadways intended for vehicular traffic for footpaths. The chief, therefore warns careless pedestrians and all others to keep on the sidewalks in the city and to right side of the road on the Lincoln highway. The chief says he does not seek to minimize the responsibility of careless and reckless automobile drivers, but that he does know great risks are incurred by careless pedestrians.

BEN STREIFLING IN TROUBLE.

Ben Streifling, formerly a detective in the employ of the city, has been found guilty in Toledo of contempt of court along with George W. Simmons, a real estate dealer. Streifling has been conducting a private detective agency in Toledo for several years. He and Simmons are accused by C. A. Schmetteau, an attorney, of having offered to "fix" a jury in a damage suit against the Clover Leaf railroad so that a verdict for not more than $800 would be returned. The jury did bring in a verdict against the railroad, but it was for $15,000. Lawyer Schmetteau laid the proposal before Judges Manton, Johnson and Brough, in Toledo, and they counseled him to proceed with the negotiations to a point where Sterifling and Simmons could be entrapped and this, it appears, was done. Streifling is a Roumanian Jew and was born in Bucharest. He was in much trouble here, but always escaped penalty.

OFFICER AIDS AGED MAN.

James H. Bader, aged 75, who says he was once a wealthy man in Jackson, Mich., was found at the interurban station Sunday by Officer Felber, to whom Bader stated he was trying to get to Huntington to a see a sister, but had lost $20, all the money he had, on a car. He inquired the way to Huntington, intending to walk. He was taken to headquarters, where Sergeant Dave Blum out of his own pocket furnished the aged man with enough money to take him to Huntington and arranged for his entertainment at a hotel during the night.

Ford THE UNIVERSAL

This is the most Important Advertisement I Ever Caused to Be Published. Read Every Word.—and then Marvel!

On a personal visit to Mr. Henry Ford I broached the subject of a possible August 1st Rebate.

The Ford Company announced last year—as you well remember—that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, each purchaser during that period would receive back a refund of $40.00 to $60.00.

"Mr. Ford," I suggested, 'Is there anything I can say to our people with regard to the Ford Motor Company's 300,000 car rebate plan?"

"We shall sell the 300,000," was the quiet reply—"and in 11 months, a full month ahead of August 1st!"

"Then a refund is practically assured?"

"Yes—Barring the totally unexpected. We are 50,000 to 75,000 cars behind orders today. Factory and branches are sending out 1,800 daily."

I then said to Mr. Ford: "If I could make a definite refund statement we would increase our local sales 500 cars."

"You may say," was Mr. Ford's deliberate and significant reply to this—"You may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford car between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, barring the unforeseen, the sum of $50. You may say that I authorize you to make this statement!"

What can I add to the above? $15,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners! And to prospective Ford owners up to August 1, 1915, it actually means—Ford Toutings Cars for $490—less the $50 rebate! Ford Runabouts for $440—less the $50 rebate! What is there left for me to say? Freight, per car, $10.10.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 26.—Reports of extreme apprehension in Liverpool regarding continued decrease of stocks had a bullish effect here today on the price of wheat. On the bulge, however, heavy realizing by large holders, especially in July, caused a reaction. After opening ¼c to 1½c higher, prices fell back sharply but later displayed power to rally.

Prospects for larger receipts made the corn market weaken. The opening, which varied from ¼c off to ¼c up, was followed by a decline all around.

Oats at first seemed inclined to harden with wheat.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, April 26.—Indications of a continuance of stock market activity was seen at the beginning of this week's operations. Specialties were again conspicuous with gains of one to two points in Bethlehem Steel, National Lead, Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin Locomotive, General Motors and Guggenheim exploration, while leaders were fractionally higher. American Can was up almost two points on initial sales of 3,900 shares, and United States Steel rose the smallest fraction on offerings of 5,000 shares but soon lost a full point. Standard railway shares were relatively backward.

Early gains were materially reduced by heavy profit taking, but the setback was of brief duration, renewed buying on a larger scale soon overtaking any reactionary tendency. Higher prices were made before noon. Reading recovering much of its two point loss and other investment issues showing greater strength. Coppers responded to another advance in metal prices. Gains of one to two points were general, the only weak features being railroads like Missouri Pacific and Missouri, Kansas and Texas. Bonds were irregular, with buoyancy in Copper convertibles

THE WEATHER.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Ohio: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

High temperatures for the season prevailed yesterday over the Ohio valley, the lower lake region and the middle Atlantic coast states. Maximum temperatures over these districts yesterday ranged from 82 to 94 degrees. Detroit, Grand Rapids and Scranton reported the highest temperature ever recorded during the month of April. High temperatures continue this morning over the states east of the Rockies.
A low pressure area central over southwestern Nebraska this morning is giving general and quite heavy rains over the plains states from southern Texas northward to central South Dakota. Showers are reported from the upper Mississippi valley, the upper lake region and portions of the uper Ohio valley and north Atlantic coast sections.
In this section conditions favor unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday, with possibly showers. The temperature change will be slight. H. T. COLLMAN, Temporarily in Charge.

"Hang Them! They're All Traitors, Bandits and Bloodsuckers!" Declares Gen. Victoriano Huerta

(By Kenneth W. Payne.)

With a snap in his voice and a snap in his eyes, the general hurled it at me as I stood before him in a salon of the luxurious hotel apartment where he is holding court.

"The rope and the scaffold!" he jerked out, standing straight and motionless, his sharp, aggressive eyes staring straight through and beyond me toward that vague audience, the American public, into whose soul he was trying to drive the iron of his "blood and iron" policy.

"Yes, I'd hang 'em, everyone of them! They deserve it in law. These leaders all—Carranza, Villa, Diaz—they want plunder. They want to rule! It's legal even in your country to hang bandits who murder for loot! You hang traitors. These men are traitors—traitors to my poor, bleeding Mexico!"

That is the way Huerta speaks—in short, keen sentences that cut their way straight to the heart of the matter. He is steadfast, grim, unafraid—almost bellicose when he speaks of his "wronged" country—but a polished, courtly gentleman withal in his attitude toward his guest.

His courtesy almost paralyzes the interviewer, at first. We were prepared for gruff hostility. It had taken endless time and pains to get the appointment. Huerta's ubiquitous, wily, nervous agent, interpretor, mentor, protector, secretary and guide—Abraham Z. Ratner—had to be dealt with and pacified. A pass had to be obtained at the hotel office. A page in gold-braided uniform stood guard at the door of the general's palatial suite. The page was appeased, when shown the pass, and opened.

Inside, we waited—Artist Frank Parker and I—many minutes on a gilt settee. Then Ratner ushered us into The Presence.

We must have been a second too soon. For a short man with leathern features, gray mustache, heavy glasses, and clad in a brown smoking jacket and slippers, scuttled swiftly behind the curtains of the breakfast room, disposed of a half-smoked cigaret—and returned.

He drew himself up with unimpeachable military grace—and saluted us! Then with what would have been a half-smile on any other face, his excellency, the generalissimo, stepped forward and shook hands! A soft, rather fat hand, but a good grip.

"It isn't a revolution in Mexico," the general exclaimed. "It is just a lot of uprisings. Each leader has a lust for land and license. The poor Indians are ignorant, and follow. The result is anarchy. Thousands of my people are being murdered. Women are being terribly abused. And all this strike is kept going by a few bloodsuckers, who fatten on the sores of my poor country!

"So, see you, it must be an iron rule—an iron rule by a man with a—a big stick. I'd hang everyone of those fellows! I'd put 'em on the scaffold so quick their followers wouldn't know what had happened. Get 'em out of the way, and peace will come back to my country soon enough!

But first of all must come the man of iron, the leader with the mailed fist, who will put down these endless riots!"

The interviewer spoke of "liberties of the people."

"Do you endorse this idea?" I asked Huerta.

Paris, April 15.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—"Many of us, soldiers and officers," says an officer who has been at the front since the beginning of the war, "have faith in a mysterious power analogous to antique fatality which disposes of our sort. Those that it favors we say are 'in luck.' The greatest imprudence does not affect their invulnerability. Others seem fated to sacrifice; if they escape from a pitched battle, a spent ball or a fragment of shell will get them the following day, miles behind the trenches, while they are in apparent security.

"This instinctive belief brings a certain tranquility, not only to those who think that they are 'in luck,' but to those also who are in doubt whether they possess a lucky star. 'No one escapes his fate,' they say. 'If one is slated for death, what's the good of taking precautions; the bullet that's intended for me will find me.'

"Certain cases seem to bear out this superstition. One of them was related by an officer of the general staff, tall, cool, almost as phlegmatic as an Englishman behind his eye glasses, and so careful to exaggerate nothing that he seems to contemplate the most tragic events with the wrong end of his spy-glass.

"'I ought to have been killed a hundred times,' he told me. 'At the moment of the general mobilization I was in the staff of the general of division, to whom I was personally attached after years of very close collaboration; he treated me somewhat as his personal aide-de-camp. I went everywhere with him. A few days after the declaration of war he was informed of the death of his wife, whom I knew he adored. He concealed his pain, but I understood at once that the blow had morally crushed him and that he had made up his mind to get himself killed. He took me with him where the bullets were thickest. The division was on the eastern frontier, and alongside the storms of shrapnel that burst above our heads the German bombardment of today are small incidents. Every other day we went to the first line, and while the men lying round us fired at the Germans, we remained erect to encourage them.

"'One afternoon we had passed four hours under the enemy's shells. From time to time I said to myself, 'In ten minutes or even in five minutes perhaps it'll be my turn.' But we were neither of us touched. Another day, after a very violent engagement in which we had been obliged to give way, one of our batteries remained stuck between the two armies. I proposed to reconnoiter the position to see if it were possible to bring it back. I intended to go alone and to come back quickly. But the general declared he would go along. It was vain to remark that it was not his place: he replied with some feeling that he had no orders to receive from me.

"Everything went well and we reached the position of the battery without any trouble. There remained only two men, a major and a private soldier, guarding the battery, firing with all their energy to make the enemy believe that the position was still occupied in force. We succeeded in getting the pieces into shape and dragging them out of danger, but instead of following the direct route toward our lines, the general proposed that we make a little detour, 'in order,' he said, 'that the men may not have the impression that we are retreating.' We followed a route on the side of a hill, which during several hundred yards passed over a space of absolutely uncovered ground between the two firing lines. If I had been alone I should have covered that space at double quick. The general, though, declared that this precipitation would have produced a bad effect upon the troops, so it was at a walk that we crossed this exposed ground offering ourselves as targets to the German infantry.

"The balls whistled around us incessantly—so thickly that the leaves on the trees along the route fell as in an autumn storm. Neither of us received a scratch, neither were our horses touched. I asked the general if he did not think it marvelous that we should have passed unscathed through this storm of bullets. He shook his head sadly and said: 'The bullets don't seem to want me.' As for me, since that trial there is nothing that surprises me, I sincerely believe I'm 'in luck' and am quite sure that the Germans will never get me."
